Definite Program Increasing Miners' Pay and Curbing Owners' Profits Is Expected.

GARFIELD GIVES WAGE BASIS

Asserts Public Now Will Not Stand for Increase Over Normal Earnings Allowed in Wartime.

McADOO POINTS TO PROFITS

Tells Garfield by Wire Some Operators Made 2,000 Per Cent.—Wants Tax Returns Published.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A definite program, sanctioned by the Government, will be placed before the operators and miners of the bituminous coal fields after tomorrow's Cabinet meeting in the event an amicable settlement has not been reached in the meantime. It will provide for an increase in wages to the miners which the Cabinet feels will meet the recent increase in living costs, and will specify that the operators must expect to meet a reduction in profits now that the period of hostilities with unusual demand for great production is at an end, and that the public must not be made to bear the brunt of the burden.

This, apparently, was the status of the coal strike situation tonight after Fuel Administrator Garfield had conferred at length with Attorney General Palmer and Director General of Railroads Hines. At 6 o'clock this evening Dr. Garfield summoned operators and miners of the Red Cross Building and read to them a brief statement of principles which, he said, he felt should be made the basis of compromise. He did not at that time name the specific wage increases which the Government would advocate, but he did assert that "the public ought not to be asked to pay and will not pay the increase over normal profits," which he held had been granted during the period of hostilities to stimulate production.

In placing his set of principles before the joint meeting, Dr. Garfield said:

"After the Cabinet meeting tomorrow, I may be able to make a further statement."

Dr. Garfield told newspaper correspondents that he might be prepared tomorrow to give in detail the percentage of wage increases which the Cabinet believed to be fair. He would not say whether, in his opinion, the 31.61 per cent. increase advocated by Secretary Wilson should be granted. The belief is that Dr. Garfield feels that this level is somewhat too high. He said that he felt the miners and operators knew what he thought was the proper solution, and that they should be able to reach an agreement if they approached the problem in a spirit of fairness to all.

Operators Expected to Accept.

The indication tonight is that should the Government make a definite proposal for settlement tomorrow the operators will accept, probably under protest, and holding that the Government must assume the responsibility for the step. If the operators do this, it will be for the leaders of the miners to determine whether they are willing to accept the instructions of the Government and get the men back to work in the mines. If the offer which the Government makes proves unacceptable to the miners the situation will assume a grave aspect.

The courses open to the Government in the event that its proposal is met by a refusal upon the part of the miners or the operators, or both, may call for a momentous decision. It was pointed out tonight that the Government would not be in a position to enforce its decree unless it assumed control of the mines under the Lever Food Control act. Under powers granted by this act, the Government could assume nominal control, direct the management of the mines to proceed as Government agents, and as the miners would then also be Government employes demand that they accept the wages and working conditions offered by the Government or make way for other workers.

Every effort will be made on the part of the Government to bring about an agreement which will make such a course unnecessary, and there is still hope that a settlement acceptable to both operators and miners will be reached. A peaceful solution will be possible under two conditions. The first is that operators and miners, as a result of Dr. Garfield's statement tonight, come together tomorrow morning and decide upon terms. The second, and of the two the more probable, is that both operators and miners will accept a concrete program to be presented tomorrow by the Government, without forcing more drastic action.

There is, of course, open to the Government the policy of instructing the operators to begin production; promising them protection for any workers brought in from outside fields. The operators have themselves said, however, that, because of the fact that the Central Competitive Field is so closely unionized and housing accommodations limited, such a course would be almost impossible with Winter approaching, without entailing great suffering.

The five principles which Fuel Administrator Garfield told the operators and

RAILWAY TRACKMEN GET NEW PAY SCALE

400,000 MEN ARE AFFECTED

General Chairmen of Brotherhoods in Cleveland Discuss New Rate for Freight.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—A new wage and working agreement was signed late today between the Railroad Administration and officials of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employes and Railway Track Laborers. While the demands of the union were not fully met, the eight-hour basic day was established for track laborers and others of that classification and time and a half pay after that hour was provided. Most of the other employes included under the agreement will receive time and a half overtime pay after ten hours.

Signing of the new contract by Director General Hines ended negotiations which have been in progress since February. Approximately 400,000 men are affected. Railroad Administration officials estimated. The contract also provides that it shall be applicable during the period of Federal control of the roads unless notice of thirty days is given of its cancellation.

"Specifically," an announcement by Mr. Hines says, "the new contract provides overtime for regular section laborers and other employes in this classification except laborers in extra or floating gangs, whose employment is seasonal and temporary in character, and certain employes whose positions do not require continuous manual labor will be paid on the basis of time and one-half after the eighth hour of continuous service, exclusive of the meal period, thus applying the same principle which was established last year for important classes of railroad workers.

"Heretofore such maintenance employes have been paid overtime at pro rata rates for the ninth and tenth hours and time and one-half after the tenth hour. Under the agreement laborers in extra or floating gangs whose employment is seasonal or temporary in character will be paid overtime at a pro rata rate for the ninth and tenth hours and time and one-half after the tenth hour, whereas employes holding positions not requiring continuous manual labor, such as track, bridge and highway crossing watchmen, signal men at railway non-interlocked crossings, lampmen, engine watchmen at isolated points and pumpers, will continue to be paid for their present hours of work a monthly rate equal to their present pay."

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 24.—General chairmen of the four great railroad brotherhoods, engineers, firemen, trainmen and conductors, 500 in number, called in a joint meeting by the four brotherhood chiefs to consider Director General of Railroads Hines's offer of time and a half for overtime in slow freight service opened the conference today with two sessions.

General discussion of the Director General's proposition and organization of the convention occupied most of the day.

Requests for more details regarding several features of the proposal were submitted to Mr. Hines and a reply received and submitted to the delegates.

It is expected the convention will make its reply to the Director General on Wednesday.

STRIKE AT ELLIS ISLAND

REFUSE TO ANSWER NAMES

Threescore Immigrants Sentenced to Deportation in Last Two Years Still Free.

The Committee on Immigration of the House of Representatives, which met at Ellis Island yesterday, obtained from Acting Commissioner of Immigration Byron S. Uhl an admission that the immigration system at this port, through which the largest shifting of races since the Middle Ages has taken place, was at present "largely a farce."

Mr. Uhl said that, with inspections of immigrants being held on board ships by a limited force of inspectors, the effort to discover and weed out dangerous immigrants was futile.

"Isn't it largely a farce?" asked Congressmen J. C. Box of Texas.

"It is largely a checking up of names," said Mr. Uhl.

"Yes," said Mr. Box, "and for practical purposes, it is a farce."

"Yes, in my opinion, it is," replied Mr. Uhl.

Shortly after this opinion was pronounced on the general system, word came to members of the committee that the sixty-six prisoners taken in raids by the Department of Justice and the Lusk Committee, who organized last week "The First Socialist Community of America," had sent an ultimatum to Commissioner of Immigration Byron S. Uhl, threatening to break off relations with the United States.

The First Red Ultimatum.

Mr. Uhl:

In view of the fact that your promise and word, which Isaac Shorr, Esq., our attorney, brought over to us, as to the matter of visitors, to wit, that no iron mesh or net or any other barrier would be placed between us and our friends at the time of their visit to the island has been broken, we believe, by your subordinates;

We, the inmates of Room No. 203 declare that we demand [this last word was impressively underscored] that you give us a personal guaranty undersigned by you that at no time during the hearings nor afterwards until we are deported shall any barriers be placed between us and our friends at the time of their visits.

Expecting an immediate answer we shall refrain from going out to hearings until such satisfactory and immediate answer shall reach us.

By the Committee of Room 203.
M. OZAHOWSKY,
PETER P. BIANKI,
ARTHUR KETSES.

This document was carried from the inclosure which at present constitutes the territories of the Soviet by Isaac Shorr and delivered to Mr. Uhl at 11 o'clock. This first venture in diplomacy of the new indoor State was highly successful for some hours. It scored first by breaking off the deportation hearings which were going on before Inspector Augustus P. Schell, Chief of the Legal Department at Ellis Island.

The House Committee appeared stunned when this letter was produced by Chairman Albert Johnson of Washington and read into the record. On

Says Kaiser Will Be Tried In London Early in New Year

LONDON, Tuesday, Nov. 25.—The British Government expects the trial of former Emperor William of Germany to begin in London early in the new year, and is completing necessary arrangements, says the Daily Mail, which adds that as soon as the Allies have ratified the treaty a united request for the surrender of the ex-Kaiser will be presented to Holland.

"There is no room for doubt that the request will be complied with," the newspaper says. Ratification of the treaty is confidently expected in a few weeks.

NEW LABOR PARTY FINALLY FORMED

WANTS JUDGE IMPEACHED

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24.—The new National Labor Party was formally created today at the convention being held here for that purpose. Plans or financing it include a contribution of one day's pay by each member next year and the levying of a monthly tax of from five to twenty-five cents on each member.

Coalition of the National Labor Party, the Non-Partisan League of America, the Committee of Forty-eight, three or four large farmers' organizations now independently operated, together with the absorption of at least two semi-political radical "parties," into one great political movement intended to sweep the country in the next Presidential election is being planned, it was declared.

Even before the start of the convention arrangements were under way to bring the Committee of Forty-eight, with its organization, into the new Labor Party. Members of the committee were invited to participate in the Labor Party convention as delegates. They are so participating. In the Committee of Forty-eight are a group of "intellectuals" made up of lawyers, students, and writers.

It was planned originally that no mention of this coalition should be made until after the conclusion of the convention, but on the opening day the delegates of the Non-Partisan League became nervous and left the floor. Great excitement followed in the caucuses that are occurring behind the scenes.

"Something must be done to whip these elements into line," declared one of the leaders at such a conference. "Here, for the first time in the history of the country, we have gathered into a single hall representatives of virtually every shade and color of radical and semi-radical existent. Harmony must come, for without harmony we will disintegrate."

And the Committee of Forty-eight was forced to the rescue.

N. P. L. May Win in Minnesota.

It is expected that in the next State election in Minnesota the Non-Partisan League will be victorious. In political circles it has been said that even should the Republicans and Democrats unite in a fusion ticket, they would be defeated. The new National Labor Party cannot hope to gain any strength whatever in Minnesota, North Dakota or other Non-Partisan League strongholds in a campaign of penetration. Their only hope is coalition, it is declared.

In Minnesota there are already five organizations who say they will put tickets into the electorate field. These are the Republican, Democrat, Non-Partisan, Socialist, and Communist parties. Each of these organizations, and in addition the I. W. W. and Communist labor groups, are waging active war against each other. No thought of harmony in their battle against the Non-Partisan League is apparent, it is said, and victory for the latter is virtually being conceded everywhere.

Therefore, with the Non-Partisan League on their side, the new labor party can point out that at least two States will vote their ticket, and every concession, it is said, will be made to this group to insure their co-operation.

"Farmers' organizations now affiliated with the railway brotherhoods, it is said, will throw the entire weight of their influence on the side of the new party.

An especial appeal to the women of the country is to be made by the new party, as a further means of increasing its strength, it is declared. A campaign of propaganda will be placed under way within the next few months, according to those directing that end of the contest.

Politicians within the party are watching carefully every preliminary step in organization, that no cause for a later dispute may enter into present negotiations. Each night finds conferences and caucuses in various hotels and gathering places throughout the city, all working toward the one purpose—a Presidential candidate.

"There is one thing certain," one of the convention 'wire-pullers' declared today, "the man who will be nominated by the Labor Party convention as its choice for President has not yet been

HITCHCOCK CALLED TO WHITE HOUSE ON TREATY FIGHT

Wilson Summons Him for Saturday—Expected to Confer on Message to Senate.

COMPROMISE MOVE STRONG

HAYS SOUNDS THE PUBLIC

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—An appointment has been made for Senator Hitchcock, acting leader of the Senate minority, to confer with President Wilson over the treaty situation Saturday, when Mr. Hitchcock will return to Washington from Nebraska. At that time, it is expected, the policy of the minority respecting the treaty at the next session of Congress, which begins the following Monday, will be agreed upon. Word of the President's desire to see Mr. Hitchcock was conveyed to the Senator today.

By the time Mr. Hitchcock returns to the capital the sentiment of the country will have been sounded out by Senators as to ratification of the treaty with such reservations as the Administration might accept. That the country is anxious to have the treaty ratified was asserted by Mr. Hitchcock before he left the Capitol on Saturday. Mr. Hitchcock felt, he said, that the Republicans who voted against ratification without the majority reservations would discover a strong sentiment at home in favor of a reasonable compromise.

Expect Concessions by Wilson.

President Wilson has given no intimation of the attitude he will take as to the treaty at the next session, but there are undercurrents which convey the impression that he may advocate an agreement based on reservations that would not eliminate any vital phase of the treaty, while at the same time meeting the viewpoint of Senators among the Republican forces who argue that some reservations must be embraced in the ratifying resolution.

While President Wilson, it is stated, will decline to yield his insistence that the majority reservations virtually kill the treaty, he is understood to be in sympathy with Mr. Hitchcock's position that friends of the treaty ought to find the way to an agreement.

Senator Hitchcock's assertion that "reservations in the ratification of the treaty are inevitable" has been accepted at the Capitol as reflecting the opinion of the President as to the policy that must be pursued.

The President, it is understood, will go over with Mr. Hitchcock that part of his message to Congress which will deal with the treaty, and the policy to be outlined by Mr. Wilson will guide the Administration forces when the Senate reconvenes.

There is a distinct feeling on the part of many leaders at the Capitol, Democrats and Republicans alike, that agreement will not seem so difficult, once the Senators are back next Monday. It is believed that, with opportunity for reflection upon the gravity of the situation, Senators who held out against compromise in the final hours of the last session will be found in a more yielding mood.

Although Senator Lodge appears to be anxious to have the treaty put into the next political campaign as an issue, the feeling is apparent on the part of many Republican Senators that the question ought to be decided now, so that Congress in the next few months can devote itself to pressing after-war legislation, which, because of the treaty, was neglected during the session ended last week.

Hays Asks Reports on Constituencies.

A wish that the Republican Senators and Representatives should apply themselves this week, while at home, to ascertaining sentiment on the treaty, is believed to have been one of the motives back of a letter sent to all Republican members of Congress today by Will H. Hays, Chairman of the National Committee. The letter, while dealing with the entire political situation, was taken as being directed principally toward the situation affecting the treaty. It read:

"The National Committee will be under obligations if you will write us fully and frankly about the general political situation in your district. If you go home during the recess, you will, of course, have very definite information; and in any event, be better advised than any one as to conditions there; we are anxious to get this as fully and definitely as possible from everywhere before the meeting of the National Committee in December, and will appreciate it very much if you will give the matter preferred attention."

Senator Lodge and his associates on the Foreign Relations Committee are expected to return by Saturday to perfect plans for legislation at the next session. No steps will be taken as to the treaty until the Senate hears from the President.

Senator Sherman of Illinois, one of the "bitter end" Republicans, today assailed ex-President Taft and his associates in the League to Enforce Peace for their insistence that the Senate foes of the treaty, "forget partisanship and

WILSON REJECTS FIUME CONCESSIONS; ITALY NOW EXPECTS TO ANNEX CITY; NITTI APPEALS TO AMERICAN PEOPLE

Italy Offered to Build a Special Port for Slavs, Meanwhile Allowing Them Privileges at Fiume

It is understood, from a trustworthy official source, that the communication presented to the State Department by the late Conte Macchi di Cellere contained the following observations on the part of the Italian Government, and a proposal:

It was observed that in the circumstances it was an enormous moral responsibility to try to prevent Italy from annexing Fiume with a strip of Istrian territory, since the consequences of disorders in Italy, arising from the unsettled conditions at Fiume, would undoubtedly affect both France and England.

On the other hand, the Italian Government believed that disorders in Italy, and subsequent repercussions in France and England, could be avoided by giving to Italy Fiume and the strip of Istrian territory which would connect Fiume with Italy.

This solution would permit giving all the territory north of Fiume to the Jugoslavs, instead of giving it, as had been suggested by President Wilson, to the buffer State.

And as the President had shown a disposition toward the outlet to the Adriatic for Jugoslavs and desired Fiume to go to it in order to procure such an outlet for the Jugoslavs, the Italian Government proposed the following concession on its part:

Italy would build a port at Buccari for Jugoslavia; while the port was being constructed and until its completion the Jugoslavs would receive special privileges and guarantees at Fiume.

It was not believed at the time the late Ambassador transmitted the communication to the State Department that the solution was in entire accord with the point of view of the majority of the Italian people, but that if the proposed solution were accepted by President Wilson the Nitti Government would undertake to have the Italian people accept it also.

REDS PLAN INSULT TO KING VICTOR

Suggestion in Conservative Circles That King Abdicate in Favor of Duke d'Aosta.

ROME, Nov. 21, (Associated Press.)—Rumors of the wildest character regarding the possibility of a very serious crisis, involving not only the Cabinet, but also the reigning house of Italy, are in circulation as the opening of Parliament approaches.

The Socialists, proud of their recent victory, are eager to continue what they call their "march forward." The older, more authoritative members of the party, however, such as Deputy Turati, leader of the Intransigeants, Deputy Trever, and Signor Modigliania, are against any excesses.

The new elements which have entered the Socialist parliamentary group are declared to be animated by revolutionary sentiments and to favor an extreme policy which, in their opinion, will inevitably lead to the advent of Bolshevism in Italy. This section is now undoubtedly the most numerous, if not the most important, one in the party. It is considered that it will almost certainly assume command of the party because of the audacity and determination of its members to attain control by whatever means seems best to them.

Members of this section are quoted as declaring that comprising, as they do, more than 150 "live wires" among the 550 Deputies, the remainder will not able to accomplish "some supreme act of rebellion which will overthrow the tottering Government of the bourgeoisie."

Formerly the Socialists never attended the opening of Parliament, absenting themselves so that they might avoid being present when the King delivered his speech from the throne and to escape taking the prescribed oath in the King's presence. The newly elected Extreme Socialists, however, now insist that the entire group should attend the ceremony, hiss the King, insult him the moment he appeared, and prevent him from speaking. They have even gone so far as to threaten that he would be attacked on his way to the Chamber or upon his return.

All this, it is pointed out, may be much more than is possible of accomplishment. Nevertheless it has had the effect of making the responsible authorities restless and anxious. It has been conceded among them that there is no measure which it would be possible to take to prevent 150 members whistling and shouting and making it impossible for the King to be heard.

The problem is being considered whether the King should be permitted to risk going to the Chamber to be insulted there. There have been some suggestions that on that day it would be advisable for him to develop a "diplomatic illness." In that case the royal speech might be read by the Premier, but the ardent admirers of the House of Savoy are pointing to the traditional courage of its members and declare it would be difficult to imagine King Victor Emmanuel agreeing to such a suggestion.

Even if the King should not attend the opening session, and therefore it

NITTI SCOUTS IDEA OF A REVOLUTION

Large Socialist Vote Not Expression of a Political Program, but of State of Mind.

HE REPROACHES AMERICA

Premier Complains Italy's Condition Is Not Judged with Justice and Equity.

ROME, Nov. 23, (Associated Press.)—Premier Francesco Nitti in an interview he granted to the correspondent of The Associated Press today appealed to the American people as friends of Italy not to oppose what he said were her right-eous claims in the Adriatic. "Do not let the Italian people," he pleaded, "have the hateful feeling that the great American democracy opposes what is just."

In explaining the present situation in Italy resulting from the recent general election, Premier Nitti said:

"The peoples of Europe will not have another war, and because the Socialists form a party which always has opposed war, the people of Italy voted for them."

He characterized reports in circulation abroad that Italy was on the verge of a revolution as "simply absurd," and continued:

"The result of the elections surprised many, but not those who followed carefully the course of events and their effects. Of the 508 Deputies in the Chamber there will be about 60 Catholics, a little over 150 Socialists and 10 or 12 Republicans. This leaves 330 Constitutional Deputies representing moderate tendencies, besides the Catholics, who are fervent patriots. The majority of them are sincere democrats, ready to participate in the Government of the country. This is proved by the fact that two of them are members of my Cabinet, while one belonged to the preceding administration.

"In addition, in the case of the majority of Socialists returned their election is not the expression of a political program, but rather of the people's state of mind, which can be understood by the countries which have gone through the war and which realize the conditions of unrest resulting therefrom.

Foresees Labor in Government.

"See, for instance, what happened in Belgium where the majority of the Socialists is enormous. Therefore, it was unreasonable not to expect something of the same nature. Four-fifths at least of the Italian Socialists belong to the Labor Party and are representatives of the claims of the working classes in the social and economic fields, and, therefore, an expression of the new great industrial democracy which is now being built up. The Italian Socialists form a party destined sooner or later to abandon their negative attitude for participation in the Government.

"Do not be led away by appearances. Most of the votes given the Socialists were not given for the love of Socialism, but mean many other things. Firstly, the discontent after the war, and secondly, the dissatisfaction felt in Italy for the way her motives have been impugned. Reports circulating abroad—I must say, especially in America—about our situation and the condition of public order in Italy are absolutely false and even ridiculous. They continually say we are on the verge of a revolution, which is simply absurd. Considering the exceptional moments Italy is passing

WILSON SAYS 'NO' TO ITALY

'Maximum' Concessions in Adriatic Problem Not Acceptable.

POLK SEES ADMIRAL KNAPP

Conference in London on Possibility of d'Annunzio Attacking Our Dalmatian Base.

TITTONI OUT OF CABINET

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—What were understood to be the maximum of concessions which Italy was willing to make in her effort to reach an accord with the United States on the Adriatic problem, involving the settlement of the Fiume question, are said to have been rejected by the State Department. The extent to which Italy was willing to go toward making concessions was set forth more than a month ago in a proposal which Italian Foreign Minister Tittoni transmitted to the State Department.

That proposal defined Italy's concessions and offered a settlement which it declared Italy was willing to accept. The presentation of this communication was one of the last actions of Italian Ambassador di Cellere, who died two days later, Oct. 21.

Shortly after the death of the Ambassador, at the State Department, up to that date, had not replied, the Italian Foreign Office requested a reply to the Tittoni proposal, and stated that unless the Italian proposal was accepted it would be of little use to carry on the discussion over Fiume.

In his telegram to Washington Premier Nitti not only declared that he regarded the Tittoni proposal as eminently reasonable, but as constituting the utmost limit to which Italy could go in her efforts to comply with the wishes of President Wilson. Adding that if the proposal should be accepted by the United States, he was able to assure its acceptance by Italy. The reply of Secretary Lansing to the Nitti communication has not been made public. It is intimated that the reason for this is that the matter is too delicate to be publicly discussed at this time.

The main features of the Tittoni proposal were that Italy should receive that part of the Istria forming a triangle, whose extreme point would be Veliese, the line running through the Alps Grande to Monte Maggiore, thence to Fisnona. The existing Italian frontier extends along the line from Monte Gargiore to Fisnona.

Fiume itself, together with some territory to the north, and also some of the neighboring islands in the Gulf of Quarnero, would be come a buffer State, having a special statute for that State and the city. Italy, under the proposal, would have no supervision over its foreign affairs, but the city's Italianity would be recognized and guarded. Zara, under the proposal, would be constituted a free city and port, being represented in foreign affairs by the Italian Government.

There is an expectancy here in some usually well advised quarters that the Italian Crown Council, over which the King presides, will shortly proclaim the annexation of Fiume, and that this action will be ratified by the Parliament. It has been hinted that the French and British Governments would not oppose such action on Italy's part and would seek to dissuade Jugoslavia from fighting.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Frank L. Polk, Under Secretary of State and head of the American peace delegation, had a conference with Rear Admiral Harry P. Knapp, commander of the United States naval forces in European waters, and other naval officers this afternoon, when the American naval position with respect to Dalmatia was discussed.

It has been a question in the minds of American naval officers here as to just what might happen in connection with the American forces in the Adriatic should d'Annunzio attempt a raid on Spalato, where the American ships have their base.

Great surprise has been expressed in naval circles respecting the action of the Italian Admiral Millo, at Sara, where he cordially greeted d'Annunzio and joined in his movement. It is authoritatively learned that Admiral Millo led the American officers to believe that he would at least remain neutral should d'Annunzio attempt further aggression.

Commander A. S. Hickey of the U. S. S. Maddox, who has just returned from the Baltic, was called into the conference to give first-hand information on recent happenings in the Baltic States and Northern Russia.

Mexico to Answer Quickly on Jenkins; May Hold Local Authorities Must Act

LAREDO, Tex., Nov. 24.—The Mexican Government has decided to answer the note from the American State Department regarding the kidnapping and arrest of Consul William O. Jenkins, according to information received today from Mexico City.

This decision was reached, it was said, despite the opinion held by the Mexican Foreign Office that the Carranza Government should await action by the courts before final disposition of the matter.

El Universal, a Mexico City newspaper, stated in its issue of Saturday that it "understands the Government will answer opportunely the note from the White House." It carried an interview with Hilario Medina, Sub-Secretary of Foreign Affairs, who expressed the opinion that the Government ought to await disposition of Jenkins's case in the courts before taking final action.

The paper quoted a report from a Puebla newspaper on the Jenkins case. It included an interview with Governor Cabrera, who expressed the opinion that the case "does not warrant fear of international complications." He declared that Jenkins was imprisoned for alleged perjury as he had "contradicted himself" during the investigation.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—There were no developments here today in the case of William O. Jenkins, American Consular Agent, whose release has been demanded by the United States Government. No reply from Carranza has reached Washington, despite the reports last night that the Mexican Embassy was decoding a message, supposed to be the reply.

All the evidence today went to show that the note had not been completed at the Mexican Capital. President Carranza and his Cabinet have been studying the case, and Governor Cabrera of Puebla, has been summoned to tell about the arrest. It is supposed here that Jenkins is being held a prisoner.

Secretary Lansing gave out this statement today:

"The department has not yet received the answer of the Mexican Government to the American note calling for the immediate release of William O. Jenkins, the American Consular Agent at Puebla, Mexico, who was rearrested and put in the penitentiary shortly after his release by kidnappers near Puebla. It is understood that the Mexican Cabinet had the note under consideration Friday, and that Governor Cabrera was called in from Puebla for report."

Officials are not disturbed over the delay of the Carranza Government. The case is likened to that of a foreign Consul who might be arrested by local authorities in the United States. The case would be in the hands of the State authorities, and if representations were made in his behalf by a foreign Government, the State Department would have to get in touch with the Governor of the State in order to deal with the case.

Consuls and Consular Agents do not have the same immunity from arrest that members of a Legation or Embassy possess, and so local authorities can arrest Consular officers. The Washington Government regards the arrest of Jenkins as having been made arbitrarily.

ROME, Nov. 24.—The resignation of Foreign Minister Tittoni, according to expert readers of Italian political signs, means the abandonment of Tittoni's scheme in face of the opposition both of d'Annunzio and President Wilson.

What will be the next step of the Italian Government is not yet known. Much will depend on the attitude of the party forces as they have been formed by the general elections and as they will be revealed at political meetings within the next few days.

As far as d'Annunzio and his new recruit Admiral Millo of Zara fame are concerned I think it safe to say that whatever may be the attitude of the Government. They will not move from their positions until the international situation has been clarified.

BELGRADE, Nov. 24.—A semi-official communication says that a significant movement has been noted among the Italians in the northern occupied zone.

An Italian legion has been formed at Sebenico. It is composed of newly-arrived troops equipped with ammunition and other supplies by the Italian Army.

would not be possible to insult him personally, the fact is being called to attention that nothing could prevent the Socialists making an anti-monarchical demonstration if they were determined to do so.

The anti-Socialists' view is that this might not be a bad thing. They argue that if the Socialists from the beginning rendered parliamentary work impossible by their excesses this condition would react against them and tend to decrease their numbers largely when the country was appealed to after the dissolution of the Chamber.

Another element in Conservative circles, however, has suggested even such a radical measure as the abdication of King Victor Emmanuel in favor of the Duke of Aosta, who is especially popular with the army and among the parties favorable to the recent war. It is contended in opposition to this view that such a course would not help the situation from the Conservative standpoint, as the personality of the sovereign is not at issue. If a change in the ruler were to be an advantage, it is argued in this quarter, the best arrangement possibly would be the elevation of Crown Prince Humbert under a regency, possibly that of the Duke of Aosta.

Curtailment of Production Likely, Says Arizona Official.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 24.—Curtailment of copper production because of failure of the Senate to ratify the Peace Treaty was predicted today by Gordon K. Campbell, Secretary of the Calumet and Arizona Mining Company.

He said that production would be reduced soon to 50 per cent. of normal, because of the rapidly accumulating stocks. Signing of the treaty, he said, would have put the central powers in the market.

FACE CONFISCATION WITHOUT TREATY

Americans, It Is Held, Would Have No Redress for Seizures in Germany.

$100,000,000 IS INVOLVED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. — Property of American citizens in German territory valued at more than $100,000,000, protected for the United States by the treaty with the German Government, may be confiscated by Germany in the event of failure by the Senate to ratify the treaty.

This opinion was expressed today by authorities connected with the Alien Property Custodian's office, who have studied the treaty and the Trading with the Enemy act. Fear was expressed by these officials that Germany would retaliate upon the United States by retaining the American-owned property in German territory to offset the property of German citizens which this Government has seized and hopes to dispose of without compensating German nationals.

The Versailles treaty definitely provides that Germany shall compensate Americans for their property seized or destroyed by Germany in German territory. This compensation must be made without regard to this Governments final action concerning the property of German citizens taken over by the United States.

Property of German citizens taken over by the Alien Property Custodian, it is estimated, approaches $800,000,000 in value, much of which has been sold to Americans. Under the terms of the treaty the Governments of the Allies were delegated to act under their own laws in reference to the final disposition of the property of German ntaionals.

Sustains Trading with Enemy Act.

This means that the United States is authorized under the treaty with Germany to act in accordance with the provisions of the Trading with the Enemy act. Section 12 of that act empowers Congress to decide what shall be done with the property taken over by the Alien Property Custodian. "After the end of the war any claim of an enemy or of an ally of enemy to any money or other property received and held by the Alien Property Custodian or deposited in the United States Treasury shall be settled as Congress shall direct," says the act.

Another section of this law authorized the President to sell the property of German nationals seized by the Alien Property Custodian during the war. In the opinion of lawyers in the Alien Property Custodian's office the title to this property is valid and cannot be disturbed by any subsequent action.

International lawyers, however, disagree with the conclusions reached by the Alien Property Custodian's advisers. They hold that in the absence of treaty terms a declaration by Congress that war with Germany has ended would overcome the domestic laws dealing with enemy property by removing it of enemy status. In the opinion of international experts such a declaration by Congress would abrogate the right to the possession of German property given by the armistice and reiterated by the Trading With the Enemy act.

In the face of these differences it is believed that some international court will be called upon to decide the status of enemy property and pass upon the validity of the Trading With the Enemy act, or the ultimate disposition of this property will be left to future negotiations between the two Governments concerned.

Treaty Provisions in the Case.

Section IV., Article 297, of the Versailles treaty, relating to property, rights, and interests, lays down the principle outlined above.

Subsection B says:

"Subject to any contrary stipulations which may be provided for in the present treaty, the allied and associated powers reserve the right to retain and liquidate all property, rights, and interests belonging at the date of the coming into force of the present treaty to German nationals, or companies controlled by them, within their territories, colonies, possessions, and protectorates, including territories ceded to them by the present treaty.

"The liquidation shall be carried out in accordance with the laws of the allied or associated State concerned, and the German owner shall not be able to dispose of such property, rights, or interests, nor to subject them to any charge without the consent of that State.

"German nationals who acquire ipso facto the nationality of an allied or associated power in accordance with the provisions of the present treaty will not be considered as German nationals within the meaning of this paragraph."

Paragraph (C) of the same section says:

"The price or the amount of compensation in respect of the exercise of the right referred to in the preceding paragraph (B) will be fixed in accordance with the methods of sale or valuation adopted by the laws of the country in which the property has been retained or liquidated."

Paragraph (E) of the same section makes it plain that the property of American citizens seized by Germany in German territories shall be compensated for as follows:

"The nationals of allied and associated powers shall be entitled to compensation in respect of damages or injury inflicted upon their property, rights or interests, including any company or association in which they are interested, in German territory as it existed on Aug. 1, 1914, by the application either of the exceptional war measures or measures of transfer mentioned in Paragraphs 1 and 2 of the annex hereto. The claims made in this respect by such nationals shall be investigated, and the total of the compensation shall be determined by the Mixed Arbitral Tribunal provided for in Section VI. or by an arbitrator appointed by that tribunal. This compensation shall be borne by Germany, and may be charged upon the property of German nationals within the territory or under the control of the claimant's State. This property may be constituted as a pledge for enemy liabilities under the conditions fixed by Paragraph 4 of the annex hereto. The payment of this compensation may be made by the allied or associated State and the amount will be debited by Germany.

"(F)—Whenever a national of an allied or associated power is entitled to property which has been subjected to a measure of transfer in German territory and expresses a desire for its restitution in claim for compensation, in accordance with Paragraph (E) shall be satisfied by the restitution of the said property if it still exists in specie.

"In such case Germany shall take necessary steps to restore the private owner to the possession of his property, free from all incumbrances or burdens with which it may have been charged after liquidation, and to indemnify all third parties injured by the restitution."

Lack Standing Before Tribunal.

The above sections and others upon the rights and interests of nationals of allied and associated powers are interpreted by counsel in the Alien Property Custodian's office as compelling Germany to restore the property of American citizens seized by the German Government, without regard to what this country does in the way of restoring German property in this country. At the same time the failure of the United States to ratify the treaty containing these provisions gives the United States no standing before the Mixed Tribunal or in other ways as a claimant for damages sustained by its nationals.

It was said at the Alien Property Custodian's office today that Germany had already acted in accordance with the terms of the treaty and had restored some of the property of the International Harvester Company in Germany. In the event that the treaty is not ratified by the United States Germany might insist upon the right to seize the American property already restored to the Harvester Company, as well as hold all the American-owned property in its territory.

The situation relative to property rights will become very complicated if the United States has to negotiate a separate treaty with Germany.

RESERVATIONS NOT BARRED

Journal des Debats Says They Will Not Contradict Spirit of Treaty If "Slightly Modified."

By EDWIN L. JAMES.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 23.—An appeal to America to weigh carefully the results of final rejection of the Versailles treaty is made by the Journal des Debats today. In an article which takes a conciliatory tone toward the Republican reservations this influential newspaper holds out hope that the situation is not so bad as most publicists in Paris think it.

"What are the conclusions," it asks, "to be drawn from all the debates which have taken place before the American Senate, and what aspects and what hopes does the actual situation present? Considering only those of the recent quarrels, we still do not wish to believe that the attitude taken by the Senate at its last meeting will be final.

"We have said, and we believe, that the reservations proposed—on condition that they are slightly modified in their form)—are not contradictory to the spirit nor the terms of the treaty, and are consequently unacceptable. We say even more: It appears to us that the same reservations impose themselves upon all the nations signatory to the League covenant. If the essential point and true centre of debate are there we can but believe that some sort of compromise giving satisfaction to every one will be found.

"However, in considering the debates all together, after we have followed them step by step, it seems that the real problem is a different and more serious one. Leaving to one side all questions of persons and of parties, it seems that one great fact has dominated and still dominates these debates. America, after her generous assistance in the war, hesitates today before an alliance for peace with Europe.

"The President of the United States—for us and for our Allies, the sole spokesmen and true representative of the American people—was during the debates at Versailles and Paris at all times in full view of the American people, and he was not recalled. Today America and the American Senate find themselves facing Europe in the same defiance and the same fear that held England at the beginning of the last century before the Holy Alliance. They are inclined to refuse and to resume their traditional and safer policy of isolation.

"We hold no brief to convince America nor to judge the motives which actuate her. We content ourselves with calling to her attention the confidence placed in her by the nations which have suffered, and to recall to her all the engagements taken in her name since the armistice and taken by her authorized spokesman. We do not even wish to consider whether isolation will, in the actual condition of life and in the course of affairs, become practically possible.

"Date the fact as accomplished and turn your eyes upon Europe as it exists today. Take a bird's-eye view of it one year after the cessation of hostilities. The fate of the countries bordering the Baltic Sea, the fate of the areas of Syria and Mesopotamia is not determined, whether the particular problem concerns only one nation and its neighbors, or whether there is a question of rival interests of the great Powers.

"The Russian problem is more serious and more menacing than all the others. And what can one say about the problems which today, from the Balkans to the Gulf of Bothnia, confront the Allies? One cannot deny that the diplomatic situation is tense. There is a new and unstable Poland. There is the Austrian problem. There is the problem of the Adriatic which must be solved. We had believed that we could count upon the aid of the United States in solving these problems.

"We can conceive how before such a task and such an adventure any one might hesitate. We still wish, however, to have confidence in them. We still hope they will not draw back.

"Two paths are open to them today. One crosses deep rivers and lofty mountains. It is the path which, marching with eyes of faith fixed upon the sun the first caravans of the hardy West followed. The other path is straight, easy, smoothed and without other horizon than that of the sea at which it ends. The first is the path of adventure, of tableaux taken and followed with their allies in the cause of civilization and liberty of the world. The second is the path traced by a restrained and isolated America.

"Taking into account the history of the United States and the magnificent spirit which during all this history has made the country what it is, we believe still and will believe until the last moment that the final decision will conform not to the tradition of isolation, but to the nobler and true tradition which is the very spirit of the race."

GERMANS SEE DIVISION HERE.

Berlin Paper Says Treaty Fight Is Move to Discredit Wilson.

BERLIN, Nov. 23 (Associated Press). —Failure by the United States Senate to ratify the treaty between the allied powers and Germany is considered to be the result of partisan politics by Die Zeit, which comments today upon the situation.

"We must accustom ourselves to the fact that the Peace Treaty, upon which, for us, life and future depend, is treated in America largely as a political party matter," says the newspaper. "Not because the treaty displeased the Republicans, who were more inimical to Germany than the Democrats, nor because they find the conditions too hard for Germany do they condemn it, but because the Democratic leader signed the treaty and they wish to discredit him and his party in the coming elections.

"It is plain now that President Wilson had no right to act as the protagonist of the League of Nations nor to make promises to the European peoples for the fulfillment of which he was unable to rely even on his own people."

SWISS SEE LODGE PLAY PAN-GERMANIST GAME

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERNE, Nov. 24.—All leading Swiss newspapers comment regretfully upon the action of the American Senate and express the hope that sane American opinion will triumph over certain Senators, who, as it seems to the people in Europe, wish put back the hands of the clock. The National Zeitung of Basle, a leading German-Swiss newspaper, says:

"Whoever lets the League of Nations be wrecked is working as Ludendorff's assistant. Senator Lodge and his party don't mean to do this, their attitude being due to America having had enough of world politics. But whatever they may mean, world politics after all exist, and it does not do to consider them simply as if they were not there. A Lodge-Ludendorff combine would be a worldwide calamity."

Lodge's party insists the Zeitung, is playing straight into the hands of the Pan Germanists, who consequently already feel very strong again. Supposing there be no international force able to curb the German spirit of revenge, then the door is wide open for not remote and still more terrible wars."

The French-Swiss press comment is in a similar strain and a frequent headline is "Lodge and Ludendorff." The Pan-Germanist and Bolshevist newspapers extravagantly praise Lodge's action, both claiming it as victory for their ideas.

WILL ASK GERMANY REASON FOR DELAY

BERLIN BANKING ON SENATE

Simson Admitted That Its Action Would Give the Germans an Excuse for Obstruction.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—The Supreme Council decided today to send a note to Germany asking when she intends to sign the protocol and thereby permit the Versailles Treaty to be put into effect. The Allies hope to gain from Germany's reply an indication of what sort of new game the Berlin Government is playing in delaying the enforcement of the treaty for which it has been crying for four months. It is betraying no secret to say that the Council is in the dark about the situation.

Thursday, the allied representatives met the German Protocol Commission headed by von Simson, and after a discussion of methods of procedure it was agreed that there should be another meeting Tuesday. Saturday night, without warning to the allied representatives, von Simson and his suite left Paris for Berlin. In the meantime the news arrived from Washington that the American Senate had adjourned without ratifying the treaty.

Baron Kurt von Lerner, the chief of the German peace delegation, sent a note to the Supreme Council today saying that von Simson had gone home to present the protocol provisions to the German Assembly. This is regarded by the allied diplomats as nothing but camouflage. They are confident that the Germans are trying to take advantage of American developments. They point out that for three weeks the German authorities knew the terms of the protocol, and that after their sending a delegation here a week after the date set by the Allies it was a strange procedure on Saturday to discover that action was needed by the German Assembly. Furthermore, it is known that von Simson stated in a private conversation before his departure that the result of the Senate's action would be to enable the Germans to delay the operation of the Peace Treaty.

All along the Germans have been declaring that allied delay in putting the treaty into effect was unjust, because it continued German commercial isolation. Now that the treaty is about to be put into effect, it is the Germans who delay it.

Officially, Dec. 1 still stands as the day on which the ratifications of the treaty will be deposited. There is in all quarters in Paris grave doubt, however, that such will be the case. It is, of course, impossible that the German Assembly can act on the protocol and the delegates return to Paris within a week.

In the meantime Frenchmen are echoing the threat that if the Germans try to take advantage of the American failure to ratify the treaty they will insist on changing the terms so as to give France more fruits of victory.

Premier Clemenceau will return to Paris tomorrow and take hold of the muddled situation. Frank L. Polk, head of the American delegation, will be back from London tomorrow.

The American representatives on the Supreme Council participated in today's action in calling on Germany for an explanation of her latest move.

Note to Germany Not an Ultimatum.

PARIS, Nov. 24 (Associated Press).—The sudden departure of the commission headed by Herr von Simson, delegated by the German Government to sign for Germany the protocol guaranteeing enforcement of the Peace Treaty and to exchange ratifications of the document, is regarded in American peace delegation circles as having close connection with the news of the adjournment of the United States Senate without ratifying the treaty.

The American opinion, however, does not agree with the majority of French criticisms that the Germans are using the failure of the Senate to ratify the treaty as a pretext for avoiding fulfillment of the peace terms. It is suggested that the Germans are hesitating because they are confronted with a situation in which the absence of American members from the commissions charged with supervision of execution of the treaty deprives them of what they are supposed to consider as a counterpoise to the points of view of their former European enemies.

The Supreme Council's note to the German delegation is understood to be a sort of summons to the Germans to make known whether they want to sign the protocol and make the treaty effective or not. It is not understood to be couched as an ultimatum.

The withdrawal of the American troops from Coblenz, in occupied Germany, is not considered in American Peace Conference circles as necessary in consequence of the failure of the Senate to ratify the treaty. It is contended that the United States is still one of the allied and associated powers, and that the postponement of final action on the treaty does not change its relation to either the associated powers or to Germany.

The American delegates to the Peace Conference, not having received instructions to the contrary, will sign the Bulgarian peace treaty, unless there are new developments before Thursday. The ceremony, which will be much simpler than those at Versailles and St. Germain, will take place in the Mayor's office at Neuilly.

M. Stambuliowsky, the Bulgarian Premier, whose credentials were verified today at the Foreign Office, will sign for Bulgaria.

The council received advices today from Sir George Clerk, its representative in the negotiations with Hungary, that he would leave Budapest this evening for Paris.

It was announced that the German and Polish plenipotentiaries discussing the question of Danzig would hold meetings in Paris.

The council met under the presidency of Jules Cambon, of the French delegation, Stephen Pichon, who has been presiding over the sessions recently, being ill.

prejudice" and ratify the treaty speedily upon the reconvening of Congress.

"If there was any 'partisanship and prejudice' in the handling of the treaty, it was plainly upon the part of the Administration Democrats who declined to consider reservations that would Americanize the pact," said Mr. Sherman. "Not one of the proponents of the treaty, as written by the League to Enforce Peace, could be elected on a treaty platform to anything. Any one running on a platform to Americanize the treaty could be elected to Congress by a majority of 200,000 votes."

S. K. Ratcliffe Wants Treaty Ratified Despite Faults.

"The seeds of future wars are planted in the new national map of Europe and the cardinal point of the treaty is violated in Czechoslovakia, where 3,000,000 Germans are living in that nation's midst, contrary to their desires," said S. K. Ratcliffe, the English journalist, in a speech for the League of Political Education on "The Treaty and the League," at Carnegie Hall yesterday. He said that the treaty had many faults, but declared:

"The covenant cannot do the real job we want it to do until we ratify. General Smuts summarized this for the world when he said: 'It is imperatively necessary that the war be brought to a close.'

"The reservations of the Senate refer to past history and they do not harmonize with the attitude of the United States, since by entering the war it took a position forever allying itself with the interests of the world at large and there is no receding from that position."

Mrs. Rose Pastor Stokes, who is out on bail pending her appeal from conviction following a trial which resulted in a ten-year sentence for sedition, testified yesterday before the Grand Jury which is investigating radical propaganda. Outside of the jury room Mrs. Stokes denied reports that she had made large contributions to the Communist Party or other radical organizations. Nathan Elkin, the printer who published The Revolutionary Age, was another witness.

Ludwig C. D. Mr. Martens, unrecognized envoy of Soviet Russia will be a witness today before the Lusk committee, which is investigating Bolshevist propaganda and is seeking to throw light on the sources of financial help enjoyed by Red organizations in this country. Martens has denied that he has given any money to radical organizations supporting the Soviet here.

through, like all the Europeans nations and also after-war psychology, the general elections in Italy occurred with extraordinarily few incidents worthy of mention.

"Now public order is perfect indeed, and this is a boast which few nations can make nowadays—there is not a single strike in Italy." The Premier said this with a humorous smile, adding immediately: "Of course, I cannot guarantee to be able to say so much tomorrow. But what is certain is that work is being resumed everywhere, and everything leads us to hope that the entire country is ready to devote itself whole heartedly to the much needed task of reconstruction.

"This being the position of affairs in Italy, it is easy to imagine how hard it seems to us that our condition is not judged with justice and equity, especially by our friends in America. I have often told them that their obstinacy in not helping us solve our difficulties is only explained by their having an incorrect, that is, no just, appreciation of our efforts and sacrifices.

Italy Unjustly Treated.

"It is useless to hide the truth. Italy feels she has been unjustly treated. Let us look at the question dispassionately. Of the three European powers which waged war against Germany, Italy is the country that proportionately to her national riches, resources, and population, suffered the most and is still suffering. We are still eating war bread, the meat supply is absolutely inadequate to the needs of the population, and there is not enough milk for the children and the sick. We have no coal and are burning the remainder of our precious forests, there being districts where some even sacrifice their furniture in order to keep a little warmth in their ill-nourished bodies.

"In addition, Italy was the only country among the Allies which entered the war spontaneously by its own choice. France fought because Germany invaded her territory; England because she had guaranteed the neutrality of Belgium and would have dishonored herself by being false to her word. Italy was drawn into the conflict by three reasons: by her sense of ideality, by her determination to sacrifice herself in order to oppose a monstrous domination, and, finally, to obtain her unredeemed national territory.

"Italy freely chose to suffer. It probably was not realized by our allies, absorbed in their own terrible struggle, that during the war Italy was often left to fight her battle alone against all the forces of the Austro-Hungarian Empire, which were superior to us in position, numbers, and war materials. After the collapse of Russia we struggled alone and conquered.

"During the war Italy suffered the greatest of privations. She had the smallest quantity of food and fuel and bore all sorts of hardships. Thousands of Italians lost all they made their dear to them, but voluntarily, with their eyes open, they entered the awful struggle for the fulfillment of the noblest ideals and aspirations.

Wounded by Allied Opposition.

"Now the war has ceased for a year. Ever since the Italians have seen their national aspirations opposed with a hardness and inflexibility which wounds them profoundly. I do not deny that mistakes may have been made by our statesmen, and have been made by our press, but the fact remains that all our allies have gained from the war infinitely more than Italy; that while Italy for long months has struggled, thus far it has been unsuccessfully, for her object, which after all has merely sentimental value.

"Was it worth while to oppose us so cruelly regarding Fiume? An irregular situation has arisen both in Fiume and Dalmatia. The discontent which had blazed up in our army and navy is the result of many errors of our own—but above all—I say it solemnly and deliberately—they are in a great measure due to the conduct of our allies.

"I call with my whole soul upon the great American public to help us settle the thorny question of Fiume. The latest program of Foreign Minister Tittoni is so very moderate that it ought to be accepted. We absolutely can yield no further.

"I have always felt sincere friendship for America, and claim that America should be on our side—should help us escape from this painful situation. I have addressed myself personally to President Wilson as a friend. I address the American Nation also as friends. Do not let the Italian people have the hateful feeling that the great American democracy opposes what is just. As the Adriatic question may cause a new and violent conflict, Italy desires to settle it as quickly as possible.

"As I said before, Italy does not desire further wars. Even with the Jugoslavs she wishes to have friendly relations. They are our neighbors, and must therefore both in their own interests and ours, share in our civilization.

Needs Material Aid from America.

"No country, perhaps, has greater courage than Italy in enduring great sacrifices. Therefore, we shall reduce all our expenses. In a few days 2,000,000,000 lire of new taxation is to be imposed, and we shall launch a loan destined to decrease our paper currency. Add to this the admirable power of our people to work, and if America will have confidence in us and provide us with raw materials on credit, we will soon pull ourselves together; soon our finances will recover, and, unless some new unpropitious event shall occur, we will be the first country of Europe to put our finances into satisfactory shape.

"We need peace as the first condition of our life—a peace that will enable us to make great strides in the world. I want to proclaim aloud that the imperialistic tendencies attributed to Italy are erroneous. The best men we produce are men of democratic ideas. Italy is a sane and healthy country. Its only trouble is the discontent among us which is greatly due to the attitude of our allies.

"I repeat again that we must solve without delay the Adriatic question, which may ferment and, with the ferment existing in other parts of Europe, even bring about the tragedy of another war. Italy asks only justice. Do not hesitate, therefore, to be on her side. Sooner or later Italy will conquer, because justice is on her side—because once she has emerged from the present difficulties of her situation in Europe she can only become greater and greater.

"We trust also that we shall have the support of your Latin sister republics of South America, to which we are bound by so many racial, moral, and linguistic ties—by the same spirit of freedom and democracy, by that great contribution of the strength of manhood which makes the Italian feel at home when he treads the soil of Brazil, Argentina, Uruguay, Chile, and Peru, while Latin-Americans are greeted as brothers over here."

CALLS INSPECTION OF ALIENS A FARCE

finding the peremptory "note" of the proletariat dictatorship of Ellis Island had been followed by the breaking-off of the hearings, as the Reds had promised, Congressman Vaile of Colorado said:

"Now, what do you do here in New York when a prisoner in the Tombs says he will not go to court to be tried?"

"We grab him by the collar and drag him in," said Congressman Isaac Siegel of New York, who introduced the resolution calling for the committee's investigation.

"Why, of course you do," said Congressman Vaile.

Augustus P. Schell, who was then called as a witness, said that he had intended to hold the hearings all through the day, but that his proceedings had stopped when the Soviet stroke of policy had been followed by the individual refusal of others charged with criminal anarchy to have anything further to do with these United States of America.

"I understand," he added, "that their lawyer has taken the position that he will leave the island on the 2:30 boat if the demand of his clients is not acceded to."

"Has he declined to appear on their behalf at these hearings?" asked Congressman Raker.

"I believe he has," said Mr. Schell.

After talking to some of the Congressmen, Mr. Uhl said that he intended to have the proceedings go on, whether the Reds or their counsel made their appearance or not. Congressman Siegel declared that the law required that the subjects for deportation should be present and within hearing when the testimony against them was given. When it was suggested that he should have the Reds collared and dragged into court, just as other recalcitrant prisoners were, Mr. Uhl said he would do this.

"I would like to have the committee attend these hearings," said Mr. Raker.

"I would like to find out whether this island is being run by the Government of the United States or by these prisoners and their counsel."

"I think that is hardly fair," said Congressman Siegel.

"Well, when these men are ready to proceed, I suggest that the committee see the performance—that is, proceedings," said Congressman Raker.

The committee was about ready to order a Red dragged in, but some of the members came around to the view of Congressman Siegel, who said, "There has been farce enough already."

Lawyer for Aliens Called.

Instead of having a freshly-caught Red brought before the committee, their counsel, Isaac Shorr, was called. He denied that he had advised his clients to "strike" and said that he did not even know the contents of the letter he had carried to Mr. Uhl, describing himself as a dispatch bearer with sealed orders. He said that he had planned to take the 2:30 ferry back to New York, because he felt that if the hearings were off there was no further use for him. He said that he was ready to resign if his clients wanted him to.

The committee then began to show some interest in Shorr himself, who said that he was a Russian Jew, had studied law at New York University and had been admitted to the bar four years ago. He was asked to explain how it was that he was the lawyer for every one of the sixty-six Reds. One of the Congressmen had asked earlier in the proceedings if this was not a device on the part of the prisoners to drag out the proceedings as much as possible, because, each having the same lawyer, it was impossible to have two or more of their hearings simultaneously.

Shorr explained, however, that he had built up his remarkable Red practice because he had Russian clients on the Island who had been there off and on for the last two years.

"How has that happened?"

"Why, a dozen of my clients have been here on charges before."

"What disposition was made of their cases?"

"They have been examined and re-examined, but no decision rendered."

"How long ago were they examined?"

"There are two or three men there whose cases have been pending since 1917."

Two Accused of Dynamite Plots.

Congressman Siegel took up the examination, and Shorr admitted that two of the men had been arrested in Ohio in 1917, on the charge of participating in the plot to blow up rubber factories in Akron, Ohio, for the purpose of hindering the production of war materials. They were ordered deported, then released on bail, while the Department of Labor was considering their cases, then re-arrested on other charges of plotting against the United States.

When Shorr began to enumerate the Reds of the class of 1917 it turned out that two of his oldest clients were Peter Bianki and Arthur Kates, both signers of the official communication which had been delivered to Acting Commissioner Uhl. Another of the clients, who was up for deportation on a second charge of anarchy, while out on bail on an appeal, was Alexander Kushnereff, who was arrested originally at Bethlehem, Pa. Neither the lawyer nor the officials on Ellis Island, who were questioned, could throw any light on the reasons for the delay of the Department of Labor in disposing finally of these cases.

Earlier in the day Commissioner Uhl had testified that in the last two years about sixty alleged Reds, who were held on charges of criminal anarchy, had been released from Ellis Island pending their appeals. According to Assistant District Attorney Alexander Rose, some of the most rabid Red propagandists had been men released on bail pending appeal, after being turned over to the Government with conclusive cases against them. Keates and Bianki, originally arrested in 1917 in connection with the conspiracy to blow up munitions factories and rearrested in the raid of the Department of Justice on the Russian People's House, have been leaders in the organization of the "Soviet" on the island.

Mr. Siegel took up the cases of two of Schorr's clients, who had been released on bail pending appeal from charges of criminal anarchy and not rearrested.

"Are you in communication with these men?" asked Congressman Siegel.

"Yes, I received a letter from them recently," replied the lawyer.

"That's peculiar," said Congressman Siegel, "they are down on the list furnished to us by the Government as men who have disappeared after having been released on bail."

"I didn't know that," said Mr. Shorr.

"I would like to have it noted on the record," said Congressman Raker, "that the lawyer for these men seems to have no difficulty in getting in touch with them, but the Government records show that the Government is not able to get in touch with them."

Reds' Visitors Go on Strike.

While this hearing was going on another strike developed. The band of visitors, whose inability to see Red friends and relatives except through a heavy mesh had caused the action of the Soviet, announced that they had made up their minds to stay right there on the island until the United States agreed not to insert any further barriers between them and their friends. They stuck to this resolution from 8 o'clock until 4:30, and then, after an agitated conference, made a rush for the next to last boat. They had carried over baskets of fruit and provisions for their friends, but their resolution not to make any move that could be construed as official recognition of the United States prevented the delivery of the baskets. The visiting friends finally destroyed their bridges by devouring the supplies themselves with defiant and aggressive gestures.

After the testimony of Shorr, the immigration officials sought to round up a couple of Reds and have their hearings, no matter how it might affect the national pride of the caged political entity.

"Oradovsky," shouted a guard. There was a stirring in the Soviet but no answer.

"Tumanuruk."

No one answered.

"Stapanuk." There was another silence. The guard called for more names without success, and then shouted:

"Anybody that's ready to have a hearing, come forward."

There was no movement. The guard called others, again without response. The sixty-six Reds had been thrown together, and there was no way to identify them individually on short notice. They declined to identify themselves or one another, so all hope of a hearing yesterday was at an end.

Congressmen Do Not Criticise Uhl.

Congressmen who questioned Acting Commissioner Byron S. Uhl closely about the Reds then on the islands and the methods of procedure under his predecessor said at the hearing that they did not wish to be understood as criticising Mr. Uhl or his conduct of Ellis Island during the short period that he had been in charge. He was made acting Commissioner a few weeks ago, following the resignation of Frederic C. Howe, who left his position after being severely criticised in the Senate and the House for presiding over a meeting at Madison Square Garden, which was turned into a Bolshevist rally, for long absences from his post and for excessive tenderness to radicals held for deportation.

According to committeemen, they have little fault to find with Commissioner General Caminetti for conditions at Ellis Island for several years past, because of the fact that he has had no direct jurisdiction over Mr. Howe.

The committee reserved its direct investigation of Commissioner Howe for a later date. Officials who were questioned informally yesterday said that ex-Commissioner Howe had been at the island very infrequently.

After admitting that the immigration service had declined until it was practically a farce, Mr. Uhl said that thirteen prisoners had escaped from the island in recent weeks. This was due, he said, to the lack of watchmen and to the fact that many of them were old and infirm men who had spent the best part of their lives in the immigration service.

Mr. Uhl said that the handling of immigrants could be done to better advantage if all steerage and second-class cabin passengers were taken to Ellis Island for examination instead of being looked over by the ships. He said that immigration inspectors were more or less dependent on the good-will of ship stewards for lining up all the steerage passengers for inspection. He said that it was naturally to the interest of the steamship companies to get all their passengers into this country, because they had to pay back the fare and return the rejected immigrants to their own lands so that the disposition of some of the companies was to aid undesirable immigrants to defeat the law.

Dr. John W. Kerr, chief surgeon at Ellis Island, admitted that the medical inspection was superficial, consisting of looking into the faces of the immigrants and passing them unless something strange was discovered. He said that the medical man, who had long practise at the snapshot diagnosis, became wonderfully expert in detecting symptoms of disease, but he said that the inspection should be far more thorough. In his opinion, the greatest need was for the detection of the feeble-minded, who constituted the greatest menace. The Congressional Committee will make a study of public schools, where the pupils are children of parents of many nationalities.

NEWTON SUES FIRM AS TAX DODGERS

PAID 520 PER CENT. DIVIDEND

Then Filed Report Showing $126,000 Profits to "Salary" Account, It Is Said.

STOCKHOLDERS COMPLAIN

Officers Later Voted Themselves $115,000 Increase in Pay, Petition Asserts.

Novel action to punish a corporation and its officers for alleged income tax fraud was taken yesterday when Supreme Court Justice Delehanty granted an application by Attorney General Newton for permission to bring suit to dissolve Miller, Tompkins & Co., dealers in paper bags at 483 Washington Street.

The Attorney General proposed as an alternative the suspension of Francis J. McKee, Treasurer, and Herbert A. Grant, Secretary, from acting as officers and Directors. States D. Tompkins, President of the corporation, also was mentioned, but he died May 23, and his successor has not been elected.

If the suit is successful it is not unlikely that similar action will be taken toward other concerns, when the authorities may discover evidence pointing to tax frauds in which criminal proceedings may be deemed inadvisable.

The suit followed the alleged refusal of Albert O. Miller, former President of the corporation, to sign the tax report alleged to have been fraudulent, and his subsequent removal by Tompkins and McKee, who owned stock control. The complaint was made to the Attorney General by Estelle B. Miller as a minority stockholder, on the ground that the stockholders have been deprived of dividends due them, through the efforts of the accused officers to cover up the profits.

The Attorney General's petition is based upon the alleged abuse by the corporation of its power and of attempted frauds on the State and Federal taxing authorities. These, he contends, are proved after "hearings and exhaustive investigations and the examination of the books."

520 Per Cent. Dividend Paid.

He alleges that the investigation showed the corporation was formed in 1897 and has a capital of $30,000. Its business expanded until in 1916 the earnings were $101,076 and in 1917 $154,000, or 520 per cent. on the capital stock.

The Attorney General asserts that before 1916 the salaries of officers were $7,540, and after 5 per cent. dividends had been paid the balance of the profits was distributed monthly to the officers as extra salary. In 1916 the corporation paid an alleged debt of $74,076 due from the corporation to its officers, and $27,000 in dividends, or 90 per cent. on the stock. The dividend of 520 per cent. for 1917 is alleged to have been declared and paid. The petition says:

"In April, 1918, when the time in which the Federal tax report should be filed was drawing to a close, the officers found this dividend, if reported to the State and Federal taxing authorities, would present a serious situation as to the excess profits tax. The temptation to evade the taxes was then strong, and Tompkins and McKee, as the controlling stockholders, yielded to the temptation."

The petition alleges that these men entered into a conspiracy to defraud the State and Federal Governments out of the taxes, and the minority stockholders out of a just proportion of the profits. In pursuance of the conspiracy, it is asserted that "a fictitious balance sheet was prepared, on which $126,000 of the $186,000 profits for 1917, already distributed as a dividend, was added to the items of general expense under the heading 'Salaries to Officers,' thus reducing the profits to 100 per cent."

The tax report was then made up, it is added, and when Mr. Miller refused to sign it, Tompkins and McKee did so, as Secretary and Treasurer, and at the election of officers the next month, Miller was removed. Grant, "a mere employe and dummy for Tompkins and McKee, but owner of no stock," was elected Secretary, the petition says, and Tompkins and McKee were made President and Treasurer, respectively. The Attorney General continues:

$115,000 in Salaries to Themselves.

"Alterations in the books of the corporation amounting to forgery were undertaken to conform the books to the fictitious balance sheet, but the alterations were never completed owing to lack of technique in the art, and the books had to be restored as nearly as possible to their original condition."

The petition says that in May, 1918, Tompkins and McKee, with Grant conniving, estimated the probable profits for the year and "voted all to themselves as officers," $80,000 going to Tompkins and $35,000 to McKee for seven months' services. It is alleged that after the death of Tompkins McKee and Grant continued to carry out the "illegal fraud and conspiracy."

The balance sheet of May 22 last, sworn to by McKee, is alleged to have shown that the corporation owed Tompkins $51,944 in salary and McKee $16,932, while the total inventory of the corporation showed only $56,670 and accounts receivable $38,381.

The Attorney General says the accused men "manifested a spirit of defiance to the authorities of the State after being summoned to answer the charges of fraud and evasion of taxation," and for that reason their removal is urged, if the court does not dissolve the company.

Mr. McKee said last night at his home, 620 West 122d Street, that he had not seen the Attorney General's petition and would make no statement until he had.

Irish Bank Clerks Threaten Strike.

DUBLIN, Nov. 23.—Bank clerks throughout Ireland will strike on Dec. 31 unless the directors of banks consent to recognize their union, an action which they have hitherto refused to take. This was decided upon at a conference of the Irish Bank Clerks' Union here today. The strike will affect 3,000 out of a total of 4,000 bank clerks in Ireland.

ALFONSO OF BRAGANZA SERIOUSLY ILL IN ITALY

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Reports have reached here from Italy that Prince Alfonso of Braganza is seriously ill and that the Princess, formerly Mrs. Phillip Van Valkenburg, who is constantly in attendance on him, is almost broken down with anxiety.

The exiled Braganzas are not altogether a happy family, and ex-King Manuel, who is frequently to be seen shopping here in the West End, has thought so little of his uncle's illness as to make no inquiry after him, either by wire or letter. The Braganzas of the Palazzo Reale, where the Prince lies ill in Naples, are furious with Manuel for what they regard as his callousness and neglect.

There was a difficulty between him and Prince Alfonso over the personal property of the late Queen Dowager of Portugal, Maria Pia, and Manuel appears to have obtained the lion's share.

MARCH FOR ARMY OF 500,000

Corrects Interpretation of the General Staff's Plan.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The opinion of the General Staff and the Administration is that a peace-time army of 500,000 men is the minimum necessary to care for the national interest, General March, Chief of Staff, declared today, correcting an interpretation of his annual report, published Sunday, which placed the minimum at 250,000.

In his report General March recommended one field army of five corps skeletonized to 50 per cent. of its strength. Taking four divisions of 26,000 men to a corps, such a calculation would show about 526,000 men, which skeletonized to 50 per cent. of strength, would make 260,000 men.

General March, however, made it plain today that he was basing his estimate on the army corps as a practical unit completely organized with all its elements for service. Five corps on that basis would mean an army in excess of 1,000,000 men, which skeletonized to 50 per cent. of strength would make an army of 500,000.

In an effort to cultivate esprit de corps in every organization, the War Department has decided that each regiment is to have the opportunity of placing on its flag some distinctive device or emblem, peculiar to that organization. These emblems are to be heraldic in character.

HEARING ON DAKOTA MINES.

Operator Wants Order Restraining Governor Made Permanent.

FARGO, N. D., Nov. 24.—Hearing on the Dakota Coal Company's application for an order permanently restraining Governor Frazier of North Dakota from operating the company's lignite mines in the State was begun today before Judge C. A. Amidon in Federal Court.

Counsel for Adjt. Gen. Fraser and the other defendants presented affidavits, letters and oral testimony to show that the miners in all workings where union men were employed had gone on strike before the Governor seized the mines under a proclamation declaring martial law that the operators were unable to induce the men to return to work and that as a result of the strike many sections of the State were facing a serious coal shortage.

Attorneys for the coal company presented affidavits purporting to show that there was no danger of a fuel shortage in the State because of the strike.

FIGHT STARTS I. W. W. RAID.

Denver Police Arrest Six and Seize Copies of The Blood Clot.

DENVER, Colo., Nov. 24—Six alleged members of the Industrial Workers of the World were lodged in the city jail tonight following a riot and a raid on local headquarters of the organization. The police seized a quantity of radical literature, including several hundred copies of The Blood Clot, an I. W. W. paper.

The arrests resulted from a fight between R. C. Graham, Chief Boatswain's Mate of the Denver recruiting station of the navy, and Frank Wall, an alleged I. W. W., who was distributing the radical literature. Graham is said to have resented an attempt of Wall to force a copy of The Blood Clot into his hand. In the fight that followed Wall was knocked to the pavement. A crowd attracted by the fight had started a raid on the I. W. W. hall when a patrol wagon filled with police arrived. Several of the I. W. W. were arrested.

HUGE COAL PROFITS EXPOSED BY M'ADOO

CALLS MINERS' DEMAND FAIR

Wires Administrator Garfield No Part of Advance Should Be Put Upon the Public.

Inviting the bituminous coal operators "to a showdown," William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, yesterday made public a telegram he had sent to Dr. Harry R. Garfield, Federal Fuel Administrator, urging that the pay demands of the coal miners be granted.

As an accelerator upon the coal mine owners, Mr. McAdoo suggested that their income tax returns for 1917, filed while he headed the Treasury, be scanned for "shocking profits," sometimes as high as 2,000 per cent. The ex-Secretary pointed out that the law authorized the President to disclose tax returns, and recommended that this action be taken as likely to indicate that the operators could well afford to give the miners more money.

The telegram was sent from the office of McAdoo, Cotton & Franklin, attorneys, 120 Broadway, and read as follows:

"Reports from Washington indicate that the miners are willing to accept the wage increase suggested by Secretary Wilson, but that the mine owners are holding back until they learn from you how much of the wage increase they can impose on the public through increased prices for bituminous coal. I am convinced that the increases proposed for the mine workers are just and reasonable, but I have grave doubts as to whether the mine operators are entitled to increase the price of coal to consumers because thereof.

"In the year 1917 many mine owners made shocking and indefensible profits on bituminous coal. I know this because, as Secretary of the Treasury, I examined in May, 1918, their income tax returns to the Treasury. Before deduction of excess profits taxes, which were less in 1917 than now, these returns showed earnings on capital stock ranging from 15 per cent. to 2,000 per cent. Earnings of 100 to 300 per cent. on capital stock were not uncommon. The operators claim that their 'invested capital' frequently exceeds their 'capital stock,' but it is doubtless true that in many cases 'capital stock' exceeds 'invested capital.' However this may be, it is clear that even on the basis of the operators' claims as to 'invested capital' their net earnings in 1917 were abnormal.

Striking Facts as to Earnings.

"In a report made by the Treasury in response to a Senate resolution on profiteering in 1918, some striking facts were given as to the earnings of various companies engaged in production of necessaries of life, including fuel. Of course, I do not know what the profits of the bituminous coal operators were in 918, since I eft the Treasury in December, 1918, and these reports were not filed until March, 1919, but if they disclose any such profits as earned by the bituminous coal operators in 1917, it would be a grave wrong to permit the operators to take from the public additional profits in the form of increased prices for bituminous coal.

"Moreover, if profits were even measurably as great in 1918 as in 1917, the operators can well afford to pay the increased wages to the miners and still have perhaps a larger return upon the capital employed in the mines than they are justly entitled to.

"In behalf of the public, already overburdened with the high cost of living, I earnestly urge that the bituminous coal operators be not permitted to impose an additional charge for coal on the public until a careful examination has been made of their income tax returns filed with the Treasury Department for the years 1917 and 1918. It can be determined from the actual facts of the case whether an increased charge to the public is in any respect justifiable.

"I earnestly urge also that these income tax returns be published. They ought to be published, so that the American people can know what the true facts are about the earnings of the bituminous coal operators. They are entitled to this information, and there is no reason why it should be withheld, since the law permits it in certain circumstances. It can be taken for granted that the income tax returns of these companies are more likely to understate than to overstate net earning power for the purposes of taxation.

"In my judgment the wage increases should be promptly conceded, and the coal operators should accept them and submit to the investigation and publication of their income tax reports, subject to your final determination, after all facts are considered, as to what the just price of bituminous coal should be. If later the facts show that an increased price is justified, the American people will, I am sure, be willing to pay it.

"In my opinion, resumption of work at the mines should immediately begin upon this basis, so that the American people may not be subjected to the perils of a further depletion of the available fuel supply in this country."

Law Permitting Publication.

That part of the law to which Mr. McAdoo referred as giving power for the inspection and publication of income tax returns is Part 3 of the administrative provisions of Regulation 45, relating to the income tax and war profits and excess profits tax under the Revenue act of 1918, Section 257, which states that "returns are to be public records" sets forth as follows:

That returns upon which the tax has been determined by the Commissioner shall constitute public records, but they shall be open to inspection only upon order of the President and under rules and regulations prescribed by the Secretary and approved by the President.

Provided, That the proper officer of any State imposing an income tax may, upon the request of the Governor thereof, have access to the returns of any corporation, or to an abstract thereof showing the name and income of the corporation, at such times and in such manner as the Secretary may prescribe.

Provided further, That all bona fide stockholders of record owning 1 per cent. or more of the outstanding stock of any corporation shall, upon making request of the Commissioner, be allowed to examine the annual income returns of such corporation and of its subsidiaries.

Any stockholder who pursuant to the provisions of this section is allowed to examine the return of any corporation and who makes known in any manner whatever not provided by law the amount or source of income, profits, losses, expenditures or any particular thereof set forth or disclosed in any such return shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by a fine not exceeding $1,000 or by imprisonment not exceeding one year, or both.

The Commissioner shall, as soon as practicable in each year, cause to be prepared and made available to public inspection, in such manner as he may determine, in the office of the collector in each internal revenue district, and in such other places as he may determine, lists containing the names and the post office addresses of all individuals making income tax returns in such district.

When Mr. McAdoo was seen at his office and asked to elaborate on his telegram he declined on the ground that "it covers the ground in itself." He said he had decided only yesterday morning to send his advisory message and had done so without suggestion from any quarter. He declared that he could not say what action was likely to result, adding that he did not know whether the President would call for the coal operators' returns.

"I've simply invited the coal operators to a show down," he said, "because I do not think the public should be compelled to pay more for its coal unless the increase is actually warranted."

PHYSICIANS ELECT OFFICERS

Dr. Chetwood Is Chosen President of County Medical Society.

The 116th annual meeting and election of officers of the New York County Medical Society was held in New York Academy of Medicine Building at 17 West Forty-third Street last night. At 1:30 o'clock this morning the results of the election were given out as follows: President, Dr. Charles H. Chetwood, re-elected, with 561 votes. His opponent, Dr. John Van Doren Young, received 255 votes, giving Dr. Chetwood a plurality of 306 votes. Delegates: Drs. Theodore H. Allen, Eden V. Dougherty, Daniel S. Dougherty, Gustav G. Fisch, Lewis F. Frissell, Ward B. Hoag, Samuel J. Kopetzky, George W. Kosmak, Eugene H. Pool, Abraham J. Rongy, Howard K. Taylor, Frederick T. Van Beuren, and Orrin S. Wightman. The delegates will serve for two years.

The other officers of the society were re-elected.

Dr. Young ran as an independent against Dr. Chetwood, the administration candidate, who was First Vice President of the society. The division in the organization is said to have resulted from the alleged failure of the society to oppose legislation for compulsory health insurance, workmen's compensation and the drug laws.

Confirms Germany's Refusal.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—That Germany has refused to co-operate with the Allies in bringing economic pressure to bear on Soviet Russia was confirmed by Sir Hamar Greenwood, Under-Secretary for Home Affairs, today, when he announced the fact in the House of Commons.

BRITISH TO CUT PRICE OF HOUSEHOLD COAL

COAL MERCHANTS BAFFLED

Exports and Owners' Profits to be Limited — American Strike Makes Reduction Possible.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Sir Auckland Geddes astounded the House of Commons today by announcing that household coal will be reduced 10 shillings a ton, and that bunker coal for coastwise traffic will be brought down to "the industrial level," a reduction of probably 30 shillings a ton.

Only ten days ago Geddes said it would be impossible to lower the price of coal 6 shillings a ton on the present output, but that if there were no stoppages of work, except for recognized holidays, he would recommend a reduction of a much smaller amount. He has since told the Commons that the Government has had to subsidize household coal 40 pence per ton.

Coal merchants and owners are baffled by Geddes's unexpected announcement today, while the Miners' Federation officials contend that the Government's decision is a victory for the federation's campaign.

Geddes also announced that coal exports and owners' profits are to be limited.

The coal experts are unable to understand Geddes's figures, but The Chronicle explains the situation by pointing out that the Coal Controller is better off than he expected to be financially, because the American coal strike prevented an anticipated fall in the prices of export coal. On the contrary, they remain extremely high, and, consequently, the Government, having a nest egg to dispose of, decided to give it to the consumer of household coal and to coastwise shipping.

As regards the limitation of coal exports, The Chronicle assumes that the Government's argument is that, since Britain can sell coal abroad at such high prices, she can afford to sell less of it.

HEED INJUNCTION THREAT.

Wyoming Miners Vote to End Strike Started Earlier in Day.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., Nov. 24.—Locals of the United Mine Workers of America throughout the Sheridan district held meetings tonight and voted to return to work tomorrow morning and end a strike which started today.

This action followed a warning by Major Warren Dean, commander of the military forces in the Sheridan field, that unless the men returned to work he would start tomorrow arresting union leaders for violation of the injunction issued by Federal Judge A. B. Anderson in Indianapolis.

PROFESSORS ASK MORE PAY

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 24.—A large majority of the professors in the Carnegie Institute of Technology met in one of the halls of the school this evening and decided to petition the Board of Directors, through President A. A. Hammerschlag of the Institute for a general raise of salaries.

Dr. Baker, Secretary of the Institute, was present, and received the petition for presentation to Dr. Hammerschlag tomorrow, when there will be a board meeting to take into consideration several matters in connection with the memorial service to Andrew Carnegie, which will be held in the Music Hall tomorrow afternoon. The committee that drew up the petition is composed of Professor L. O. Grondahl, Chairman; Professor Charles Watkins, Mrs. Irene Conrad, and Professor H. L. Lang.

The petition states that the salaries of professors have not gone up along with those in other professions or businesses, and that the high cost of living will result in many of the professors in universities and colleges giving up their present occupations unless a better rate of pay is instituted immediately. No threats of a strike are made.

It is believed that the request for higher pay will be granted.

COAL SETTLEMENT UP TO CABINET

1. The public must not be asked to pay more then it is now paying for coal, unless it is necessary to do so in order to provide reasonable wages to the mine workers and a reasonable profit to the operators.

2. The arrangement entered into by the operators, the mine workers and the Fuel Administration, with the sanction of the President of the United States, in October, 1917, was intended to equalize the wages of all classes of mine workers, and to be sufficient to cover the period of the war, but not beyond March 31, 1920. Hence the only increase in the cost of living which can now be considered is the increase above that provided for by the average increase in 1917, that is to say, the average total increase in pay over the 1913 base, which was the base considered in 1917, should not exceed the present average increase in the cost of living over the same base. It is also to be considered that the cost of living will fall rather than rise during the next few years.

3. The maximum prices fixed by the Government on coal were calculated to increase production of coal for war purposes. Coal was basic and the increase imperative. The public ought not to be asked to pay, and will not now pay, the increase over normal profits then allowed for the purpose of stimulating production.

4. Any increases in wages now arrived at on the basis of the foregoing principles should be borne by the operators or the public, or both, as may be determined by the application of these principles, and should take effect as of the date when the men return to work.

5. The needs of the United States are not alone to be considered; Europe is in desperate need of coal and should have all that we can spare.

Operators and miners had reached what appeared to be a hopeless deadlock earlier in the day and for several hours, while Dr. Garfield was conferring with Mr. Palmer and Mr. Hines, loafed about awaiting a summons from Dr. Garfield. Every one was awaiting Dr. Garfield's message with ill-concealed impatience.

Both Sides Disappointed.

There was some disappointment expressed by leaders of both sides after Dr. Garfield had concluded, over the fact that he had not stated terms for a settlement.

A spokesman for the operators said that the Government apparently expected both sides to "get out pencils and start figuring."

Leaders of both sides claimed that Dr. Garfield's statement of principles represented victory. The miners held that it represented an approval of the increase suggested by Secretary Wilson and that it upheld their contention that the operators were making greater profits than they might rightfully expect. The operators held that Dr. Garfield had sustained their contention that Secretary Wilson's proposal was too high and that their proposal of a 20 per cent. increase was more than adequate.

John L. Lewis, Acting President of the United Mine Workers of America, after listening to Dr. Garfield's message, was asked for a statement.

"I have nothing to say," he replied a bit grimly. "I've got a copy of the statement in my pocket, but I haven't even read it over."

T. T. Brewster, Chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Central competitive field and chief representative here of the operators, asked that the operators remain in session a short time to discuss procedure.

The sub-committees of the scale committees of the miners and operators are scheduled to meet at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, but it appeared doubtful if they would come to any agreement before action was taken by the Cabinet, which also meets tomorrow morning.

Some excitement was caused among operators and miners and in official circles today by the telegram W. G. McAdoo sent to Dr. Garfield advocating acceptance of Secretary Wilson's proposal by the Government, asserting that the profits of the operators had been extremely high and urging publicity of the income tax returns of the operators.

At the conclusion of the joint conference tonight Dr. Garfield was asked if he had received the message from Mr. McAdoo.

"Yes, I have it," he said. "It is in my pocket. It was handed to me when I left the office to come down here, but I have not read it yet. I don't know what is in it."

This was taken to indicate that the intervention of Mr. McAdoo at this time had not been received with entire satisfaction in some quarters. Some saw in it a desire by Mr. McAdoo to profit politically.

Operators hold that their excess profits are considerably less in 1919 than in 1918. They assert that they are ready to submit figures or reports concerning their conduct of the coal mines to any fair tribunal which the Government may select.

Representatives of the National Federation of Construction Industries made appeals today to the Railroad and Fuel Administrations for additional supplies, saying that the present procedure would hinder building and entail suffering. They were informed that the Government would give consideration to their requests but must conserve every ton of coal possible because of the situation now faced.

VIRGINIA COAL FIELDS QUIET.

Five Companies of State Guard at Roanoke Await Governor's Orders.

BIG STONE GAP, Va., Nov. 24.—There has been no disorder in the Lee County coal fields since Friday, when a mine foreman in the St. Charles district was fired upon from ambush when on his way to work, according to R. Tate Irvine, mine owner of this place.

ROANOKE, Va., Nov. 24.—Six companies of the Virginia National Guard, ordered to the St. Charles coal fields, where clashes between union and non-union coal miners were threatened, arrived here today and awaited orders before proceeding to the scene of trouble. Governor Davis was to reach Appalachia, the centre of the section affected, this afternoon, and after a survey of the situation expected to issue final orders to the troops.

The units under arms include five companies of infantry and one machine gun company.

McADOO PLEASES MINERS.

Editor of Union Journal Says Telegram Upholds Their Contention.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 24—Ellis Searles, editor of the United Mine Workers Journal, commenting on the telegram sent by Mr. McAdoo to Administrator Garfield, tonight said:

"The statement of W. G. McAdoo must be an interesting revelation to those persons who have been wondering about the present coal price situation. We have contended that the operators have been making more money during the last two or three years than they ever made before while the miners continued to work for less than living wages. The trouble with the operators all along has been that they did not propose to do anything that would cut into their enormous profits."

KENTUCKY MINES OFFER RISE.

Agree to Increase Pay Nearly 20% to Get Strikers Back to Work.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 24 — Coal operators in southeastern Kentucky today posted notices offering striking miners wage increases amounting to 20 per cent. for day laborers and 12 to 15 per cent. for "loading," according to information reaching here today from Harlan, Ky., an important point in the coal mining region.

Meetings were being held today, it was stated, between operators and miners, explaining the offer, which it was declared was "a shade less" than the flat 20 per cent. offered by the Scale Committee in Washington, for the Central Competitive field.

The notices asserted adherence to the "open shop" principle and notified employes rejection of the proposition would result in notification to vacate company houses within a reasonable time.

The mines involved in the offer employ approximately 22,000 men.

TRIAL OF ANGELES ON IN CHIHUAHUA

He Admits Enmity to Carranza, but Professes Faith in Court's Fairness.

IS DEVOTED TO BOOKS

He Read "The Life of Christ" and "The Life of Napoleon" as He Was Proceeding by Train.

JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 24.—Reiterating his enmity to President Carranza, but expressing confidence that justice would be meted out to him, General Felipe Angeles, the Villa leader, captured recently near Parral, Chihuahua, was brought to trial before a court-martial at Chihuahua City today. The hearing will probably last three or four days.

Three thousand tickets to the trial were issued by General Manuel M. Diegues, Commander of Military Operations in Northern Mexico, according to a report brought here tonight by a newspaper man of Chihuahua City.

On his arrival at the State Capitol General Angeles found awaiting him a telegram from Mrs. Angeles, who, with her children, is in New York City.

"Whatever may happen to me," the rebel leader is quoted as saying, "I do not have to worry about my family, because Mrs. Angeles and the children are provided for."

In a telegram to General Diegues Mrs. Angeles asked that her husband receive every attention, "so that he will not suffer."

"Angeles presented as strange an appearance as could be imagined after his capture," the Chihuahua newspaper man, who interviewed the rebel chieftain in a box car on the way to Chihuahua City last week, said tonight.

"He had two books, 'The Life of Napoleon' and 'The Life of Jesus Christ,' which he had been reading on the train. The only other thing he carried was a red blanket. His face was covered with long, gray whiskers.

"Angeles told me that when he was captured he had not eaten for six days. On his arrival at Camargo he was given a suit of clothes by order of General Diegues.

"Two of the three men with Angeles have been executed."

General Gabriel Gavira, former commander of the Juarez district, is head of the military board that is trying Angeles. Another member is General U. Gonzalo Escobar, the present commander at Juarez.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 24.—Officials of the Government are daily receiving telegrams from Americans and from Mexicans living in the United States asking for clemency for General Felite Angeles. Some of the telegrams have caused feeling in official circles, as the officials say that Angeles joined Villa with full knowledge of his methods and was with the bandit leader when he raided towns in which his followers attacked and murdered women.

ALBANY, Nov. 24.—The three sons of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt were named directors and stockholders in a restaurant corporation, the articles of which were filed today.

KILLS HIS WIFE IN DREAM.

Irvington Man Tells Police Blackmail Threats Caused Shooting.

James Sapienza of 190 Colt Street, Irvington, N. J., told the police yesterday that he had shot and killed his wife while dreaming that blackmailers were attempting to kidnap their three-year-old daughter. Early yesterday morning the police were notified by a telephone operator that Mrs. Rose Sapienza had been shot in her home. After an investigation the husband was arrested.

Sapienza, a manufacturer of concrete blocks, said that he had been receiving blackmailing letters which worried him. He turned the letters over to the police and received permission to carry a revolver. He slept with the gun under his pillow. Early yesterday morning he said he dreamed that two men had entered the room and were choking his three-year-old daughter Mary who was in bed with himself and wife. He put his hand under his pillow and pulled out the revolver. At this point he was awakened by a shot. His wife raised herself in bed, uttered a cry and sank back. Then he realized she had been shot and he ran to the telephone and told the operator to call a doctor.

Lieutenant Godfrey of the Prosecutor's staff investigated the story. He found that there was a bullet hole through the pillow from the under side. His story of the blackhand letters was confirmed by the Irvington police. He and his wife were on the best of terms.

Satisfied that Sapienza was telling the truth, he was released on bail of $40,000, an unusual proceeding in a murder case. Sapienza furnished the bail.

CONVICT APARTMENT OWNER

An unusual case involving the technical rights of a tenant in an apartment house was decided in Special Sessions yesterday by Justices Kernochan, Salmon, and Herrman, who convicted Harry S. Proctor, President of the Acme Improvement Company, on the charge of making a forcible entry into an apartment owned by his company at 434 Central Park West, which was occupied by J. Harry Reed and his family. The "forcible entry" consisted of cutting a hole in the bathroom ceiling for the purpose of making plumbing alterations in the apartment above.

The action was brought under Section 2004 of the penal law, relating to forcible entry and detainer, and was prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney Tekulsky. The hole in the ceiling was cut when the Reed family were absent in August. Mrs. Reed testified that her husband had a lease on the apartment to 1920, and asserted that Proctor had tried unsuccessfully to induce them to cancel the lease. Although counsel for Proctor insisted that necessary repairs required the technical entry, the court held that was not sufficient reason.

The Justices announced that sentence would be made known on Dec. 8.

CATCH ALBERTUS IN DETROIT

Matrimonial Bureau Head Planned to Start Up Business There.

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 24.—John Albertus, President of the New Hope Society, Inc., whose headquarters at 1,962 Madison Avenue, New York, were raided by the police two weeks ago, was arrested tonight by Detroit detectives.

Albertus was picked up at the request of the New York police. He said two motives led him to come to this city—to put a safe distance between him and some 3,000 wrathful New York members of the matrimonial society there, and to start an organization here similar to the one he had maintained in New York. He insisted that the New Hope Society conducted a legitimate enterprise, but that "the public is not yet educated up to it."

"You can't please them all," he remarked as he was led to a cell.

Mrs. Smith Still Dangerously Ill.

Although she is suffering from both pneumonia and pleurisy the doctor has hopes for her recovery.

RUMANIA FOR ALLIES, FERDINAND SAYS

But Has Failed to Answer the Council's Last Pressing Note.

TIME LIMIT HAS EXPIRED

Delay May Defer Final Settlement of Problem Before Conference Adjourns.

BUCHAREST, Nov. 24.—King Ferdinand, accompanied by Queen Marie, opened Parliament in state yesterday and were met with an enthusiastic ovation from the 800 Senators and Deputies.

In his address from the throne King Ferdinand said it was the will of Rumania not to separate from her allies.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—The eight days time limit which the Allies fixed in their last note asking for a decision by Rumania on the various questions at issue having expired yesterday, the Supreme Council expected today to have placed before it a definite answer from Bucharest. But the Secretary of the Supreme Council was unable to present the Rumanian reply because none had come.

The note sent to Rumania on Nov. 15 said that the Allies waited within eight days a definite statement on Rumania's intentions as to the request for the withdrawal of her troops from Hungarian territory, for her agreement to the Austrian treaty and her acquiescence in the Supreme Council's ruling that the value of the material requisitioned by her in Hungary should be deducted from the total reparation due her. This was note No. 9 to Rumania dealing with her occupation of Hungary.

Rumania's slowness or failure to answer may interfere with the wish of the Peace Conference to make a final settlement of the Rumanian problem before the adjournment of the conference, which is now fixed for the first week in December.

OLD ST. ANDREW'S IN CHURCH MERGER

Harlem Episcopal Congregation, Formed in 1839, to Consolidate with Beloved Disciple.

WILL OFFER SITE FOR SALE

Step Follows Long Fight Against Adverse Conditions—Dr. Van De Water Stays as Rector.

After struggling with adverse neighborhood conditions for more than ten years, the vestry of the St. Andrew's Protestant Episcopal Church announced last night that it had decided to abandon the edifice at Fifth Avenue and 127th Street, and to consolidate its religious activities with the Church of the Beloved Disciple at Madison Avenue and Eighty-ninth Street. The consolidated church will be called St. Andrew's and St. John's Protestant Episcopal Church.

St. Andrew's parish was established in Harlem in 1839. For more than sixty years its list of communicants was among the first ten in the New York Diocese, in numbers and in influence. Some of the oldest families in the city attended its services.

As these members died or removed from the neighborhood because of the crush of tenements and flat houses on all sides, the congregation dwindled. Three years ago the vestry offered to consolidate with the Holy Trinity Church, at Lenox Avenue and 122d Street, but the offer was not accepted.

Several suggestions were proposed and abandoned until another consolidation proposal was made last week by the Church of the Beloved Disciple.

For thirty-one years the Rev. George R. Van De Water has been rector of St. Andrew's, and he will be the rector of the new consolidated parish. He will take up his new work Feb. 1, when the consolidation becomes effective, but St. Andrew's probably will be kept open until Easter. Then the church and site will be offered for sale.

Until about thirty years ago the edifice was in East 127th Street, between Lexington and Park Avenues, where it had been erected at a cost of more than $200,000. The cost of tearing down this structure and moving it to its present site was more than $225,000. During the pastorate of Dr. Van De Water this debt has been reduced to $55,000. All the memorials and the stained glass windows will be moved to the consolidated church, and the pew rentals, amounting to about $20,000 yearly, probably will be diverted to the payment of debts.

Dr. Van De Water was chaplain of the 71st Regiment during the Spanish War, and for years has been Senior Grand Chaplain of the Masons in this State. He will co-operate in the new parish with the Rev. Dr. Henry M. Barbour, who is rector emeritus of the Beloved Disciple Parish.

NEW LABOR PARTY FINALLY FORMED

Petition to Impeach Judge.

A resolution urging the impeachment of Judge A. B. Anderson of the Federal bench for his injunction ordering the recall of the mine strike order was adopted today by the National Labor Party at the third day's session. The delegates were asked to affix their signatures to this paper, which will be sent to Washington. "Swift and stern action," says the petition, "is needed to restore faith in the inviolability of constitutional rights." The alleged misuse of the machinery of justice in labor actions is denounced in the petition, which declares that Judge Anderson has no authority to enjoin acts that have been decided by Congress to be lawful. Judge Anderson's removal is asked "in order that Congress may maintain unimpaired the guarantees of liberty provided in the Constitution."

The petition brought a fiery speech from Delegate I. C. Martin of Oklahoma, who derided the idea that an appeal to Congress would get anything. He was for "going to Washington and jerking the statesmen out of their seats," but his demand met with no support.

Another resolution which was read by M. T. Bennett of the Connecticut Labor Party, Chairman of the Resolutions Committee, denounced the allied blockade of Russia and declared that America's participation in the withholding of food from the starving Russian women and children was ab lot on this country. It demanded that Congress grant licenses for the export of food to Russia.

Other resolutions protested against the deportation of Hindoos who had conspired against English rule in India, and demanded amnesty for all political and military prisoners in general and the immediate release of Debs, O'Hare, Mooney, and Dillings in particular.

Miss Lucy Rubins, organizer for the United Hebrew Trades Council, introduced these resolutions in behalf of a New York City defense fund organization.

Miss Rose Henderson, student of labor, talked for forty minutes on the general political situation and forecast and was cheered for ten minutes at its conclusion.

Shortly before dark the Constitution Committee reported. The program involved equal representation of both men and women on the National Committee and other official positions within the proposed party. The report, after two hours of argument, was returned to the committee for further consideration, after which the session adjourned.

HITS NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE

Special to The New York Times.

TOPEKA, Kan., Nov. 24.—Alleged information that the Non-Partisan League organizers in Kansas were spreading anti-American propaganda and openly expressed sympathy for Germany, was presented to Governor Allen and Attorney General Hopkins today. The league has announced that it has 100 organizers working in Kansas and would have 100,000 members at the time of the primaries in August.

Luther W. Taylor, a contractor at Hudson, filed an affidavit setting forth the utterances of an organizer named Shoemaker. The affidavit says:

"Mr. Shoemaker said in substance: 'Germany was never whipped: far from it. It was the Germans themselves who pointed the guns the other way, and it was not the first time nor will it be the last time. It will not be three weeks until England will be in a revolution.'"

HALF MILLION JEWS IN POGROM PROTEST

MASS MEETING AT NIGHT

In protest against the reported massacre of 100,000 Jews in Ukrainia, thousands of Jewish residents of New York observed a "Day of Sorrow" yesterday. A solemn procession, estimated to include 25,000 men, women, and children, marched from the various boroughs to Carnegie Hall, accompanied by bands playing funeral dirges. Those in the procession wore mourning bands on their sleeves, and many carried black and white banners, inscribed with sentiments of protest against the horrors perpetrated against their brethren in Ukrainia.

The demonstration ended with a meeting at Carnegie Hall last night, where speakers denounced those responsible for the massacres, and appealed to the conscience of America and civilized mankind to bring to bear the weight of public opinion to end the conditions reported as prevailing in Ukrainia.

The speakers included Secretary of the Navy Daniels, Mayor Hylan, Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois; Louis Marshall, Jacob H. Schiff, Rabbi Stephen S. Wise, Mgr. Michael J. Lavelle, Gustave Hartman, and Morris Rothenberg.

Thousands who clamored for admission to the meeting were turned away after 3,500 obtained entrance. The committee in charge of the arrangements for the solemn demonstration reported that approximately 500,000 Jews in New York left their work in order to take some part in the activities planned for the day of protest.

Veterans in Parade.

In the afternoon procession were veterans of the world war, the Spanish-American war, and several civil war veterans, in addition to a contingent of members of the Jewish Legion who fought under General Allenby in Palestine. Young women members of the American Red Mogen David, in white uniforms with the double triangle on their caps, took part in the procession. A group of former service men who had been decorated for bravery marched in body.

Three large service flags were carried in the procession and told of the sacrifice of Jews in the war. One had 4,217 gold stars; another had 5,213 stars for Jews wounded in the war, and a third signified that 200,000 Jews took part in the late war.

The civilians who took part in the procession were members of many Jewish organizations who have gone on record as protesting against the treatment of Jews in Central Europe. Many closed their places of business in order to take part in the demonstration. Thousands lined the streets of the city where the procession went by. Some of the placards bore the following inscriptions: "America fought for the protection of oppressed people, the Jews included." "Peace on earth and massacre in the Ukraine. What are the world's diplomats thinking about?" "We appeal to Christendom to make Ukrainia a safe place for the Jews to live." "Thou shalt not kill." "Martyred Jewry in the Ukraine cries to America to save its remnants from extermination."

At the meeting last night Mr. Marshall said that in the present exigency diplomacy was voiceless because there was no Government to which it could address itself. He declared that relief must be sought from the aroused conscience of the world through a forum that will make that conscience potent. This forum, he asserted, was none other than the League of Nations, which alone was capable of rendering protection to the oppressed. The League, he said, could exert pressure that would not be disregarded even by those responsible for the conditions in the Ukraine.

After saying that actual conflict still raged on the eastern front, Mr. Marshall added that it was absolutely certain that unless peace comes speedily industrial collapse will overtake the world. The time has come, he said, when those in whom is lodged the treaty-making power must make a determined effort to reconcile their differences, to make mutual concessions, and to agree on reasonable terms of compromise so that the world may find a solution of the problems of the last five years.

"The world cannot afford to wait until existing controversies shall have been submitted for determination at a national election to take place a year hence," he added. "This is the accepted time and hour when judgment must be pronounced."

Secretary Daniels praised the part played in the world war by the Jews and pledged that the day would never come when America would fail to stand against injustice and oppression in any part of the world.

"As terrible almost as are the wounds of our brothers in the Ukraine is our sense of disappointment that a year after the day of the armistice and its promise of peace there should be no peace for the Jews of Eastern Europe," declared Rabbi Wise. "We had in common with the rest of the world cherished the illusion that never more would arise necessity for a protest meeting like this. It is one of the unutterable tragedies of our common life that this elementary step against organized criminality should be needed and more than needed after years of unparalleled sacrifice and martyrdom on behalf of that justice and freedom which were forever to end the things we mourn tonight."

Mr. Bernstein, referring to the reported Polish atrocities, said that his investigations convinced him that there could not have been any exaggeration as to the cruelty and barbarity with which the crimes against the Jews had been committed by the Poles. Perhaps the Polish Government did not organize these pogroms, he said, but it did little to stop them and to punish the murderers.

Speaking as an American and as a man, Senator McCormick protested "against the spirit which is abroad, not only in Russia, but in the world, the spirit which moves men to deny to others the sacred and inalienable right of man to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That spirit has engulfed Russia. It threatens the very foundation of Government in other lands and it is present here in America."

Mgr. Lavelle brought to the meeting a message of sympathy from the Catholics of the community and of the country. The Catholics, he said, sympathize with their Jewish brethren in their terrible affliction "mourn over their dead and call upon all the powers of public opinion to vindicate the right and to bring about the day when the further continuance of these murders will be an impossibility on the face of God's earth."

PARIS PRESS STRIKERS LOSE

Prediction Made That All Journals Will Appear Tomorrow.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Nov. 24.—It is now practically certain that the newspaper printers' strike is on the point of collapse, and that both morning and evening papers will reappear on Wednesday. Since the adoption of a determined attitude by the proprietors, who in spite of the intervention of the Minister of Labor have refused to give way on any point, the strikers have held several meetings today, and it is evident that at least 80 per cent. of the men are anxious to resume work at any cost. A resolution declaring the strike ended will probably be passed by a large majority tonight.

The proprietors have already issued a statement that they are ready to take back the strikers "as circumstances may arise," which means that they refuse to recognize any longer the principle of collective bargaining and will arrange with the men individually, independently of the labor unions. A similar policy was adopted by the proprietors of the great department stores last week, who refused to recognize the strikers' union and have insisted on their rights to refuse to take back, in spite of their unconditional surrender, the instigators of the movement.

AUTOMATIC PHONES IN USE HERE SOON

CALL IT EASY TO OPERATE

Every One Can Be His Own "Central"—No Reduction In Force Planned.

The automatic telephone will soon be in general use in this city and in other parts of the State. The New York Telephone Company announced yesterday the new system was being put in at Dunkirk, Ithaca, and Geneva, and that the work was expected to be completed about the first of the year. The machine switching apparatus will be used first in this city in the Pennsylvania, Academy and Canal central offices, but the work in these districts will not be completed, according to present estimates, much before the end of next year.

Company officials say the new system would not do away with telephone operators. In this city the operating force has been increased by 2,000 new workers the last nine months, and the company intends to retain 1,000 additional employes in the next few months. The force then will number 12,000.

"The system," explained a statement by the company, "is extremely simple to operate. Instead of telling the desired number to an operator the subscriber indicates it himself by manipulating a dial attached to the telephone instrument. This dial is equipped with ten finger holes, each carrying one of the ten numerals. In some cases the dials will be marked with certain letters of the alphabet.

"To call a number the subscriber simply places his finger in the hole corresponding to the first digit of the number desired, pulls the dial around to the finger stop, allows it to return to its original position, and does the same for each other digit of the number. The connection is then established automatically. If the called number is busy an audible signal in the receiver apprises the calling party of that fact. To disconnect, the receiver is hung up as at present."

SAVED LIFE; GETS $169,000.

Bequest to Ex-Soldier of Mining Rights from Woman He Rescued.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, Nov. 24.—Elmer Flickinger of Columbiana, Ohio, today is $169,000 richer because he saved the life of a Montgomery, Ala., woman two years ago.

Flickinger, while a private in the 37th (Ohio National Guard) Division, in training at Camp Sheridan, rescued the woman in a runaway accident. Today he was notified by an agent of the Cohassett Iron and Mining Company that by the woman's will leases of mining rights on lands near Montgomery had been given to him.

THEY HAD NO EXCUSES.

All Talesmen Called Were Ready to Serve as Jurors.

For the first time in the history of the County Court in Brooklyn, according to the attorneys, no talesmen in Judge McDermott's branch acted to be excused from serving on the jury yesterday.

"I congratulate all of you on your high regard for your duty to the citizens," Judge McDermott said. "Never in the history of our country was there greater need for loyal citizens to stand staunchly by America, ready at any sacrifice to uphold the laws and institutions of this land."

Recently Judge McDermott urged that prospective jurors refrain from asking to be excused from jury duty except for grave reasons.

A Tidewater Port

The James River gives Hopewell its deepwater outlet to the sea. Small freighters can be loaded at the Hopewell wharf or products transported in barges to larger vessels at Norfolk or Newport News.

During the war, the Du Pont Company shipped tons of explosives from Hopewell and the Government used it as an embarkation point for the shipment of thousands of troops from Camp Lee, which is in this district.

A Railway Center

The district is served by three great north and south lines—the Atlantic Coast Line, the Seaboard Air Line and the Southern Railway. These, with their connections with the Pennsylvania and other great trunk lines, give the area rail access to all important northern, southern and eastern points.

For shipments west, there are available the Norfolk and Western, the Virginian and the Chesapeake and Ohio. These connect with central and western trunk lines.

The freight rates for this district are as cheap as any on the Atlantic seaboard and give the area advantages over New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

We maintain a traffic expert at Hopewell to give prospective purchasers specific data on shipping facilities and costs.

The Du Pont Chemical Company has a limited number of factories, factory sites with railway sidings and other industrial equipment—our peace surplus—at Hopewell, which we offer direct to manufacturers at attractive prices and on liberal terms. We have prepared Hopewell for peace industry with as much thoroughness as it was built for war. We have obtained experts of nation-wide reputation to study the specific requirements and problems of various industries and to assist firms who come to Hopewell. This without cost. We furnish this service in a big way for the same reason that we are advertising in a big way—to dispose of our peace surplus and put Hopewell on a peace basis in the quickest possible time. Demand already is keen and Hopewell soon will be sold. Wire or write today for data.

TO DIVERT FREIGHT TO SOUTHERN PORTS

New Rates Regarded There as Establishing Economic Union with Central West.

WILL END CONGESTION HERE

Export Shipments to Latin America, Asia, and Europe Likely to be Expedited.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 24.—Readjustment of export freight rates affecting thousands of shippers and said to be of prime importance to Southern ports and the Mississippi Valley was announced at the general offices of the Southern Railroad here today.

The new tariffs, which, in effect, will grant the same rates to Southern ports as these enjoyed by New York from territory north of the Ohio River from the Ohio-Pennsylvania State line to the Mississippi River, go into effect to South Atlantic ports Dec. 1 and to Gulf ports Dec. 31.

The subject has engaged the attention of shippers and steamship interests for the last year. Hearings were held in Washington before the United States Railroad Administration last July. At a subsequent hearing New York port interests concurred in the equalization and Director General Hines gave instructions to compile the tariffs to become effective on the dates indicated.

The new arrangement is expected, according to the announcement, aside from relieving congestion at the Port of New York, to expedite export shipments to Latin America, Asia, and Europe. It also will make it possible, the statement claims, for the United States Shipping Board to allocate more of its vessels to South Atlantic and Gulf ports. These ships, the announcement says, largely have been assigned to routes out of New York because of the necessity of moving the great concentration of export tonnage from that port. The concentration was due, it was recited, to the differential inland rates in favor of New York. With publication of the new tariffs it is expected this concentration will be greatly relieved.

The business and commercial interests, which long have sought the change announced today, include the Mississippi Valley Association, the New Orleans Association of Commerce, Mobile Chamber of Commerce, commercial organizations of South Atlantic ports, South Atlantic Maritime Corporation, and the Midwest Southern Ports Committee. The latter embraces commercial organizations of Gulf and Atlantic ports and principal cities of the Mississippi Valley, including such cities as Chicago, Cincinnati, Kansas City, St. Louis, and Minneapolis.

The new tariffs, it is said, mark the establishment of an economic union between Southern ports and the great central Western section of the country not possible since the war between the sections.

King George Thanks Harvard Unit.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 24.—A letter, expressing "the warm appreciation" of King George for the "invaluable services rendered to the British Army by the Harvard University Hospital unit," was received at the university today through the British Embassy, and the State Department. The communication was signed by the King.

LOYAL TO WADSWORTH.

Greiner Says Buffalo Republicans Favor His Return.

Republicans in Western New York will give loyal support to United States Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., for re-election, according to Fred Greiner, Republican leader of Erie County, who is here in this city yesterday with George A. Glynn, Chairman of the State committee.

"I am for Jim Wadsworth, and there is no opposition to his re-election among Republicans in my part of the State," he said.

"What about the attitude of the women?" was asked.

"The Republican women in Erie County are for Senator Wadsworth," he replied. "He may encounter opposition among a small group of women who hold extreme views on suffrage, but it will not be of sufficient account to hurt him."

It was learned last night that a group of Republicans opposed to Senator Wadsworth are planning to fight against sending him to the Republican National Convention as a delegate at large. It has been a tradition with both the leading parties that the United States Senators should be members of the "Big Four" of their respective delegations. The opponents of Senator Wadsworth are contemplating leaving both him and Senator Calder out.

The slate as announced was Charles E. Hughes, Charles S. Whitman, John Lord O'Brian of Erie, or David Jayne Hill of Monroe, and Miss Mary Garrett Hay. This slate is said to have been evolved at conferences in which, among others, ex-Governor Whitman and William B. Willcox, who was Chairman of the Republican National Committee in the last Presidential campaign, participated.

MORGAN GIFT TO BE SOLD.

St. George's Church to Transfer a House to Charity Association.

Supreme Court Justice Delehanty signed an order yesterday permitting St. George's Protestant Episcopal Church to sell to the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor property at 505 East Sixteenth Street, given to the church in 1905 by the late J. P. Morgan. The property has been used as a manual training school for young men and boys of the parish, but because of the neighborhood changes the property is no longer useful for that purpose, and will be bought for $16,000 as a workshop in which aged men will make toys.

The petition of the church stated that its remaining real estate is worth $800,000 and its personal property $400,000. There are no debts except for current expenses.

Appraiser Finds Sanitarium Patient Pawned Jewels for Hotel Life.

That Miss Clara Linehan, now in the Rivercrest Sanitarium, and formerly of Dubuque, Iowa, lived at the Waldorf-Astoria for a time by pawning her jewels, became known yesterday, when the report of an appraiser appointed to value her personal effects was filed in the Supreme Court. Miss Linehan had just been released from a sanitarium in Wisconsin when she came here to live.

The appraiser found that a pearl necklace pawned for $1,750 is worth $6,000, and a diamond bar pin worth $250 was pledged for $25. She owns valuable furs held by the hotel for an unpaid bill, but the appraiser was not permitted to examine them by the hotel management.

Let's put this over for Joe— and make it a Real Thanksgiving

THIS is Joe, whose picture we showed you yesterday. His legs are no good; he has never walked. But he can walk some day, if only he can stay in the hospital long enough. Who'll give $5,000 for the little Joes and Marys of New York? Who'll give $1,000? Or $100? Who'll take Joe on for just a few days at $3.50 a day?

FORTY-SIX non-municipal hospitals agreed to give up their individual appeals this fall and unite in one campaign.

They needed three million dollars to carry on their work for the poor; they decided to ask us for only one million; and we've given only about one half.

Fifty-two per cent. of the folks who have to go to hospitals can't afford to pay; last year the forty-six hospitals gave 1,250,000 days of free care which cost them $3.50 a day.

If this campaign does not succeed we shall have to do the job forty-six separate times for the forty-six separate hospitals.

It must succeed. Send your check now. And Thanksgiving Day, when you look at your own boys and girls, you'll remember what you did for Joe—and all his folks—and you will be glad.

THE OPERA

By Richard Aldrich

"Boris Godunoff."

Moussorgsky's Russian opera "Boris Godunoff" was performed last night at the Metropolitan Opera House, when it entered on its eighth season there. When it was first produced in New York there was some doubt as to whether it would be a lasting item in the repertory; it offers no dominating part for a tenor or a soprano, and the powerful scene for the baritone comes only in the last act. The distribution of the interest is unconventional and does not favor the favorites of either sex. The power of the opera itself, its representation of the popular life of the Russian of a past epoch, the picturesqueness of its scenes, and the strong flavor of the folk-song element in the music, partly original, partly imitated by a composer thoroughly saturated with the spirit of that music, have been the sustaining elements. The original production was animated by the fiery spirit of Mr. Toscanini, who conducted "Boris" till he departed from the Opera House; and the life that he infused into it has not yet spent itself, though there have been numerous changes, the most important being that of the conductor himself. Mr. Papi is not the one to keep these performances going on the plane they were started on; not the one to bring out the impressiveness, the savor of the most characteristic scenes of the opera.

There were several changes in the cast from last season. Mr. Orville Harrold sang very well the part of Dimitri. Miss Besanzoni was the Marina, who appears only in the third scene of the second act. Mme. Louise Bérat was vigorous physically and vocally as the innkeeper; Octave Dua, the Simpleton; Adeline Vosari, the Xenia. Of the remembered protagonists of the drama Mr. Didur presents his overwhelmingly tragic exposition of the usurper's collapse at the culmination of the opera; Mr. Segurola his farcial recital as Varlaam. Mr. Rothier his finely composed representation of the Monk Pimenn. The chorus sang with its well remembered vigor.

The audience at this performance was not so large as those that have attended the previous performances this season.

Mme. Florence Hinkle's Recital.

Mme. Florence Hinkle prepared a great pleasure for lovers of good singing in her recital in Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon. There are few voices now to be heard on the concert stage more beautiful, more fully equalized, more artistically managed in all the technical details of the art; few singers with more intelligence, more genuine musical feeling, more understanding of the spirit and the style of what she sings, and capacity to embody them in an interpretation. The limitations which recital-givers still impose upon themselves in the selection of programs operated to the disadvantage of Mme. Hinkle's program in fullness and variety of beauty. There were, however, a number of interesting songs upon it. Among which the new ones considerably outnumbered the older, and not a few of them were deserving of the rich resources of voice and art that she bestowed upon them.

She began with a finely reposeful and expressive performance of Handel's air, "Angels Ever Bright and Fair," with its preceding recitative from the oratorio of "Jephtha." Her second group consisted of four airs "in the old style," as they are entitled, by Stefano Donaudy, a name new to New York programs; the owner of it is an Italian, a Neapolitan, of middle age, whose age probably enabled him to breast the tide of the modern movement, and to write with simplicity and freedom, now grave, now gay, transparently vocal and melodious, and not oppressively antique in the "old style." He will doubtless have to incur the charge of lacking originality in so writing; but there is nevertheless something of distinction in these four songs, and Mme. Hinkle's full-throated and expressive delivery gave them all their value.

A new song by the Frenchman Felix Fourdrain, "Cette que je préfère," a bit of the lighter French style touched charmingly with a bit of Japanese local color, she had to repeat, as she had to "Il Pleure," by A. Orsini, French, but a little more conventionally so. Mme. Hinkle gave two groups of American and English songs, among which there were again several new ones. Mrs. Beach's seriously felt "Ah, Love, but a Day"; John Powell's "Heartsease," Cyril Scott's gay and restlessly modulating "Time o' Day" were of outstanding interest. The beautiful art of Mme. Hinkle was supported by the excellent accompaniments of Mr. Francis Moore.

CHILDREN TO MRS. STOKES.

Denver Juvenile Court Makes Temporary Award in Dispute.

Special to The New York Times.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 24.—Mrs. Helen Ellwood Stokes, wife of W. E. D. Stokes of New York, will have charge of her two children, James, aged 5, and Muriel, aged 3, until trial of the question of the permanent custody of the pair is held Jan. 8, according to a decision today by Judge Lindsey of the Juvenile Court.

Mrs. Stokes, with her children and her mother, Mrs. Arthur Scott Miller, appeared in court, ready to testify at the hearing to determine the custody of the children. Mr. Stokes recently filed suit for divorce.

Daniel B. Ellis, attorney for Mr. Stokes, argued to have the bill of particulars made more specific. Judge Lindsey denied the motion, declaring that Mr. Stokes could be cross-examined and such dates and occurrences could be met by opposing counsel through depositions.

Both sides will have until Dec. 28 to obtain depositions from persons in New York. That Mr. Stokes and his New York counsel will come to Denver to attend the hearing was intimated by Mr. Ellis during the arguments.

Unveil a Tablet to War Veterans.

Sixty-four veterans of the world war, who have returned to their jobs with the Morse Dry Dock and Repair Company, were the guests of honor yesterday at exercises held at the yard, First Avenue and Fifty-sixth Street, Brooklyn, under the auspices of the Employes' Association. A bronze tablet commemorating the services of the men to their country was unveiled. Addresses were made by Major Gen. John F. O'Ryan, Colonel Sidney Grant of the 13th Coast Defense Artillery, and Chaplain Nehemiah Boynton. The exercises were attended by about 5,000 workers and their families.

French Honor to Charles D. Walcott.

PARIS, Nov. 24—The Academy of Sciences today unanimously elected Charles D. Walcott, Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution in Washington, as an associate member of the Academy. He takes the place of the late Professor Elie Metchnikoff, the famous French scientist.

"ROBIN HOOD" RETURNS.

Frank Moulan Now the Friar Tuck of American Singers' Revival.

There is, of course, an eternal public for "Robin Hood," and enough of it assembled at the Park Theatre last night to provide a good-sized audience for even that ample playhouse. The production is in the main the same as that which the Society of American Singers offered with success for some six or eight weeks last season, the single change of consequence being the casting of Frank Moulan as Friar Tuck. Needless to say, he plays the rôle to the hilt.

Lesser changes, which are perhaps worthy of noting as the years go by are the insertion of two prohibition jokes, one good and one bad, by William Danforth, who, incidentally, comes rather close to being the life of the party in the present production. His Sheriff of Nottingham is something of a comic opera jewel, at its best during the first act number, and not far below it for the rest of the evening.

Cora Tracy as Alan-a-Dale, Ralph Nicholls as Guy, and Gladys Caldwell as Annabel are others who lend particularly valiant aid. And, of course, Herbert Waterous—as fine of voice as ever, but somewhat glum for a comic opera. Craig Campbell sings Robert effectively, and Annie Bussert is a fair Marian.

Ralph Brainard will alternate with Mr. Campbell, while "Robin Hood" is the bill, and Morton Adkins with Bertram Peacock as Little John. "Robin Hood" will be played one or two weeks, according to the demand, and "The Gondoliers" will be next.

Approve Catholic Theatre Project.

The Catholic Actors' Guild of America held its sixth annual Thanksgiving luncheon yesterday at the Hotel Astor, and several hundred persons gave strong approval to the project of establishing a Catholic theatre here. Mgr. Dunn, speaking for Archbishop Hayes, said that the Archbishop was greatly interested in the work of the Guild and cordially approved of such a theatre.

Ethel Barrymore was greeted with a storm of applause when introduced by Brandon Tynan as "the best loved woman on the American stage." She said she couldn't make a real speech, but wanted to say: "I am glad I am a Catholic. I am glad I am a member of the Guild. And I am glad I am an actress." Wilton Lackaye and Arthur E. Henderson stoutly defended the theatre against some of the recent attacks on it.

"One Night in Rome" for Criterion.

Laurette Taylor will begin an engagement at the Criterion Theatre on Tuesday night of next week in "One Night in Rome," a drama by J. Hartley Manners. George C. Tyler will be the producer, and Miss Taylor's company will include Philip Merivale, H. Cooper Cliffe, Helen Blair, Louise Beaudet, Mrs. Felix Morris, Barry Baxter, Thomas Coffin Cooke, Greta Kemble Cooper, Valentine Clemow, and John Seymour. "On the Hiring Line," now at the Criterion, will go to Baltimore next week, and will be brought back to New York if a theatre can be secured.

Tickets from Sky for Actors' Day.

As the contribution of Lieutenant Belvin W. Maynard to the drive being made for the Actors' Fund, 301 orders for tickets for the benefit matinées scheduled for Dec. 5 and several thousand copies of an appeal by William G. McAdoo, ex-Secretary of the Treasury, were dropped upon this city yesterday afternoon from the DeHaviland biplane in which the "Flying Parson" led all the rest in the transcontinental air race.

The ballroom of the Hotel Plaza was crowded yesterday afternoon at the meeting under the auspices of the National League for Women's Service in aid of relief work in the devastated areas. Addresses were made by Joy Elmer Morgan, Major Ian Hay Beith, and the Rev. Dr. Karl Reiland.

Dr. Ferry Lulek, Baritone, Reappears

Dr. Ferry Lulek, a baritone singer of appreciable stage presence and suave style, who has lived for some years in the West, reappeared in recital last evening at Aeolian Hall before a friendly house. He sang Italian airs of Verdi, Porterfield and Trindelli, French pieces by Widor and Fourdrain, and songs in English by Coleridge-Taylor, Kramer, Montague Haim Richard and Bruno Huhn.

MUSIC NOTES.

Amelita Galli-Curci will be heard for the first time in Brooklyn in a gala concert this evening at the Academy, marking the third anniversary of her American debut.

Luisa Tetrazzini, arriving today from England, will open her delayed tour at the Hippodrome next Sunday afternoon, replacing the postponed concert of Alma Gluck.

Emmy Destinn, who last sang at the Metropolitan in 1913-14, will make her reappearance with the company in tonight's performance of "Aida" in Philadelphia.

More From Mr. Maugham.

| Sir Arthur Little, K. C. B., C. C. M. G. | Norman Trevor |
| Roland Parry | Ernest Glendinning |
| Henry Pritchard | Harry Green |

| Violet | Billie Burke |
| Mrs. Etheridge | Margaret Dale |
| Mrs. Pritchard | Hilda Spong |
| Mrs. Appleby | Mrs. Tom A. Wise |

W. Somerset Maugham, the Englishman who had already contributed to New York's delight so extraordinary a novel as "The Moon and Sixpence" and so engaging a farce as "Too Many Husbands," made another contribution last evening in the form of a new three-act play called "Caesar's Wife." After a previous showing in London and Washington, it was presented here at the Liberty with a superb setting and a costly cast. But neither the superb setting nor the costly cast made it deeply interesting or in any way moving to the elaborately dressed and somewhat croupy audience which coughed continuously through its three acts and applauded raucitutely after each of them.

Caesar's wife, who, for the purpose of understanding Mr. Maugham's title, should be carefully distinguished from Potiphar's wife, was, it will be remembered, under peculiar obligations to behave with decorum. The Caesar who rules Egypt in this case is no early Roman, but an equally imperial person designated by the British Foreign Office to represent the Crown in Cairo, and throughout the play runs that strain of imperial nobleness oblige which Kipling has made at least understandable to all English-speaking people the world around.

Sir Arthur Little, K. C. B., C. C. M. G., knows his handsome young secretary and his handsome young wife are in love with each other. But does he let the youngster be transferred to Paris, out of temptation's way? No. Why not? Because the empire needs the youngster in Cairo. Does he let the honest and troubled young wife run away with the secretary? No. Or run away from the secretary? No. Why not? Because even she, in her small feminine way, has to go over the top for the empire. Britons ne-e-e-ver shall be slaves—and all that sort of thing.

In English plays of the last twenty-five years a great many patient, gray-haired statesmen have stood wistfully around the stage and watched their lovely young wives being wooed either by a handsome subaltern or a handsome secretary—so many, indeed, that one Stephen Leacock, an irreverent fellow at best, quite exploded once and wrote a masterpiece of travesty called "Behind the Beyond." Mr. Maugham takes the old materials and works them out in a new way, a less theatrical and, it must be admitted, a somewhat colder way. He plods steadily toward the familiar climax, and then startles the audience by calmly leaving it out. Divorce? Certainly not! Wrath? Not a bit of it. Flight? Certainly not. Pistols? Why, how you do run on!

No, the husband just wearily decides to let things run their course, bidding his frightened little wife to buck up and carry on. And she does. And after a few weeks have passed the handsome young secretary, sort of half gets interested in another woman, and the handsome young wife sort of half recovers her straying emotions, and the play glides along to an uneventful finish.

In the working out of this strikingly uncharacteristic comedy a dramatic, and girlish comedienne—Billie Burke, no less—is asked to play in a state of continuous emotional upheaval. She is asked to tremble and quake and weep her way through a situation in which the audience's sympathy is not clearly involved, which would be a supremely difficult task even for an actress whose aptitude for such things was somewhat stronger than hers. If she does not greatly mind you, it would be scarcely fair to tell her that her fault is not her rather more talented partner in this new enterprise, Norman Trevor, leaves you cold.

Something of the same chill falls on the ever skilful Ernest Glendinning, whose romantic fervor and whose misspelled name have adorned so many plays of youthful love. The fastidious scrupulosity artificial and ever glacial Margaret Dale is more in her element but it is for our old friend Frederic de Belleville and Hilda Spong who emerge the least ruffled and with the greatest credit from the proceedings.

The mention of all these names is sufficient to show how lavishly the producer has done his part in Mr. Maugham's behalf and in has provided two settings of tropical splendor by Mr. Urban, who has done his part beautifully.

IT IS THE PEOPLE'S TREATY.

There is no precedent or parallel to the quarrel over the Peace Treaty. The friends and the opponents of the Treaty are not at all in the position of two business concerns between which differences have arisen over a contract. It would be a little nearer the truth to compare the disagreement in the Senate with a difference between members of a firm or the directors of a corporation concerning a business policy; although it must be said that business men worthy of their trust would never let differences so slight, apparently so largely personal, stand in the way of an agreement upon a matter so momentous. The actual truth is that the servants of 110,000,000 people are denying to them the benefits of a Treaty and covenant which a very great majority of them wish to have accepted.

The Treaty and the covenant are vastly more important than the pride or the personality of the men who are urging or opposing ratification. The people ought to have their way; ratification will be certain if they insist that their will must be obeyed. There must be yielding on both sides, as always there is yielding and concession when action of this order of importance is to be taken. The review of the balloting by Senator HITCHCOCK and ex-President TAFT makes it evident that much more than a two-thirds majority of the Senate desires ratification of the Treaty and the acceptance of the League covenant in some form. The President long ago expressed his willingness to accept reasonable interpretations or reservations. The votes in the Senate rejecting Mr. LODGE'S reservations sufficiently demonstrate their unreasonableness. Evidence accumulates that Mr. LODGE'S party has no wish to follow him in the desperate and dangerous venture of making the Treaty an issue in the Presidential campaign. The country waits, business waits, the world waits and longs for the ratification of the Treaty, the adoption of measures for the prevention of war. The decision must be taken now, at the earliest possible moment, not months hence. The perils involved in delay are visible to every discerning eye, but the man can measure their magnitude. Our own interest, our prosperity, our self-respect, the esteem and confidence of other nations are involved.

Whether the first steps toward an agreement be taken by the President in a statement indicating what reservations would be acceptable to the Executive, whose duties and responsibilities in the negotiation of treaties cannot be ignored or brushed aside, and to other nations, parties to the instrument; or whether the first move come from those Republicans of the Senate who have proved by their votes that they desire the ratification of the Treaty, is not a matter of vital moment. Agreement is the thing, ratification is the thing, how it is reached is of minor consequence. The Treaty will be ratified if the people of the United States make their servants of the Executive and Legislative Departments understand that it must be ratified.

STRAUSS'S MINE SWEEPERS.

Rear Admiral JOSEPH STRAUSS and his intrepid force of 3,600 mine sweepers were honored yesterday in this city for doing an ugly and dangerous job in the North Sea so well, in the face of great difficulties and on stormy seas, that the prestige of the United States Navy stands higher than ever in European waters today.

The war was over in the physical sense, but the mine barrage in the North Sea from Scotland to Norway had to be cleared. Most of the mines had been laid by the Americans, and as they knew the field of their operations best they were called upon to undo their work. There was no glory in their undertaking, but much hardship and no little peril. Officers and men were not in momentary danger of sudden death, only because they were experts in handling mine connections and as vigilant as they were daring. As a matter of fact, British losses in the work exceeded the American. In his report Admiral STRAUSS mentions the sinking of the Richard Bulkeley by an explosion. He calls it "most deplorable," a hazard of mine sweeping, but he adds: "I was informed "by the British Director of Mine "Sweeping that two of their vessels "of the Flower class were sunk last "month with the loss of over forty "men." The Americans were either luckier or more skillful.

It is possible that the promise of bonuses to the British, who were volunteers, caused them to take chances for the sake of prize money. What the Americans did was all in the day's work and for the same pay that a sailor draws in port. And what trying, harassing, and hazardous work it was! In those seas the wind seems to blow hard all the time, and fog and rain, with a rare day of sunlight, are the normal weather. In twenty-six and one-half days observed by Admiral STRAUSS only 160 hours could be given to sweeping. The discomfort of life on board could not be exaggerated. Sweeps parted several hundred times during the barrage campaign, and many kites and several thousands of fathoms of wire were lost. Few of the vessels escaped damage from explosions, although the greatest care was exercised.

The world was supposed to be at peace and the navy's work done, but these 3,600 American sailors were running the gauntlet of mines they had laid to stop the late enemy's submarines and to destroy them. The folks at home had no notion of the risks the mine-sweeping fleet, humorously called the "Suicide Squadron," was exposed to every hour of the day and night. Ordinary service pay seems meagre for the task they accomplished with an adroitness that has been recognized by the British Admiralty. Heroism is a term sometimes lightly used, but it does not seem to be overworked in the case of the mine sweepers. Certainly there were individual acts of heroism during the long ordeal.

Common dangers have knit these sturdy mine sweepers together while life lasts. It was a brave company, and to be one of them is an honor to be treasured. "Courage," said Secretary DANIELS at the luncheon to the crews yesterday, "is traditional in "the navy, and you men of the mine "fleet have nobly upheld its tradi"tions." Not less could be said of their great adventure. It will always be memorable in the annals of the American sea service.

THE COAL DISPUTE'S NEXT STAGE

Former Secretary MCADOO intervenes in the coal wage negotiations with the suggestion that whatever is added to the wages of the miners ought to come altogether out of the operators' profits. No doubt he is right in many cases, and he speaks with authority drawn from knowledge of income tax payments; but it must be remembered that without authority from the President it would seem to be unlawful to use that knowledge for any such purpose. The difficulty about that method of settling the dispute is that it would not produce the coal the country needs. If every operator who made excess profits should raise wages all that the miners demand there would remain many more, a majority in fact, who could not produce coal at all at those costs. The excess profits of one or two years are all that saved many bituminous operators from bankruptcy, for the trade has never been organized like the anthracite, and cut prices have prostrated the industry.

It is necessary also to consider that the profits made by the most efficient operators are like the excess profits of some railways, that is to say, they are made by excess efficiency, under regulation of both wages and selling prices. There are weak and strong operators, just as there are weak and strong railways, and the country needs all the coal and all the transportation which can be produced by the least efficient carrier or operator who is able to survive under regulation in the public interest. Suspicion of excess profits, and prevention of profits in general, ought not to be allowed to prostrate the coal industry as it has the railways.

When Fuel Administrator GARFIELD decides upon the proper relation between wages and prices the negotiations will enter on a new stage. He has said that the average operator's margin was 40 cents a ton, to cover interest, selling costs, taxes, and profits. The question about raising wages and prices together is whether the consumers or the miners ought to contribute to pay the profits, for living profits there must be if there is to be coal, as surely as there must be living wages. The Lever act guarantees fair profits, and the Government itself cannot tax them away. Neither can the miners' wages be kept too low in order that the profits and taxes may be preserved for the operators. It will be seen that the decision on this point is one as much for Government authority as for agreement between miners and operators. If wages and prices are raised together there is little on the consumer a burden no heavy as the taxes on the operators, or the cost of living on the wage fund.

Here there enters a consideration which has been overlooked. The car supply was given in the last weekly report at a rate which, if maintained for the year, would have enabled the operators to give the miners more pay for more work, and would have produced for them more wages than they are asking for the sake of making work for the idle and spreading the wage fund over an excess supply of labor. That method would also give the country more coal and provide more taxes for the Government, as well as more profits for the companies. Neither the miners nor the operators are responsible for the shortage of cars, at a rate double last year's shortage. Shortage of production this year because of shortage of transportation has been running at the rate of three or four times the shortage of production due to deficiency of labor, which has been less than last year up to the week of the strike.

There seems to be here a tangle of cross-purposes capable of solution by promising more to all the interests, even if not all to any one that it wishes for itself. No factor is free from blame, not even the railways or Government, although fault is found rather with the miners and operators. Too much attention is paid to wages and prices. Production of coal is more important, for it makes possible production of other things. With increase of production of coal there is a possibility of an increase of wages for the miners, and of profits for the producers, without increase of price to consumers. Co-operation by the negotiators is better than compulsion by the Government.

WHY HE IS STRONG.

There are few stranger breeds in the world than the politicians. Somehow or other they abound in eccentric notions; and often they seem to get their most satisfactory view of the political landscape by contemplating it with their heads between their legs, after the manner of Mr. Michael Angelo Titmarsh. A Washington dispatch in yesterday's TIMES says that:

> Republican leaders opposed to General WOOD do not conceal their anxiety about his strength. They say that he is not handicapped with having participated in the issues before Congress in the last two years, such as prohibition, woman suffrage, and the Treaty, and is strong negatively because of this aloofness.

Not till the millennium, perhaps, will politicians divest their noddles of the theory that a candidate is strong because of his negative qualities, because he has not collected this and that group of opponents, because he is a colorless and easy subject of compromise, and because both wings or all wings can "get together" in his support. General WOOD, whatever be the actual prospects of his candidacy, is strong in character and public service, yet his greatest strength is to be found in his tact, energy, and success as an administrator in Cuba and the Philippines. He is strong because his firm acts and words in respect to the plots of dangerous agitators have won public approval. As administrator and man of action his achievements entitle him to be a candidate for President. Why not dwell on that proved fitness? But "Republican leaders" must shut their eyes to that, say "that he is strong negatively." He is strong positively. He has shown again and again, and continuously, courage, patriotism, force. If he is to be nominated let him be nominated because of his actions, and not because of some real or supposed "aloofness" from certain public controversies.

A BALTIC ALLIANCE.

The negotiations going on at Dorpat between a Bolshevist delegation headed by LENINOFF, and representatives of the Baltic States may or may not bring a formal peace; the likelihood that they will grows from day to day. But peace with the Bolsheviki is an unstable thing, which makes considerable demands on the vigilance of the other party to the arrangement; hence the likelihood that, whatever else may come out of the conference, a formal agreement for co-operation between the Baltic States will be one of its results. Lithuania, Latvia, Esthonia, and White Russia are the Governments taking part at present, and these four are likely to hang together because of the present and evident danger to any one of them which breaks away.

A Baltic confederacy has been talked of for a long time. As early as the Winter of 1917-18, after the treaty of Brest-Litovsk, an attempt was made in Stockholm to bring about an alliance between the States now meeting at Dorpat, together with the Scandinavian kingdoms, Finland, Poland, and the Ukraine. The immediate purpose was defense against Bolshevism, with defense against German aggression in the background. The movement came to nothing for several reasons; the Germans were actually in occupation of Poland, Latvia, Finland, and the Ukraine, and the jealousies of the various peoples were too strong to make much co-operation possible. The Germans have now been driven out and the jealousies have to some extent been pushed into the background, though they still burn. Finland held aloof from Esthonia this Fall because Mannerheim was to some extent tied up with the campaign of YUDENITCH—an association not altogether to the Bolsheviks' liking, since the anti-Bolshevist Russians have been reluctant to approve the secession of the Baltic States; but YUDENITCH is beaten and Finland may now come in. The present Finnish Government has no reason to expect any favors from Bolshevist Russia, and good relations with its Baltic neighbors, in whose armies many Finns have fought, seem to be part of any prudent political program.

Poland outweighs all the Baltic States materially, and Poland's attitude must have a good deal to do with Baltic affairs in the near future. Mr. PADEREWSKI has just asserted that Poland will not make peace with the Bolsheviki, but Poland cannot afford to fight the Bolsheviki and have bad relations with her Baltic neighbors at the same time. Nor would the Baltic States find it to their ultimate profit to co-operate with the Bolsheviki against Poland. Poles, Letts, Lithuanians, and Esths are exposed alike to the German danger from the west and the danger of Bolshevism from the east, and their Governments seem likely to keep this fact in mind. In this case a Baltic alliance, with or without the formal adhesion of Poland, would become an important part of the cordon sanitaire which will check the western spread of Bolshevism.

Meanwhile, the victory of the Lettish troops over the German-Baltic army seems to be growing from day to day. From Berlin comes a wail for the unfortunate Germans who are being cut up in their retreat, as was the French Army in 1812. The pathos of this spectacle is not likely to impress anybody but Germans. Mr. DURANTY'S dispatches from Latvia give a picture of the devastation wrought by this German army, burning and killing as it retreats, apparently from sheer wanton brutality. The bulk of these troops he characterizes as "mercenaries inspired by the hope of booty." The booty was not won, thanks to the valor of the Letts; and the disappointed Germans are taking their revenge on helpless noncombatants in a manner which recalls the invasion of Belgium.

The retreat of this German army, on which Junkerism based such high hopes, was begun because it was beaten, thoroughly beaten, before Riga. But it was stimulated by orders and advice from Berlin; and many observers have suggested that the German reactionaries, inspired by recent manifestations, have hoped to bring this army back to Germany and use it as the weapon for overturning the present Government. From Mr. DURANTY'S dispatches it would seem that the weapon may not be so very deadly after all; the relentless pursuit by the Lettish army is having its effect, and the fine machine built up by von der GOLTZ is going to pieces. The mercenary elements in it are likely to have seen enough fighting to satisfy them for some time before they ever reach the Niemen. It would indeed be a masterpiece of historical irony if the gallantry of the Letts, who defended their freedom so heroically before Riga, should have as an incidental consequence the preservation of the German Republic.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Something Novel in History.

In all the long centuries of English history nobody has thought till now of providing an opportunity for peers to surrender, if they choose, the very large privileges and the not unimportant duties that go with their position. All that time it seems to have been taken for granted that anybody who could get a peerage would do so, and that anybody who got one would keep it as long as he could. Certainly the Barons who took such good care of their own interests when they extorted the Great Charter from King JOHN did not consider it necessary to claim this particular liberty.

In several modern instances, of course, offered peerages have been declined by men who preferred service in the House of Commons to that in the House of Lords, but that is different from abandoning an inherited title. Also different was the reluctance shown under several of the old Kings to accept knighthood, for that was due simply to the disinclination of country gentleman not oversupplied with cash to pay the big fees which would have gone to those same Kings if the honor had been accepted. The result of these refusals was the passage of several laws that made them as costly as acceptance would have been.

That the present effort to create legal authority for surrendering a peerage is made in behalf of a single peer, the son of a sometime American citizen, is not apt to make either house of Parliament view it with much favor; but, on the other hand, the contented peers hardly can insist on keeping as an associate in their councils a man who publicly has proclaimed that he prefers other company than theirs.

Almost innumerable times in the past peerages have been taken away from their possessors. It was always done, however, as a punishment, and as one of a severity deserved only by high treason or something like it.

A Father's Ambition Thwarted.

There is something almost pathetic in the fact that the first man to seek escape from the burden of a peerage is the son of a man who, according to common report, worked hard for many years and spent enormous sums of money in order that he might secure for himself and bequeath to his heir the title for which that heir admits and proclaims he has less than no use. This is in effect an assertion that he does not put any value at all on his title and what goes with it, for there is more in his demand than an expression of disinclination to sit in the House of Lords. He need not do that, even if he keeps his title and his banishment from the inner chamber would not be for him what it would have been for most of the men who have refused elevation to the peerage. The untimely termination of a parliamentary career already well started and made more or less illustrious. Viscount ASTOR may have had his well started, and his hopes may have been worthily high, but his experience as a British legislator has been too brief to make sequestration in the scarcely higher, though really much lower, chamber such an extinguishment as it would have been, say, to Mr. GLADSTONE.

There are still a good many things, not small, that he might achieve as a peer. By saying that those things are not to his taste he is likely to displease rather seriously the other peers.

He Needs a Longer Probation.

Most or all of the current proposals for barring undesirable immigrants from the country seek effectiveness by making more rigid, either abroad or at the port of entry, the examination of those who want to enter the country. The purpose is good and something could be done in this way to keep out people whose assimilation is impossible and whose object is the un-Americanization of America. But this is the plan long since adopted, and that it has not worked at all well is not altogether due to lack of stringency in its application.

Always that plan will have the weakness that its efficiency depends on the possibility of discovering just what sort of a man or woman the would-be immigrant is. Those with criminal records thus could be kept out, indeed, though even that much has not been accomplished in anything like all cases. But chief dependence necessarily has been placed on the ability of the examiners to decide from answers to their questions whether or not admission of the applicant is safe. And that is a poor dependence, for the truth is not in the sort of folk that should be excluded, and, knowing very well for what they would be excluded, they naturally profess the opinions and purposes that will get them through the gate.

What really counts in this matter, or at any rate what counts most, is not what the immigrant says before sailing from Europe or on arriving here, but what he does after he has been admitted. His actions here cannot be long concealed, and they can be judged with accuracy.

What is needed, therefore, is rather a prolongation of the immigrant's probation than a more elaborate examination of him before admission, and even naturalization should not put an end to his liability to deportation. Such a system would not do away with the necessity for preliminary examinations, but it would supplement them in precisely the manner that needs supplementing.

Time Goes as Well as Money.

Less impressive, somehow, than the statement that New York's various interurban transportation lines carried more than 2,000,000,000 passengers in their last fiscal year is the other statement that in that year the fares paid on these lines, instead of being 4½ per capita, as they were in 1860, now number 270.

Of course, not every man, woman, and child in the city takes more than one ride a day throughout the year in surface, elevated, or subway cars, but those of us who take more such rides than that make up for those who do not.

Now, somebody should figure out how much time New Yorkers devote in a year to a kind of riding never very enjoyable and oftener than not distinctly painful. The result of that computation might show a rather terrible loss of time that in other circumstances could be better employed. But if we will live in a big city we must pay the penalty as well as reap the advantage.

THE TREATY OUTLOOK.

Views on the Meaning of the Vote of the Senators.

The Lodge resolution to declare peace, as published in today's issue of THE TIMES, reads in part as follows:

> Whereas by the terms of the Treaty of Versailles Germany is to be at peace with all the nations engaged in war against her whenever three Governments, designated therein, have ratified said treaty; now, therefore,
> A first procès-verbal of the deposit of ratifications will be drawn up as soon as the treaty has been ratified by Germany on the one hand and by three of the principal allied and associated powers on the other hand.
> From the date of the first procès-verbal the treaty will come into force between the high contracting parties who have ratified it. For the determination of all periods of time provided for in the present treaty this date will be the date of the coming into force of the treaty.
> In all other respects the treaty will enter into force for each power at the date of the deposit of its ratification.

A False Issue.

Senator Lodge's proposal to make a campaign issue "between Americanism and the super-government presented by the League" is a palpable attempt to deceive the American people for partisan advantage. A council which can only recommend is not a "super-government," and it is quite impossible that Senator Lodge or any other Senator can honestly believe that any "super-government" is proposed or contemplated by the League.

The real issue is between a policy of co-operation with other nations to maintain international law and adjust international disputes by peaceful means and a policy of national selfishness and exclusiveness. If Senator Lodge prefers the latter policy, that of course is his privilege, but he should at least be straightforward enough to say so and not try to mislead American people by a false issue.

A Republican Resolution.

Senator Lodge says the issue is one of politics. Very good. There is one traditional Republican, a member of a Republican family, who will never vote the Republican ticket again so long as it stands for politics above principles, spite above achievement. The nine other members of my family will join their votes to mine against Lodge and all his fellow ostriches, against Wadsworth and Calder, against all the old hacks who have their heads in a bag, who think this is a little matter they can juggle in the old Senatorial way.

DR. ADLER TO DR. SCHULMAN

Friends have asked me to say something in reply to the astonishing remarks of Dr. Schulman on the subject of the Society for Ethical Culture, which were published in your issue of today.

But, indeed, I have nothing to say, except to express my regret that so able and gifted a man as Dr. Schulman, a spokesman of the noblest faith of Israel, should in one moment generate even without teaching it, should have allowed himself to repeat a piece of criticism obviously superficial, and certainly quite wide of the mark. Theological controversy, however, has by this time acquired an indifference and reputation in the world. I am sure the public want none of it. Neither do I.

HONOR EUGENE SCHNEIDER.

Frenchman Gets Stevens Degree and Metallurgical Society Medal.

Eugene Schneider, head of Schneider & Co., which operates the Creusot and other steel mills of Europe, and Chairman of the French Industrial Mission to this country, was twice honored yesterday by American institutions. In the afternoon he received the degree of Doctor of Engineering from Stevens Institute, Hoboken, and in the evening he received the medal of the Mining and Metallurgical Society of America.

Mr. Schneider is the first foreigner to receive the Mining and Metallurgical Society medal. It is the sixth medal awarded by the society. The first medal was awarded in 1914 to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hoover for their translation of De Re Metallica, a technical work written in Latin.

Charles M. Schwab, Dr. Henry M. Howe, Bradley Stoughton, and Colonel Manns McCloskey were speakers last night at the dinner at the Biltmore, at which the medal was awarded. H. E. Knox, President of the society, was toastmaster.

Dr. Alexander C. Humphreys, President of Stevens, conferred the degree upon Mr. Schneider yesterday afternoon. Representatives of the Faculty and five engineering societies were present at the ceremonies.

The foreign delegates to the International Trade Conference visited Bush Terminal, Brooklyn, yesterday, and were afterward entertained at luncheon by the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce. The afternoon was spent in conference with American business men at the Hotel Commodore, and in the evening the members of the four missions—British, French, Italian, and Belgian—went to the Hippodrome.

URGES CREDIT FOR EUROPE.

W. H. Woodin Says We Have Great Foreign Commercial Opportunity.

Some plan for supplying the necessary credits to Europe so that she may rehabilitate her railroads is necessary and imperative, according to W. H. Woodin, President of the American Car and Foundry Company, who has just returned from a trip through England, Holland, Belgium, and France, where he studied especially the equipment needs. He is certain, he said yesterday, that the solution of the problem will be found, and added that the supplying of Europe's needs in every line is the greatest commercial opportunity that has ever been thrown into the lap of any nation in history.

He doubted somewhat the possibility of establishing credits here by taking European securities, for the reason that it would be next to impossible to sell such securities in this country. "The American people," he said, "have never been educated to any great extent in foreign investments. There has been something accomplished along this line, but it is not adequate to the emergency." He doubted whether it would be possible to sell $100,000,000 in foreign securities here at the present time. Asked in what light he considered foreign securities, whether those of some countries would be an investment or a speculation, he replied that many would undoubtedly be speculations unless they were backed by our own Government. The entire credit problem he considered to be too great to be carried by any group of manufacturers or bankers, and implied that Government aid should be extended, presumably by the indorsing of any foreign securities sold here.

The equipment needs, he said, were stupendous. "The world," he said, "has been denuded of equipment. Italy has just received an order of 20,000 cars, so that her position is fairly good, and France profited by having some of the cars and locomotives that were used by the American forces turned over to her."

Credits extended to Europe, he believed, should be of from four to five years' duration, so that there might be an opportunity for exchange to reach something approximating a normal basis. The great depreciation in exchange, he said, was one of the factors that was barring immediate orders for equipment, the cost under present conditions being far in excess of normal.

Mr. Woodin described Belgium as being "on her feet." He said she had recovered more quickly from the war than any of the other countries.

Orders totaling several million dollars were brought back by Mr. Woodin, but he declined to say from what countries they were received.

MAYNARD FLIES THIS WEEK.

Starts Tomorrow or Thursday for San Diego on One-Stop Flight.

MINEOLA, L. I., Nov. 24.—Lieutenant Belvin W. Maynard, the clergyman-aviator, who won the recent transcontinental race, will leave Mitchel Field at dawn Wednesday or Thursday for San Diego, Cal., by way of Dallas, Texas, in an effort to break the world's nonstop record. The flying parson will pilot a remodeled De Havilland 4 equipped with extra gas tanks holding more than 300 gallons of gasoline.

Officially the undertaking is a one-stop flight to San Diego, but the attempt to break the record will be made on the first leg of the journey, from Mitchel Field to Dallas, a distance of about 1,500 miles. Lieutenant Maynard plans to fly in a straight line to Memphis, Tenn. Then he will head toward Texarkana, and from there to Dallas. The aviator will fly back East, probably over the same course. A few days ago Maynard flew the Greyhound, as his plane is called, three hours without a stop. Trixie, Lieutenant Maynard's German police dog, which accompanied him on his transcontinental flight, will not go along this time.

THE FLAG OF DEATH.

Across the cold, gray steppes there creeps
A stain, like fire, along the sky,
Where in the frozen twilight hush

A torch! It lights with lurid glare
An empire wasted, spoiled, and dead—
A land of graves and strange, mad dreams,
And blackened homes whence life has fled.

What though the wild mob seized a throne,
And slew the rich for gems and gold?
In crying winds they starve and die,
The young and strong, the sick and old.

For when the fearful Piper called,
The peaceful toilers stormed the plain,
And tore great, shining cities down,
And wrecked the fields of yellow grain.

Though now pale wraiths of children weep,
The morning brings no task, nor sound;
For none but ghostly workmen make
The broken, idle wheels go round.

Yet there in wastes of woe and blood,
Where Hunger stills the feeble breath,
That flaming symbol hangs unveiled,

WARN WOMEN AGAINST REDS

Col. Roosevelt and Henry W. Taft Speak at Republicans Club.

There was a large gathering of women at the National Republican Club yesterday afternoon to hear Colonel Theodore Roosevelt and Henry W. Taft. Mr. Taft was obliged to make an impromptu speech, for after being told he could speak upon any topic he was informed upon reaching the club that no controversial subject could be considered.

Colonel Roosevelt, who was the first speaker, said we should turn more to policies and less to men in politics. He said people should be able to say that they believed in the party and its candidate "not because John Smith has nice hair, but because he is a good man." The great problem of the next twenty years was the adjustment of capital and labor, he said, but the public was paying the bill. He spoke of the future of the country being founded on its youth, and said care was needed in keeping Bolshevism out of schools and colleges.

"The way to get teachers who don't run wild-eyed," he said, "is to pay them proper salaries. He said that we had been so wealthy that we had been careless about accumulation, and now, with the increased cost of living we must watch Government appointments, see that they do not overlap, and fix responsibility so that no one could say that the fault lay elsewhere when there was.

Mr. Taft spoke strongly about Bolshevism, and told the women if they wanted to know what it was, as he had learned, they had only to go to the Rand School on Fifteenth Street and get the pamphlets which he had found there.

"Real Bolshevism is the most senseless, cruel, destructive doctrine man or devil ever devised," said Mr. Taft. "It cannot exist unless it brings the entire world under its sway, and there is a motive for those who are introducing it into this country. There is not a principle of honor or morality in it. The Bolsheviks believe that morality and religion should be swept off the earth. Don't read nonsense," he told the women, "and don't believe what some well-spoken gentlemen, and some of them, American, will tell you about it."

Mrs. James Griswold Wentz, President of the Woman's Republican Club, interrupted to say that the Bolsheviks all should be sent to the Island of Guam, where they could be interned and support themselves, and not send back to other countries to roam about the earth.

"Don't think of the Bolsheviks are anarchists," Mr. Taft continued. "There never was such centralization of power as that given with rigor by the Bolshevists of Russia. It is the antithesis of anarchy."

Mr. Taft told the women he had not favored woman suffrage because he had been afraid it would add to the number of voters not interested in the Government, which was the greatest danger of the country. He said if giving the vote to woman brought in a larger proportion of women interested in the welfare of the country it would be the greatest blessing that had come to it.

"Now I am an advocate of national suffrage as I was not before, and I think the result of the last election was due to the women. You are subject to emotional instincts, but that is all right if the instincts are good, but there are many deceivers to lead you from the right path."

SOLDIER-ARTIST HONORED.

Paris Autumn Salon Accepts Canvas by Jay H. Connaway.

One of the enlisted men of the A. E. F., who was mustered out in France so that he could continue at Julien's his interrupted art studies, has just had a painting accepted for the Autumn Salon. He is Jay H. Connaway, a son of Cass Connaway and formerly a student at the Art Students' League in New York. His canvas, now an exhibition in Paris and painted there this Fall, is called "Harmonies du soir."

Young Connaway, who served throughout the war in surgical dressing work at the American Hospital at Contrexeville, had enlisted with Base Hospital 22 when it was organized at Indianapolis. While on duty in France under Major Lafayette Page, he did a number of anatomical drawings in color of the throat and lungs as a part of that surgeon in his successful treatment of mustard gas cases.

TEACHER CRITICISES BUDGET

Objects to Outsider as Secretary of Board of Retirement.

The Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen held a public hearing yesterday on the 1920 budget, already adopted by the Board of Estimate. Following the hearing the board went into executive session. It will report the budget to the board on Tuesday.

Only reductions in the budget may be acted upon by the board. Miss Inez Corcillus, representing the Teachers' Welfare League, made the only objection to the budget as it now stands. She argued against the removal of a school teacher member as Secretary of the Board of Retirement and the substitution of an outsider at a salary of $4,000 a year. Miss Corcillus said that the work was only temporary and it should not be made an excuse for establishing a permanent salaried position, since the teacher acted without pay.

DECLINES WOMAN'S HOARD.

Cornell Committee Tells Graduate Her Sacrifice is Too Great.

A woman graduate of Cornell University, who has been earning her living in Wall Street since she left Ithaca, has set an example for other graduates in offering to give $5,000, her entire savings, to the Cornell University Endowment Fund, the general committee announced yesterday.

The committee, which is endeavoring to raise $10,000,000, informed her that the sacrifice was too great and could not be accepted. She then insisted that one-half of the amount be accepted outright, adding that she would hold the remainder in reserve in the event the fund was not completed. The committee announced that the 4,000 graduates of the university in Greater New York are generously responding to the call of their alma mater.

BRITISH SEND LOVING CUP.

P., who has just arrived in this country, announced yesterday that he had brought with him a silver loving cup, dating from the reign of George III., which will be presented to the United States Army and Navy as a token of esteem by the founders of the American Officers' Club in London.

The cup already has been accepted in behalf of the two services by Secretaries Baker and Daniels and the presentation will be made in Washington next week.

MARINE EXPOSITION HERE NEXT APRIL

National League Plans to Create Popular Interest in American Shipping.

COUNTRY FACES A PROBLEM

President Ross and August Belmont Point Out Importance of Supporting Our Marine.

To develop a popular interest in American shipping in order to make the United States as great a maritime nation at least as England is at present or as Germany was before the war and in planning to be again, the first National Marine Exposition in this country in twenty years will be held at the Grand Central Palace under the auspices of the National Marine League from April 12 to 17, next year. In announcing the exposition F. R. W. Ross, President of the league, said yesterday:

"The most serious problem that hangs over the heads of Americans today is how to dispose of the billions of dollars' worth of European goods which we shall be compelled to accept from our foreign debtors, without disorganizing our home industries and closing American mills. Unless this problem is solved there may be periods of hard times forcing the United States in spite of the riches that apparently will be flowing back into the country."

Regarding the reasons for organizing the Marine League and opening the Exposition, the Board of Trustees, of which August Belmont is Chairman, gave out a statement in which he said:

"An adequate American merchant marine is our chief reliance in the severe and unrelenting economic conflict between nations.

"Sensible legislation is a prerequisite to the establishment of conditions that will make any business profitable. The average voice must be brought to a realization of his own personal interest in American control of the ocean transportation of American products. If the United States is to free itself from a condition of commercial and consequently of industrial peonage and to travel in the direction it is headed, the business men of the country co-operate in the work of the Marine League."

URGES ACTION ON TREATY.

Peace League Wants Ratification on Acceptable Terms.

Settlement of differences over the treaty of peace to permit its ratification as soon as possible after the Senate reconvenes was urged in a statement issued by the League to Enforce Peace at the conclusion of a special meeting of the Executive Committee held in the Bush Terminal Sales Building.

Ex-President William H. Taft, President of the league, presided. Among others at the meeting were Edward A. Filene, Henry W. Taft, Herbert S. Houston, Oscar S. Straus and Herbert C. Hoover. The league says in its statement:

"The defeat of ratification has been received by the country with surprise and indignation. The people want peace. They want peace, and they want a League of Nations to guard the peace. Whose name it bears, which party brand it wears, they care not at all. They longed for and expected ratification before adjournment of the Senate.

"The making of peace is no more a party question than was the making of war. The American people, without regard to party, stood behind the war until the day of victory. With like unanimity they now stand behind the treaty.

"Shall the small majority who oppose a League of Nations in any form defeat ratification? Shall fifteen Senators decide where America shall stand in this world crisis? Eighty Senators have shown by their votes that they favor the great principle of the League of Nations. The fate of the treaty rests in their hands. They have the votes. They have the power. Theirs is the responsibility. They must get together.

"The failure to ratify the Peace Treaty has encouraged social unrest both at home and abroad. Europe must have supplies or it will face starvation and anarchy this Winter. Our farmers, manufacturers have large surplus production which they can market only in

MISS ROGERS MAKES DEBUT AT RITZ BALL

Two Thousand Invited to Meet Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huddleston Rogers.

RICH FLORAL DECORATIONS

Members of British Diplomatic Corps Among the Guests—Many Dinners Precede the Event.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Huddleston Rogers of 270 Park Avenue, this city, and Southampton, L. I., gave what will probably be the largest ball of the season last night at the Ritz-Carlton to present their débutante daughter, Miss Millicent Rogers. Two thousand invitations were sent out and 1,300 acceptances for supper were received. The ballroom and Crystal Room suite were engaged. The ball was preceded by many dinners, the hostesses including Mrs. George F. Baker, Jr., who had Miss Rogers as the guest of honor; Mrs. C. B. Alexander, Mrs. Rodman Wanamaker, Mrs. Louis Townsend Montant, who entertained for her débutante sister, Miss Ruth Anderton; Mrs. David Wagstaff, whose dinner was for her débutante sister, Miss Antoinette Tilford; Miss Mary Hoyt Wilborg, Mrs. Bernon S. Prentice, Mrs. H. P. Loomis, and Mrs. James W. Gerard. Mrs. George Barton French also gave a dinner for Miss Nancy Lane, the daughter of the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Franklin K. Lane.

The decorations of the ballroom and Crystal room were unique. Tall, slender oak trees with russet foliage were placed at the sides of the ballroom, and umbrella-shaped trees with tops of chrysanthemums, pots of vari-colored chrysanthemums and ferns banked the walls. The corners of the ballroom were cut off with oak boughs, and ferns and autumnal foliage were in the smoking rooms, and the same autumnal decorations were used in the foyer and down the balustrades of the stairways. The Crystal room decorations were tall Australian tree ferns, and green orchids were used as centrepieces on the supper tables.

Mrs. Rogers and her daughter, Miss Rogers, the debutante being in brocaded and plain white satin with lace panniers, a tiny green wreath at the side of her frock, and another in her blonde hair, received the guests at the head of one of the wide stairways. An orchestra of thirty pieces played throughout the evening. Among those who accepted were members of the British diplomatic corps in Washington. # FRANCIS W. HALSEY, EDITOR-AUTHOR, DIES

Overwork on a Ten-Volume History of the European War Contributed to His Last Illness.

Francis Whiting Halsey, author, editor, historian and lecturer, died yesterday morning at 6:30 o'clock at the Park Hospital, after an illness of about a month. Mr. Halsey was 68 years old. The funeral will be held from his late residence, 146 West 119th Street, tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Halsey's latest work was the editing of a ten-volume history of the European war, and it is said that overwork on this undertaking contributed to the illness which caused his death.

Francis Whiting Halsey, for twenty-two years prior to 1902 a member of the editorial staff of THE NEW YORK TIMES, and the first editor of THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW, was born at Unadilla, N. Y., Oct. 15, 1851, the son of Dr. Gaius Leonard Halsey, a prominent physician of that place, and Mrs. Juliet E. Carrington Halsey. He was a brother of Frederick Arthur Halsey, also a well known author.

Prepared for college in his native village, where his father for fifty years practiced medicine, Mr. Halsey entered Cornell University, from which he was graduated. In his senior year he took one of the prizes for an essay in English literature, his course being that in science.

About two months after his graduation, in 1873, Mr. Halsey went to Binghamton, where he edited the morning newspaper, The Times. He remained there for two years, when he obtained a position on The New York Tribune, where he prepared obituaries of famous men, wrote letters from the World's Fair in Paris, and contributed book reviews and news articles to the literary department, until 1880, when he became a member of the staff of THE NEW YORK TIMES. For the next twenty-two years he was continuously connected with this paper. He was for several years foreign editor and writer of book reviews and was later made literary editor, succeeding Charles de Kay, whom President Cleveland appointed Consul General to Berlin.

When THE NEW YORK TIMES SATURDAY REVIEW was established, in 1896, Mr. Halsey was placed in charge and remained in this position until 1902, when he became literary adviser of the publishing house of D. Appleton & Co. Three years later he went with Funk & Wagnalls Company in a similar capacity and continued his connection with that house until his death.

Mr. Halsey was well known as a lecturer, having lectured before New York and New Jersey historical societies, students of Columbia and Princeton, on the Chautauqua platform and before many other bodies.

He was the author of a number of books, including "Two Months Abroad," which appeared in 1878. In 1895 he wrote an extended introduction for a volume of family history, entitled "Thomas Halsey of Hertfordshire, England, and Southampton, Long Island." He later wrote "An Old New York Frontier; Its Indian Wars, Pioneers and Land Titles," being an account of the early history of the headwaters of the Susquehanna from Otsego Lake to the Pennsylvania line. Other works included "Our Literary Deluge," "The Pioneers of Unadilla Village," also a historical and biographical introduction to Mrs. Rowson's "Charlotte Temple," and historical introduction and foot notes to Richard Smith's "Tour of Four Great Rivers." In 1900 he wrote a memoir to his wife, under the title of her maiden name, "Virginia Isabel Forbes." Mr. Halsey was married in 1883, his wife being a daughter of Alexander S. Forbes of New York, and she died in January, 1899.

As editor, Mr. Halsey's works included "American Authors and Their Homes," "Authors of Our Day in Their Homes," "Women Authors of Our Day in Their Homes," "Of the Making of Books," "Great Epochs in American History Described by Famous Writers," "Seeing Europe With Famous Authors," "Balfour, Viviani, and Joffre, Their Speeches in America." He was associated with William Jennings Bryan in editing "The World's Famous Orations," in ten volumes, in 1906, and in 1907 he was associated with Senator Henry Cabot Lodge in editing "The Best of the World's Classics," in ten volumes. In 1912 he wrote the introduction and bibliographies for Pryde's "What Books to Read and How to Read Them."

Mr. Halsey was a trustee of the New York State Historical Association and American Scenic Society and a member of the American Historical Association, New York State Library Association, Century, Authors, National Arts, and Cornell University clubs, being President of the latter in 1882.

Reconstruction of Graduate Committee and Resident Coaching Staff Is Specially Urged.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 24.—Radical, although by no means revolutionary, changes in Yale's football system will be demanded by undergraduates before another playing season begins. The movement has already been started, and a series of conferences will be held by student leaders with the Yale Athletic Council and committees of that body. The changes will not be aired in public, but will be quietly discussed by students and athletic officials, who include both alumni and undergraduate officers.

The football system this Fall was carried through before the general Yale athletic reorganization following the world war had been put into effect. The undergraduates believe that the team suffered materially, because of the imperfections in general athletic machinery, although most of them are convinced of the wisdom of the main points of the coaching system which has been installed by the new athletic director, Dr. Sharpe.

Several of the changes which are demanded include: First, reconstruction of the membership of the Graduate Football Committee; second, changes in the present resident coaching staff; third, radical innovations in the system of physical supervision of the players; fourth, alterations in the training table system; fifth, changes in the method of ticket distribution.

Want Young Men Represented.

One of the principal changes demanded by the undergraduates is that both the Graduate Football Committee and resident coaching staff include additions of young men. Both are composed of former players, who have been out of college many years, some of them unable to give personal attention to their administrative or active coaching duties.

Vance McCormick has been Chairman of the Football Committee, but the Chairmanship in his absence has been taken by ex-Captain Brinck Thorne of New York City. It is believed that action will be taken with regard to the changes requested previous to the election of a Captain for next year. Under the new athletic constitution, the council has power to make such changes as are necessary for the good of Yale athletics.

The controversy over Yale's failure to score against Harvard, after the ball had been carried for sixty yards, to within a foot of the Crimson goal was settled tonight when it became known that a fumble prevented its being put in play properly. Between Centre Rush Callahan, Quarter Back Kempton, and Full Back Jim Braden, the ball was juggled and Braden never fully received it. Captain Tim Callahan said tonight that Yale lost the game because the players fumbled and therefore lost confidence in themselves. He said:

Callahan Blames It to Fumbles.

"I don't want to be quoted as saying there was anything wrong with the coaching system as put into effect by Dr. Sharpe. It does not look well for the team to rap coaches; that is the first thing everybody does after a Yale defeat.

"The reason we lost the game was largely through our fumbles and the lack of confidence they caused. When we carried the ball to Harvard's 1-yard line we did not try a play through centre, as has been commonly said, but between guard and tackle. It is ridiculous also to say Yale lost because she stuck to old-style football. Harvard did the same thing. Princeton is the only big team that used open play extensively. Princeton's type of play could have been defeated by any really fine team, either Yale or Harvard.

"A team has got to be drilled to use both styles of football; in case massed formations don't work, open play can be resorted to. Princeton stuck to the open variety. There were a lot of rumors around before and after the game, including one that Harvard had found out all the Yale signals before the game. This is ridiculous, as most of the others were. Harvard knew nothing about our signals."

HOW ELIS VIEW THEIR DEFEAT.

If System Is Poor It Will Be Rectified at Yale, Says Daily News.

The undergraduate body at Yale University sees no reason for outside criticism, judging from an editorial in yesterday's Daily News, the student publication. The News takes the stand that if the Yale system has been poor there is plenty of time to rectify it at Yale and by Yale men, not by "outside priers and meddlers." The attitude taken by The News is as follows:

"The football season is over. Harvard won on Saturday because she was quick to take advantage of her opponent's misplays—the fumbles. The controversies that have arisen over the relative values of "modern" and "old-fashioned" or "straight" football alike arouse and disgust. If Harvard followed the modern game more closely than did Yale, then the summary does not show it. (Note here in particular the number of forward passes attempted, the number successful.) The subject of technique, however, is one that can best be thrashed out later—by those best qualified to do it. From December to August—throughout the long off-season—there is time for this; for the present—forget it. If there is anything wrong with the Yale system, it is going to be fixed here at Yale—and not (praise heaven) by outside priers and meddlers.

"As to Harvard's great victory, it has long been recognized that games are won and lost—not by "number of yards gained rushing," not by "number of first downs," not by "average distance of punts." In football, so long as the game is played cleanly by both sides, "points scored" is the only item that really matters, and there is sad solace in anything other than points. It is then, far beyond our poor power—or any one else's—to detract one iota from the success that is justly Harvard's; the victory is hers and Yale envies her for it and admires and respects the Crimson eleven tremendously.

"Nevertheless, Harvard undergraduates have congratulated Yale on her team, too. Nay, some of them have gone further and proclaimed that "you Elis deserved to win." We think exactly this ourselves and, out of respect to Dr. Sharpe and the sixteen men that represented Yale on Soldiers Field Saturday, it is necessary for us to say so.

"The Yale team of 1919 will be mentioned in the football books as a defeated team. It will also be remembered as a powerful team and a fighting team, and must, therefore, be classed as an "unlucky" team. In the Princeton and Harvard games of 1919 there is nothing about which any Yale man—past, present, future—need ever feel ashamed. Again, let us quit the arena marching; there will be other years."

Army Mule's Blanket Is Bet Against That of Navy Goat

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 24.—A rather unique bet between the West Point Cadets and the Midshipmen of Annapolis has been made on the outcome of the football game to be played at the Polo Grounds in New York on Saturday next. The Cadets have suggested and the Middies have agreed that the blanket which graces the back of the army mule mascot and which is done up in gorgeous black, gold and gray colors, shall be wagered against the blue and gold creation which the navy goat is expected to wear as he trots up and down the side lines. Now on with the battle!

PENN RESUMES ITS WORK FOR CORNELL

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE MARSH VALLEY, Pa., Nov. 24.—Headed by Coach Bob Folwell and his staff, including Bill Hollenbach, Dr. Charles Wharton, and Allie Miller, twenty-three members of the University of Pennsylvania football team arrived here late this evening and took up quarters at the county club. According to the program, the squad will remain here until Thursday morning, when it will motor to Philadelphia for the closing contest of the season at Franklin Field with Cornell.

The gathering today, after a two-day layoff, was featured by the reappearance of Henry Miller, right end, and Hobey Light, full back, who have not been in togs since the Pittsburgh contest, a week ago last Saturday. Both men, who had been out on account of injuries, came into camp completely recovered from their bruises. They immediately took up their respective places with the 'Varsity, which ran through signals, there being no gridiron here.

Only signal drill was carried out. On the 'Varsity, besides those mentioned, were Captain Bert Bell, at quarter back; Straus and Brunner, backs; Titzel and Little, tackles; Neylon and Thomas, guards; Lud Wray, centre, and Hopper, left end. This will probably be the team that will start against Cornell Thanksgiving Day.

Derr was on the field, but is not in the best of shape. Straus is the logical man to fill his place in the Varsity backfield. This afternoon Derr, McNichol, and Braun operated in the second-string offensive, with Sammy Ellis directing the plays. The line for the second team consisted of Grave and Ray Miller, ends; Maynard and O'Gorman, tackles; Dieter and Alex Wray, guards, and Crawford, centre. Rosetsky took a tackle position before the work ended.

BIG SENDOFF FOR CORNELL.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 24.—With 2,000 students cheering them on in a farewell demonstration, the Cornell 'Varsity football team practiced for the last time this season on Schoellkopf Field this afternoon, and tonight the men on the 'Varsity squad completed their preparation for the trip to Philadelphia, via Atlantic City, which will start tomorrow afternoon. It was announced that about 1,500 undergraduates would entrain for Philadelphia on Wednesday and that the entire Cornell cheering section had been sold out to students and thousands of Cornell alumni from the larger eastern centres.

Today's workout for the 'Varsity squad was short and of the lightest character, in conformity with Coach Rush's present policy of giving the team only enough to do to keep in shape. The men ran through a short signal drill, and then played around on the field, passing and booting the ball. The Ithacans are in fine shape physically, and there is no doubt that they are in a mental state that guarantees that a fighting Cornell eleven will take the field Thursday. Except for right tackle, where Rush has not yet decided between Sutton and Knauss, the make-up of the eleven is fairly well determined.

In today's signal drill, Hoff and Finn were at ends; Knauss, Taylor, Hoag, and Sutton, tackles; Miller, Pendelton and Strauss, guards; Horrell and Trowbridge, centre; Shiverick, quarter; Mayer, Carry, Hasbrouk, and Livingston, halves, and Shuler, full back.

N. Y. U. HAS CELEBRATION.

Full Holiday Is Granted as Result of Victory Over Columbia.

To celebrate, unhampered by teachers or teachings, the victory of their football team over Columbia on Saturday, all students of New York University were granted a full holiday yesterday. The students made merry in many interesting ways. The co-eds, attending classes at Washington Square, expressed their delight with impromptu snake dancing in and about the building. Some of the more enterprising girl students continued this dance to the subway and elevated stations.

Early in the day, Chancellor Elmer E. Brown decreed a full holiday. Instantly the vicinity of the staid old building in Washington Square, where more than 6,000 students receive instruction, was the scene of real old-fashioned merry-making. Students paraded about the Square, singing and giving the New York University yell. The men also gave their interpretation of the snake dance. With much boisterous ceremony a delegation went to Columbia University, and brought down a bench, which was carried into the Washington Square Building, amid wild cheers. The bench was deposited in the corridors of the School of Commerce, and in a short time it was covered with initials and fraternity insignia, carved by enthusiastic students.

Although there were no co-eds to lend a feminine touch to the merriment at the University Heights centre, the undergraduate students there held their celebration in approved college fashion. The campus was a scene of carnival; students danced and sang in the full joy of the occasion. An impromptu parade, headed by the undergraduates' band, marched about the campus and the streets in the vicinity. Some serious-minded students attempted speeches, but the oratory was drowned in college yells, and they were dragged along with the merry crowd.

GOLD FOOTBALLS FOR GREEN

Dartmouth Players Get Special Award for Good Record.

HANOVER, N. H., Nov. 24.—Dartmouth football players, for the first time since the defeat of Harvard by a Green team in 1907, are to be awarded gold footballs. The Athletic Council voted today to make the awards to all members of the team who won their letters and also to the undergraduate manager, in recognition of the unusually good record made by the eleven this season.

BEGIN FINAL DRIVE FOR NAVY CONTEST

Special to the New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 24.—The Army eleven resumed its hard work on the gridiron today. With the Navy game only five days off, and feeling in fine fettle after their lay-off of yesterday, the men went at the job with a thoroughness and enthusiasm which spoke volumes for the spirit of the team. Some features of the practice were none too encouraging, but the fighting spirit of the 'Varsity men was there, and it manifested itself many times during the course of the afternoon.

The coaches put the players through another stiff workout, during which the 'Varsity got fifteen minutes of hard scrimmaging with the scrubs. The men all emerged unscathed, and the 'Varsity had two touchdowns to its credit at the conclusion. Schabacker ran to one from the 10-yard line on a smash through the centre of the scrub line, and Dodd, who replaced McQuarrie for a time at left half, ran to the other score when he skirted left end from the 15-yard line.

The big team was then given a try-out on the defensive and held the scrubs off fairly well, there being a slight depression at right guard on several occasions. Once the scrubs sent Halfback Bowman through an opening at this point for a 15-yard gain, which play put the ball just that many yards away from the 'Varsity goal. Bowman here stepped back and tried a placement kick, but big Breidster, who is playing a strong game at the other guard position, broke through and blocked the kick. A long kicking drill, with McQuarrie and Lystad doing the punting, featured the early part of the practice.

During this period the forwards were sent down under the kicks. "Abe" Lystad seemed better than McQuarrie again today in this department of the game.

There was a lack of proper co-ordination in the passing game, which was probably the most discouraging feature of the practice from the coaches' point of view. But if this was shown in defect on the offensive, it certainly did well when the scrubs essayed the overhead attack in their attempts to advance the ball. Once, Timberlake, opposite Bialk's end, did get away for a short dash on a pass from Whetton, but on the whole the 'Varsity's defense for the aerial attack was good.

When Bialk left the lineup early, White again filled in at the right flank. Byers also was used at end today on the 'Varsity. George relieved Wilhide for a brief spell at quarter back. Whether he will get a call against Navy is a question. When Derr was yielded to the scrubs' pounding today, Graves, line coach, sent Swartz, a substitute centre, into the 'Varsity line at right guard. Enderton, a plebe, went to Swartz's pivotal job for the time being. Swartz worked hard at guard, but there was but little improvement to the situation which, if it is not cleared up shortly, will cause some worry in the Army camp. Daly worked all his substitute backs behind the 'Varsity line today. Dodd, Gregory, Warren, Evans, and Clark all got a chance to carry the ball for the big team.

The Army's plans for the movement on New York have not yet been divulged, but it is expected that the team will go down to the metropolis some time on Friday morning and that the corps of cadets will go some time on Saturday.

NAVY'S LAST SCRIMMAGE.

Players All in Fine Trim for Army Game Saturday.

Special to The New York Times.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 24.—Little is thought of around the Naval Academy this week except the game on Saturday at New York between the elevens of the Army and Navy, made more interesting than usual by the fact that they will meet for the first time in three seasons. Every night the midshipmen are stealing a few minutes after supper for informal morale meetings, during which they are addressed by some one connected with this year's team or by an old Navy player in and they are attending all the practices of the week in a body, spurring the team on with yells and songs under the leadership of Miles Curley.

This afternoon a scrimmage was the most important part of the practice, and it is not likely that any more scrimmaging will be ordered. Koehler, Clark and Cruise will almost certainly start in the backfield against the Army, while Watters probably has a shade over Benitz to start in the fourth position. All of these, with Watters and Taylor, Rawlings and Haase, who are leading substitutes, were given special attention this afternoon, though Doble has four men specially coached for the duties of each backfield position and nearly as many in the line. Big Willkie, the 240-pound wonder, occupies a unique position of being substitute in two positions, left tackle and right guard, so that his chance of getting into the final game is good.

Final arrangements have been made for the trip of the football party to New York. After a brief practice at the Naval Academy Thanksgiving morning, the squad, in charge of Commander D. L. Howard, formerly both Captain of the team and coach, and now athletic officer, will leave for New York over the Pennsylvania line at 2:40 in the afternoon, and the members will be given a great sendoff by the midshipmen and Annapolis generally.

With the growth of enthusiasm has also come a considerable increase in confidence that the outcome of the game will be favorable to the midshipmen. This has been very noticeable in the last few days and is based upon information that the team is getting along well and using more football than it has shown during the season.

Practice is kept very secret with a force of watchmen patroling all sides of the field and keeping all but navy people away, but what reports have emerged have been entirely favorable to the Navy team. The players are in excellent physical condition, due to the good work of Trainers Schutz and Dougherty, and are keyed up to do the best work of the season when they meet the Army on Saturday.

STEVENS ELEVEN DISBANDS.

Annual Football Smoker to be Held After Thanksgiving Holidays.

The undefeated football team of Stevens Tech disbanded yesterday afternoon, but the season will not be officially closed until after the usual annual football smoker, which will be held after the Thanksgiving holidays and at which time the letter "S" will be awarded to about twenty of the men who have played in five of the seven games this season. Because of the successful season this year the smoker will be made a larger affair than at any time before.

A stag dinner will be held in conjonction with the affair at which members of the team will be the guests of the student body and the alumni. Plans are under way to accommodate about a thousand grads and undergrads. It will probably be held in one of the spacious buildings built by the navy during the war on the college grounds and recently taken over by the institute.

Erasmus to Play Stamford.

Erasmus Hall High School's football eleven and the Stamford H. S. team, Connecticut scholastic champions, will clash in a post-season game at Ebbets Field Saturday afternoon. Negotiations for the struggle were completed yesterday by the Turf and Blue officials. The contest has been an annual feature with the Erasmus Hall eleven, but, in former years, was decided on Stamford's gridiron. The forthcoming game will mark the first time that the Nutmeg State schoolboys have journeyed to Brooklyn for a game. Last year Stamford defeated Erasmus Hall in a bitterly fought game by a score of 6 to 0.

GARDNER ELECTED CAPTAIN.

Star Player Will Lead Rutgers Football Eleven Next Season.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 24.—Turk Gardner, star half back, was today elected Captain of the Rutgers football eleven for next season. Gardner has played three years on the Scarlet and has been out of its best ground gainers. He has been a little off form this year owing to injuries. Because of his great defensive work he was shifted to tackle in the early part of the season, although he had played in the back field previously. He was used at end for a time, but in the last three games he was back in his old position.

Rudge Garrett, this year's captain, will be in college next year but will be ineligible to play as he has already put in four seasons with the Scarlet.

BEZDEK'S ELEVEN EASES UP.

Penn State Coach Takes No Further Chances of Crippling Team.

Special to The New York Times.

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Nov. 24.—Because of the disastrous scrimmage last Saturday, which cost the Penn State team the services of Joe Lightner, Coach Bezdek decided to take no further chances on crippling his men today and gave the Blue and White a "dummy" drill. They went through all of their formations against the scrubs, but there was no tackling.

Bezdek spent part of the time with the 'Varsity on the defensive, while Dick Harlow's scrubs tried to outguess them; and then he gave the ball to Higgins's men and had them try out their own formations, which will be used against Pitt on Thursday. With Harlow and Dutch Herman directing the scrub defense the 'Varsity was put to a severe test.

It begins to look more and more every day as though Clarence Beck, the big Harrisburg boy, would start the game against the Panthers. Beck started the season in the back field, but Bezdek shifted him to the line and he has been improving every day. Given his first real chance to start a game against Cornell, he more than made good at left guard, and it is almost certain that Bezdek will start him in that position.

Special to The New York Times.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 24.—For the first time since the football season began Coach Glenn Warner made the Pitt Panthers go through a hard, gruelling Monday practice instead of resting up for a couple of days, as has been the case heretofore. The reason is that Hugo Bezdek's Penn Staters are heading for the Blue and Gold goal posts already, and the Blue and White mentor is beginning to loom up like a big black fear.

Warner was disappointed on Saturday in that he had to send in his regulars instead of giving them a badly needed rest, and it was really a moral victory for Killer Steffens and his Tartans that they made the old fox change his plans after announcing that he would depend on his subs to defeat Carnegie Tech, thus saving the first-team men for Penn State.

It is a matter of history now that Steffens pulled off some trick plays on Saturday that upset the Panther crew, and it was soon evident that Warner would be forced to use his big men. However, it was found today when the Panthers trotted on Forbes Field that they were little the worse for their experience, with the exception of Hastings, whose face is in bad shape, owing to a splintered bone. He had a pad on his cheek on Saturday, and fortunately was not bumped in that particular part of his face.

W. VA. WEAK IN TACKLING.

Mountaineers Have Long Practice on Dummy to Overcome Fault.

Special to The New York Times.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 24.—The dummy occupied the attention of the West Virginia football players for the major portion of their time this afternoon. Coach McIntyre was dissatisfied with the tackling of his charges in their games, Rutgers getting thirteen first downs and Ohio Wesleyan twelve, largely because West Virginia forwards, as well as secondary defense men, missed easy tackles in the line and in the open. Against Ohio Wesleyan the tackling was particularly poor, Elder of the Buckeyes throwing off a number of Mountaineers when they failed to go after him properly.

Preceding the tackling drill there was a long signal drill, and the lineup showed Bailey at centre, Ice and Setron at guards, Harrick and Archer at tackles, Hager and Mills at ends, Hite at quarter, Lentz and King at halves, and Rodgers at full back. This is the most likely lineup for the Washington and Jefferson game here on Thanksgiving Day.

W. AND J. IN SECRET DRILL.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Pa., Nov. 24.—Coach Morrow had the gates to College Field closed today while he gave Washington and Jefferson the first of two final workouts before the Thanksgiving Day game with West Virginia University at Morgantown. The presumption is that the Red and Black coach was polishing off some new wrformations for the Mountaineers. It is known that the regulars were put through a drill in breaking up West Virginia's forward pass formations in dummy scrimmage.

W. and J. has carefully scouted the West Virginia team this season, and the scrub team has employed West Virginia plays for the past ten days. The success of the 'Varsity in breaking up the West Virginia-Wesleyan attack last Saturday is laid to the practice of the preceding week, as Wesleyan and West Virginia use much the same aerial game.

BROWN PRACTICES SIGNALS.

Coaches Put Team Through Snappy Workout for Columbia Game.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 24.—Contrary to the usual custom for a Monday, Coaches Robinson and Whittemore put the Brown University football squad through a stiff signal practice today. Not all of the regulars were out, some of them being detained by recitations and others by injuries received in the New Hampshire game on Saturday, but with the Columbia game in New York on Thursday work will be rushed to put the men into shape and have the team in smooth running order.

Lathrop and Brace, two of the absentees today, were badly bruised in Saturday's game and are under a doctor's care, but it was stated that they will be ready to play Thursday.

Armstrong, the 'Varsity fullback and punter, who was kept out of the New Hampshire game by an attack of malaria, was out in uniform today and got away spiral after spiral for fifty-five yards and better. Following the signal drill, both Armstrong and Fox put in a session at drop kicking, the latter having especially good success in sending the ball over the bar. Johnstone, the 'Varsity tackle practiced getting kicks over from placement.

Tomorrow the first and second elevens will engage in a stiff scrimmage. The squad will leave for New York Wednesday afternoon and will stop at the Cumberland Hotel.

COLUMBIA IN HARD DRILL FOR BROWN

Eleven to Have Last Stiff Practice Today—Weinstein May Replace Eccles.

With the formidable Brown game only three days away, Coach Fred Dawson abandoned his usual custom and staged a light scrimmage at yesterday's practice on South Field. Another hard workout, the last of the season for the Blue and White squad, will be held this afternoon, and the last touches to the 'Varsity eleven will be applied tomorrow, on the eve of the final tussle on Thanksgiving Day.

Three first-string players were missing yesterday because of injuries, but they will report for this afternoon's scrimmage. The disabled men were Kienninger, who was forced to retire from Saturday's game with a bad leg; Tommy Farrell, the latest and most promising back field discovery, and Forsyth, who has developed a slight charley horse. Wesley, a second-string back field man, also failed to report. He is suffering from a badly bruised leg.

Coach Dawson stood pat on his 'Varsity eleven in yesterday's scrimmage and made no important changes in his lineup. Eccles was still at quarterback, the rest of the backfield being Scott and Johnstone at the halves and Appleatum at full back. The line was made up of Kennedy and Weinstein, ends; Sloyd and Modarelli, tackles; Stockhammer and Korn, guards, and Hinch, centre. With Kienninger's return, Hinch will be shifted to his old position at guard and Forsyth will be his running mate at the other guard.

Eccles's mediocre playing against New York University may lead to his retirement in favor of Weinstein, according to rumors that gained a wide circulation on the campus yesterday. There is considerable sentiment among the students for the latter player, who has greater experience and a wider football knowledge than Eccles. One certain change at least will be the substitution of Perrell for either Moszcinski or Johnstone, probably for the latter. With Weinstein at quarter back, the remainder of the back field would be: Farrell and Moszcinski, half backs, and Appleatum, full back. Kienner or Grace would take Weinstein's place at end.

Scovil received a long drill yesterday in punting and apparently is being groomed as the much-needed successor to Shaw and Thornton. It is almost certain that Scovil will be the candidate entrusted with this assignment against Brown, and if Scovil does not come through before Thursday, Kienninger, the centre, will likely be called into the breach at the last moment. He is the most dependable punter on the squad, but because of his playing centre the coaches have been reluctant to use him.

HORSES SOLD AT AUCTION.

New High Average Price for Last Ten Years is Set at Garden.

That there is a strong revival of interest in harness racers was indicated at the opening of the Old Glory sale at Madison Square Garden yesterday when the prices brought by the horses offered at auction set a new high average for the last ten years. Nearly 150 horses were disposed of on the opening day, and the first 110 of these brought $62,810.

A consignment of thirty-one yearlings by Peter the Great, the sire of the record breaking sensation, brought the best prices yesterday. These youngsters sold for a total of $35,755. The top price of the day was paid for Peter Henley, a yearling son of Peter the Great. This colt was bought by H. B. Cooper of Dayton, Ohio, for $3,700. Several others by the same sire brought varying prices up to $2,900, which the Patherland Farm of Eyfield, Mass., paid for a bay filly, Great Fig Leaf.

A feature of the sale was that a number of horses were bought for export. Christian Mueller purchased nine yearlings, among them several of the Peter the Great colts and fillies, paying close to $10,000 for the entire lot. The sale will continue until Thursday night.

Among the most important of the sales were the following, with the purchaser:

WON'T ENJOIN BETTING.

Special to The New York Times.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 24.—Associate Justice Filmore Beall, at Upper Marlboro, Md., today denied the application of State's Attorney Marvin Peach for an injunction to prevent betting at the Bowie race track in Prince George's County.

Judge Beall stated that, in view of the injunction granted a few days ago by Associate Judge H. Harris Carnaller, restraining the State's Attorney and the Sheriff of Prince George's County from interfering with the racing at Bowie in any manner and "for other reasons not necessary to set forth," he was constrained to refuse the injunction requested by the State's Attorney.

The hearing on the injunction against the State's Attorney and Sheriff will come up in the Circuit Court at Marlboro Friday. Should the injunction be dissolved, it is understood an effort will be made to prevent betting at Bowie Saturday, the last day of the meeting. It is believed that, should the Circuit Court continue the injunction, the case will go to the Court of Appeals.

35 OUT FOR BASKET BALL.

Columbia Squad Starts Practice with Veterans Absent.

'Varsity basket ball at Columbia got away to a rather languid start yesterday afternoon, when thirty-five candidates reported to E. G. Burghard, who is coaching the five in the absence of Coach Fred Dawson on the football field. Not a regular player of last year's team was among the number, Captain Farrell and Sam Spencer being busy with football, and Johnson and Tynan failing to make an appearance.

Only three players of experience could be discerned among the recruits. They were Rochman, who played centre when the team lost at full back on the 'Varsity eleven; Brown, captain and guard two years ago on the University of Iowa five, and Nobl, who played at guard at the University of New Mexico. The latter two must be disqualified, under the one-year rule.

BULL BEATS DANA IN SQUASH FINAL

MATCH RUNS F.VE GAMES

Veteran Comes from Behind to Win Last Two by Narrow Margin—Thrilling Rallies Stir Gallery.

After winning several of his preceding matches by an eyelash, Charles M. Bull, Jr., of the Squash Club, captured the highest honors in the invitation squash tennis tournament at the Yale Club yesterday afternoon, coming from behind to defeat Anderson Dana of the Harvard Club by scores of 18—15, 10—15, 6—15, 16—11, and 17—14. Once more the stubborn veteran of the indoor and outdoor courts proved his remarkable ability to play an uphill game successfully.

Winning the opening session with difficulty, after extra points had been called, losing the second in decisive fashion, and apparently outclassed in the third, Bull came back with wonderful determination, tiring out his opponent by the steadiness of his getting, and eventually squaring the match in impressive style.

Again trailing at 1 to 7 and 3 to 9 in the rubber, Bull gave a great exhibition of gameness, catching up with his rival in the thirteenth hand, and running ahead to within a point of the match, only to be caught again and have the game set for three extra points. The missing of two easy chances for kills at this stage failed to disturb his equanimity, and he grimly kept the ball in play until the three necessary aces had been scored.

Bull's victory was a decidedly popular one, as his long absence in military service, it was feared, might have lowered the standard of his game. His brilliant comeback yesterday proved that if anything, better than ever before. Physically he seemed stronger and better able to stand a fast pace, as the result of his army life. His lawn tennis experience also flashed into prominence at times, and his ability to volley or half-volley the ball as it came toward him, by way of varying the almost constant play off the back and side walls, gave him a frequent advantage over his less versatile opponent.

In general, however, Bull depended upon smashing, full-arm swings to score his points, driving the ball just above the telltale, and bouncing it so hard against the back wall that the return bound usually shot away out of Dana's reach. Often found the corners, too, for baffling sharp angles which seldom offered a fair bound for a kill.

Both men were amazingly steady in their defensive play, making all sorts of gets from apparently impossible positions and following the ball around the narrow confines of the court like hawks descending upon a chicken yard. The number of placements was surprisingly large, as compared with the errors on both sides, for the finalists seemed to realize that they could hope for few free gifts, and would have to earn practically every point cleanly. In spite of the closeness of the play, however, the games were not dragged out unduly, the longest being the very last, which ran to 18 hands by reason of the extra points needed for a decision.

Bull had an even harder time defeating Augustus J. Cuviller in the semi-finals, while his victories over Dr. H. R. Mixsell, Livingston Platt, and Clyde Martin were also won after the severest struggles. Having eliminated all of these strong contenders, the Squash Club representative was unquestionably the best man in the tournament and fully deserved to win, having come through the most difficult section of the draw. In Dana he met a finished squash player, long experienced in tournament competition, and without a real weakness. The fact that the loser actually scored four more points than the winner in the course of the match indicates how little would have been required to reverse the result.

Bull won the toss and began the service, but went out on the first rally, his opponent following suit. A shot into the telltale by Dana started the scoring and Bull added another with a clean kill before going out. Dana replied with three aces in a row, but his slight lead was equalized in the next hand.

A See-Saw Game.

After both had drawn a blank Bull registered another pair of tallies and raised his score to 7 in the two succeeding hands. Dana meanwhile picked up one placement and then ran ahead of his rival with a fine string of four aces. Bull again caught up and Dana stubbornly took back the lead by giving his opponent low bounces which he could not lift above the telltale.

Then Bull flashed a streak of terrific hitting which gave him four perfect placement aces in succession. Dana replied with a cluster of three, two of which were placements, bringing him to the unlucky thirteen mark, where he stayed while Bull caught up.

The extra points refused to come on both of their first services, but when Dana got in for the second time he picked up a pair of aces and seemed on the way to the game. They went through another hand scoreless when Bull suddenly ran wild again, and, with five earned points in a row, completed his string for the opening game.

The second was never in real doubt, with Dana leading all the way, after Bull had been called against him. Beginning with his sixth service, he scored in every hand, although never more than 2 points at a time. Bull made a belated rally after the score stood 13 to 7 against him, but could not pass the total of 15 before his opponent ran out.

The third game was even more one-sided. Dana had his rival in trouble at the start when he hit the telltale off service twice in succession. A service ace helped his score and by the ninth point he was leading, 10 to 3. Bull picked up three more scattered points, but could not prevent the completion of the game in Dana's favor at 15—6.

Begins Uphill Fight.

Seemingly beaten, however, the veteran began to hit savagely in the fourth session, letting out more and more of his speed as his opponent's shots began in the slightest degree to weaken. Bull scored in the first four hands, and added eight more points in the seventh, eighth, and ninth, for a total of 13, Dana having meanwhile tallied only four times. The Harvard man, however, braced strongly toward the close of the game, gathering seven aces while Bull was making the two necessary to win.

With the match all square, both players went at it with more determination than ever, and again for a time Dana looked like the better man. He scored in the opening hand and then ran 4 in a row, increasing his lead to 7—1 in his fourth hand in. Both tallied twice on their next chances, then went blank for a hand, after which Bull began his pull-up with a spectacular run of 5. He added another on his next service, Dana repiying in kind, this being the loser's only score in nine successive hands.

Meanwhile Bull earned another point, and then another, which tied the score at 10 each. Excitement ran high as Bull continued steadily to score, another pair giving him an even dozen, and two more bringing him within a point of the match, Then Dana, in a final desperate effort, drove out three tallies, and tied it up with another in the next hand.

Two wonderful recoveries by Bull resulted in his taking two of the necessary three points in his first service of the extra session. Then he blanked his opponent, and after a long rally drove one hard at the front wall, which bounded directly back at Dana, hitting him in the body before he could get his racquet on the ball. It was a sensational finish to an unusually good tournament.

The summary, score by points, and analysis of scoring shots follow:

Springs Surprise of Princeton Club Tourney by Beating Mixsell.

H. D. Harvey sprang the surprise of the Princeton Club handicap squash tennis tournament yesterday afternoon when he gained a semi-final bracket by defeating Dr. H. R. Mixsell in three games, scored at 11—15, 15—8, and 15—0.

The winner had the advantage of four aces' handicap in each game, the hard-hitting doctor playing from scratch, but even so he was hard pressed to win his spectacular victory. Mixsell took the opener by simply murdering the ball, allowing his opponent to score only seven times beyond his handicap allowance. But this effort seemed to take much of his strength, and by keeping him on the run in the second and third sessions Harvey managed eventually to drive him into purely defensive tactics.

In the other match of the day J. R. Greenwood with a handicap of 6 aces defeated R. Sealy, whose allowance was two more, the scores being 15—10 and 15—8. Greenwood will play Harvey in the semi-finals today, while Leonard Beekman and E. C. Olds paired on the other side of the draw.

YANKEES TO TRAIN AT JACKSONVILLE

Harry Sparrow Announces Miller Huggins Will Take Club to Florida Again.

Secretary Harry Sparrow of the Yankees announced yesterday that it had been practically decided that Manager Huggins would take the New York club to Jacksonville again next Spring to train. The club has been considering offers from California and other places, but none of the places suggested offer the training conditions which were found at the Florida city last Spring.

It is expected that the players will go South earlier than last season, and Manager Huggins will probably order the pitchers and catchers to report some time in February.

The Yankees have made no arrangements thus far for exhibition games in the South. Last year they played a number of games with Brooklyn, the Dodgers training in the same city. The Cincinnati Reds will train in Miami, and the Yankees may arrange a series of exhibition games with the world's champions.

The Reds had practically decided to train again at Waxahachie, Texas, but the offers from Miami were so flattering that Frank Bancroft, business manager of the Reds, is now at the Florida resort, and yesterday completed arrangements to train there.

As the annual baseball meetings approach the rumors of big trades are being revived, and the latest is that Manager McGraw is trying to engineer a three-cornered trade with Cincinnati and St. Louis. The Reds would like to get an experienced outfielder, for they have asked for waivers on Magee and want a new seasoned outgardener in case Duncan should not fill the bill during the championship season next Summer.

Last August President Herrmann of the Reds offered St. Louis $25,000 for outfielder McHenry, but the offer was refused. Pat Moran, it is said, is anxious to get outfielder Smith from the Cardinals if he cannot get McHenry.

Manager McGraw, it is stated, is casting longing eyes on pitcher Jimmy Ring and, if the Reds are willing to part with him in order to strengthen their outfield for next season, the Cards would take Ring and use him in a big swap with New York which would involve Hornsby and several New York players, including Benny Kauff. McGraw has for several seasons now been trying to engineer a deal for Hornsby, and as he will need him worse than ever next season, it is stated that he is willing to make a big sacrifice to land the Cardinal star.

McGraw is now in Cuba, but expects to get back for the league meeting on Dec. 9, when it is expected that some big deal may be negotiated.

CONCANNON BREAKS EVEN.

Wins and Loses in Pocket Billiard Games with George Clark.

Joe Concannon and George Clark, the local professionals, split even in the first two blocks of their 1,200-point exhibition pocket billiard match at Maurice Daly's Academy yesterday. In the afternoon Concannon took Clark's measure by a score of 100 to 23. In the evening Clark turned the tables and won 100 to 86.

In the two matches the players showed the extremes of form. Concannon, who is the New York State champion, played in true championship style in the first block and Clark did not have a chance.

OLD LEADERS AGAIN NAMED BY GOLFERS

Sullivan Is Once More Slated for President of Metropolitan Association.

Cornelius J. Sullivan of the Garden City Golf Club will again direct the affairs of the Metropolitan Golf Association for next year, according to the selections made by the Nominating Committee and announced yesterday. Sullivan again heads the list of officers and the season of 1920 will be his third as President.

The membership of the Executive Committee only will be changed on Dec. 10, when the delegates from clubs of the M. G. A. meet at the Hotel Knickerbocker for their annual assembly. According to the deliberations of the Nominating Committee, E. Mortimer Barnes of the Nassau Country Club will again act as Vice President, A. H. Pogson of the Fox Hills Golf Club will continue his efficient work as Secretary, and George H. Barnes of the Apawamis Club will once more discharge the duties of Treasurer.

It had been understood for some weeks that the same pilots would be at the helm for another year. Each of the four officers assumed his duties, with the election in 1917, for the golfing years of 1918 and 1919, but since the activities of the M. G. A. were lessened to so great an extent by the war it was felt that each should have another term.

In addition to the officers there will be two holdovers on the Executive Committee. James T. Soutter of the Greenwich Country Club and Charles H. Brown of the St. Andrew's Golf Club have been renominated. The newcomers will be G. Owen Winston of the Somerset Hills Golf Club, Henry V. Gaines of the Wykagyl Golf Club, and Charles Henry Mellon of the Morris County Golf Club. They succeed James A. Tyng of the National Links, Wilson S. Kinnear of Sleepy Hollow, and Walter Brown of Montclair. The nominating Committee, which made the selections, is composed of Mortimer N. Buckner, Treasurer of the United States Golf Association, as Chairman, and Paul Moore and Lee W. Maxwell.

The annual meeting of the M. G. A. has been called for Tuesday evening, Dec. 10, at 8:30 o'clock. Each member club is entitled to representation by two voting delegates, but all members of clubs in the association have been invited to attend.

Matters of more than ordinary importance for New York golfers will be presented. One proposal seeks to limit the entry list for the Metropolitan amateur and open championships to the really leading golfers and, doubtless, a motion will be made to restrict the eligible competitors to those linksmen with a handicap rating of 9 or 10 or lower. The limit for competition in the open title tourney may be set as low as 5 or 6. With the growth of the M. G. A., which now has more than ninety member clubs, it has been found that the championships have become too large, because of the entrance of golfers who are only fair players and who cannot engage such district leaders as Oswald Kirkby, A. L. Walker, Jr., Gardiner W. White and others.

NADHERNY TIED FOR LEAD.

Defeats Mayo in Metropolitan Class C Balkline Billiard Tourney.

By defeating M. Mayo in last night's game at Fuller's Academy in the American Amateur Billiard Association Class C 18.2 balkline tournament for the metropolitan championship, E. V. Nadherny advanced to a tie for first place with J. A. Lange. Nadherny continued to play the same fine billiards that has featured his work in this tourney since the start. He won by a score of 200 to 176.

PALEY WINS AT SNOOKER.

Upsets Predictions in Title Tourney by Defeating Downs, 125 to 103.

A decided surprise was sprung in the American Amateur Billiard Association's championship snooker pool tournament at John Doyle's Academy last night. Willie Downs, who, following the defeats of Bill Wathey and George Barton, was favored to win the title, was defeated by Louis Paley. The score was 125 to 103. Paley was regarded as one of the weaker players of the tourney, and his victory upset the dope considerably. The result of this game makes the event an open affair.

While it is true that Downs encountered some hard luck in the four frames the game consumed, it is equally true that Paley played excellent snooker pool and frequently snookered his opponent, causing Downs to scratch and lose 7 points each time.

In the pocket billiard tournament Sid Kirby, the present amateur champion, added another victory to his list by winning from William Copeland, 50 to 20. The winner made a high run of 16. He took the lead early in the match, and held it to the end. Only two more frames remain to be played in this event. Should Crane defeat George Barton in the final match on Wednesday night, he would be the winner of the tourney. If Crane is defeated, a four-handed tie for first place will result.

UPSET IN BILLIARD MATCH.

Robert Steinbugler Loses to Brussel in Brooklyn, 150 to 73.

Robert Steinbugler slumped in his billiard playing at the National Recreation Academy in Brooklyn last night and lost the lead in the tournament for the Metropolitan Class C 18.2 balkline championship of the National Association of Amateur Billiard Players. He was beaten by Sidney Brussel, by a score of 150 to 73, and, as a result, a triple tie exists for the lead, with Robert Steinbugler, his cousin, Charley Steinbugler, and Sidney Brussel on even terms.

Steinbugler's showing was a big surprise. It was the first game he had lost in the tourney. He mislaid his stroke and never could get going. In measure his poor showing may be attributed to the fact that, while he was waiting for Brussel to show up, he engaged in a three-cushion match. This undoubtedly injured his balkline stroke. Brussel averaged 4 28-32 and had a high run of 21. Steinbugler averaged 2 11-41, and his best run was a cluster of 13.

A special match game will be played at the National tonight. Charley Peterson, the St. Louis cue expert, who refereed all of the games in the National Balkline Tournament and the Championship Pocket Billiard Tournament, will play a 250-point match at 18.2 balkline against Morris D. Brown, the amateur champion.

ADOPT PLANS FOR TITLE BOUTS HERE

Metropolitan A. A. U. Boxing Committee to Distribute 7,500 Tickets for Tourney

A total of 7,500 tickets will be distributed for the New York State amateur championship boxing tournament which will be held under the joint auspices of the Metropolitan A. A. U. and the 71st Regiment Athletic Association at the 71st Regiment Armory on Jan. 9 and 10. This was decided last night at a meeting of the Metropolitan A. A. U. Boxing Championship Committee, of which John J. Walsh of the Pastime A. C. is President. The committee also agreed on the style of entry blank which will be sent to the various clubs supporting boxing teams and the order in which the title contests will be conducted. In regard to the latter there will be no departure from the established custom of previous years. The bouts will be held commencing with the 108-pound class and proceeding through the 115, 125, 135, 145, 158, 175 pound and heavyweight divisions.

With the tremendous interest in boxing shown by New Yorkers, officials of the A. A. U. are expecting record breaking crowds at the coming tournament. According to the plans adopted, tickets will not be placed on sale at the Armory on the night of the bout, but will be distributed among the more than 130 clubs holding membership in the A. A. U., to be disposed of among the club members and their friends. This plan, in addition to placing the pasteboards within the reach of every A. A. U. club member in the State, is also expected to stimulate interest in the activities of the clubs distributing the tickets.

Joe Lynch Outpoints Wolfe.

Martin May Meet Winner.

COOGAN IS KNOCKED OUT.

Floored Twice by Burns, Then Goes Down Without Being Hit.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 24. — Finley Mitchell, Milwaukee lightweight boxer, technically scored a knockout over Mel Coogan Brooklyn, in the first session of a ten-round no-decision bout tonight. The referee did not halt the proceedings. Coogan went to the mat the first time for a count of two and the second time for nine seconds. On the second count Coogan rose to his feet at the count of three, but immediately went down again without being hit.

They met the various road and operating requirements of 48 owners in many different businesses in many different cities.

No. 10 began service as a demonstrator for the Pierce-Arrow agent in New York. As the first worm gear truck in New York, it was subjected to the most difficult tests to which a truck could be put. In its second year it was bought by Lanigan Bros., sand and gravel contractors, and since has served them, running an aggregate of close to 200,000 miles.

WHY PIERCE-ARROW?

1. Delivers more work in a given time.
2. Loses less time on the job and off the job.
3. Costs less to operate and less to maintain.
4. Lasts longer, depreciates less and commands a higher resale price at all times.

DANIELS REVIEWS MINE SWEEP FLEET

59 SHIPS WELCOMED HOME

Speedy Discharge Promised to Heroes of Post-War Service at Ceremony on Hudson.

Some of the nation's hitherto most inconspicuous war heroes had their innings yesterday. These were the officers and men of the United States Navy's mine sweeping force, assembled here after the successful completion of their dangerous task of making the North Sea once more safe, to hear the city, the State, and the navy say "Thanks, and well done," and to cheer themselves hoarse at Secretary Daniels's promise that they are going home "toute de suite."

These veterans of a post-war service more hazardous than anything the navy undertook during the actual conflict, doubtless knew that in undoing their death trap of 57,000 mines, laid over an area 250 miles long—a trap which did so much to end the submarine menace and break the morale of the German Navy—they had done a man's job in traditional navy style.

They knew, too, that working away off there, with the prospect of sudden death from an exploded mine ever staring them in the eyes, and without any of the martial glories that go to inspire fighting men, that little had been heard of them over here.

So they may have been a little surprised to learn that during the last few days, while the fifty-nine vessels of their fleet had been quietly dropping anchor in the harbor preparatory to demobilization, something of the skill and the devotion and the heroism of their task had been filtering through.

Certain it is that yesterday, whether they were at the official review of their number by Secretary Daniels or the big luncheon given to the enlisted men by the Knights of Columbus or the theatre party for another happy lot of "gobs" at the Hippodrome last night, or at the smaller functions, they had ample evidence that the country was proud of them.

There was scarcely a vessel among the lot of sweepers and trawlers that could not point with pride to the service stripes on its funnel and the record of its log to show those stripes were not earned in idleness or vain parade. Nearly all, at one time or another, had come into sudden and painful contact with one of those deadly mines. Eleven men and several vessels of the original fleet, indeed, had paid the full toll of their dangerous work.

Fifty-nine Craft in All.

In an irregular double lane the fifty-nine dull gray vessels were lined up in the Hudson from a point opposite Grant's Tomb almost to 100th Street when Secretary Daniels and his party boarded the destroyer Meredith at 10 o'clock to review them. Every one of them looked trim and clean and "dolled up," despite the strange gear that cluttered their decks and the long homeward bound pennants that whipped about like animate tenacles.

With the Secretary were Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss, who commands the force; Rear Admirals H. B. Wilson and J. R. Glennon, Lieut.-Gov. Harry Walker, with Captain D. Walker Wear, the Governor's acting military secretary, and Captain W. R. Fearn, a group of junior officers, and aids.

As the Meredith steamed out to the waiting fleet Admiral Strauss's flagship, the Black Hawk, fired the Secretary's salute of nineteen guns. Mr. Daniels lifted his hat in acknowledgment and the review was on.

Each ship in the long lane was dressed as the destroyer approached, the officers and men lining the sides springing first to "attention," and then to "salute," while detachments of Marines on some of them presented arms and those within hearing trumpted the four flourishes in honor of the civilian head of the service.

Less imposing, perhaps, than the review of some great fleet of first-line craft, the business-like look of the assorted ships, the record of service behind them, the relief that so many were back unharmed, stirred the imagination of the watchers and enabled them to vision scenes in that faraway sea where these same ships had battled months against the treachery of high explosives superimposed upon all the hazards of ordinary service.

Along Riverside Drive and even over on the New Jersey heights, many braved the brisk morning to watch the ceremony, and to add wavings that just could be distinguished and cheers that could not be heard. The review lasted more than an hour, during which the Secretary and his party stuck to the chill bridge, the civilians baring their heads in acknowledgment of the salute of each vessel. When the end of the line was reached, the Meredith put back to Ninety-sixth Street.

List of Sweeper Fleet.

These were the vessels reviewed, with their commanding officers:

Secretary Daniels and his aids then went to the Heron, where officers showed the visitors some of the gear used in sweeping up and exploding mines. That over, all hands were mustered aft, and Mr. Daniels called Pharmacist's Mate Ray I. Messanelli. When Messanelli had answered "Aye, aye, sir," the Secretary read to him a citation by the French Government for extraordinary gallantry and devotion to duty at Château-Thierry, where he was attached to the 5th United States Marines. His comrades cheered, while Mr. Daniels pinned to his breast the Croix de Guerre. Messanelli also was cited by General Pershing for bravery at Château-Thierry.

From the Heron the official party went to the Columbia, where there was an informal reception at which officers of the fleet and their wives were present.

MINE SWEEPERS AT FEAST.

Daniels and "Gobs" Eat at Same Table at Luncheon.

About 1,500 enlisted men of the Navy's Mine Sweeping Force were entertained by the Knights of Columbus at luncheon at the Hotel Astor yesterday as part of the celebration of the fleet's return after sweeping the North Sea clear of the anti-submarine mine barrage.

Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, with Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss and a few other officers, sat at an inconspicuous table with a number of enlisted men, the Secretary having requested that no dais be provided for him, and that he be allowed to dine with the men who were being honored. The band from the battleship Pennsylvania, flagship of the Atlantic Fleet, played during the luncheon, for which the K. of C. men had provided what the Secretary described as "some chow."

Some of the guests were late in arriving owing to the difficulty in transporting them ashore, and during a wait of nearly an hour those at the tables sat quietly chatting, refusing to touch the food or even the cigarettes and cigars which, with a souvenir match holder, had been placed beside each plate by a K. of C. secretary.

If it hadn't been for the monkey the luncheon would have been a perfect affair. But the monkey was there, dressed in a "gob's" uniform, and so was Miss Kitty Gaston, the K. of C. worker, who presented a bouquet to General Pershing during the parade of the 1st Division, and who was kissed by him in return, and who liked it. And now Miss Dalton is convinced that the army is very much nicer than the navy because the monkey—one Jocko, mascot of the Black Hawk—got a pat on the head instead of a bouquet, and bit the cureseer in return. The tiny wound in her finger was cauterized, Jocko was called "Bad monkey," and sent below in disgrace, and the luncheon continued.

Moving pictures of a German submarine sinking British freighters, taken by a German officer for the German Navy's archives and "borrowed" by a K. of C. secretary in Berlin, were shown. They depicted vividly the harrowing experiences of the merchantmen and the last struggles of the captain and mate of one ship who refused rescue and remained on the bridge until the ship sank. A part of the picture showed a moving death-struggle of a steel freighter which went down by the head under German shelling, then slowly and painfully corkscrewed to the bottom.

Supreme Grand Knight James Flaherty of Philadelphia, who presided, introduced the only speaker, Secretary Daniels, who, after promising the men they would be allowed to go home "tout de suite," advised them to telegraph directly to him if their officers didn't release them. He then added:

"Returning home from honorable and arduous service abroad, the officers and men of the mine fleet received a greeting as hearty and enthusiastic as could be accorded victorious men of war. For you are victors—victors over difficulty and danger, over the hidden menace of the deep which ever threatens the mineship.

"The men who laid that great barrage across the North Sea were victors, for no single operation did more to conquer the German U-boats and end their campaign of lawless murder and destruction. The men who swept up those thousands of mines faced unseen danger every moment and risked their lives to remove this line of death, and render the sea once more safe for peaceful navigation.

"This barrage was a most important feature in naval strategy. Chasing the elusive submarine had proved only a partial success. The convoy system was a great improvement, reducing materially the number of sinkings, and as our destroyers and other forces increased, more enemy submarines were sunk.

"When the British drove the cork in the stopper at Zeebrugge and Ostend, when our Northern Bombing Squadron and the British aviators were dropping tons of bombs on Bruges, Zeebrugge, and Ostend, and they had to abandon their bases in Belgium the U-boats had but one passage left, that through the North Sea. It was the northern barrage which closed this door and made U-boat success impossible.

"Dodging destroyers, when the U-boat could duck out of sight instantly, had an element of sport in it. But when the Germans had to face an unseen foe, when death lurked in every foot of that 230-mile stretch from Scotland to Norway, and the stealthy seawolves might at any moment run into a mine that would blow them to kingdom come, they lost their nerve.

"Hazardous as was the laying of the mines, even more dangerous was the task of sweeping them up—and until this was accomplished our work was but half done. Thousands had been laid at great depths, and to remove them new methods were required.

"A big task splendidly performed in the face of constant danger, Admiral Strauss and every officer and man of the mine force deserve the highest praise, and I am here today to assure you and your comrades that not only the navy, but the entire country, appreciates and applauds your service. In the name of the nation, I thank you, and all those who had a part in this great work."

After the speech the sailors were entertained by stagefolk brought to them by the Lambs Club.

In the evening Secretary Daniels and Admiral Strauss were guests at a dinner at the Astor given by officers of the Mine Sweeping Force. A token of the officers' esteem was presented to the commanding officer of the fleet.

Many of the sailors were taken to the Hippodrome, where the officers occupied boxes. In the afternoon some of the sailors were guests at other theatres.

TWO AVIATORS DROWNED.

Naval Plane Falls Into Delaware, Killing Stocker and Thompson.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—Hundreds of passengers on a steamer and on a Pennsylvania Railroad train passing close to the river's edge looked on in horror as a hydroaeroplane, carrying two men and flying at an altitude of fifty feet, suddenly reared and plunged with a crash into the waters of the Delaware River a mile below Penn's Grove, N. J., this afternoon. Lieutenant Robert M. Stocker, a naval test pilot at League Island, and Fred Thompson, a civilian Inspector in the Naval Aircraft Service, occupants of the plane, were drowned.

Two airmen on another hydroaeroplane and a boatload of men put out by the steamer City of Chester reached the spot just as the waters closed over the first plane and its occupants. Efforts to rescue the men were futile. It is believed that the engine of the disabled plane became loosened and descended upon the aviators.

Soon afterward the hydroaeroplane floated to the surface, but without trace of the two occupants. The wrecked machine was picked up by the City of Chester and was later placed on board a navy craft which had been sent from the navy yard to help recover the bodies. At a late hour tonight the bodies had not been recovered.

Lieutenant Stocker, who piloted the machine, was one of the most skillful fliers in the navy. He distinguished himself during the war in naval air raids against the enemy in the North Sea. He was a son of Captain Robert Stocker, a naval constructor.

PREPARE FOR ARBITRATION

Employers' and Workers' Councils Meet to Lay Plans for Final Agreement.

A majority of the members of Typographical Union No. 6 who were out on "vacations" went back to work yesterday, in conformity with the vote taken by Big Six and in obedience to the mandate issued by their international officers, and the remnant who met in Webster Hall in the afternoon to protest against the mandate decided in the end to return to work today. The employing printers reported that in many cases the men were returning in such large numbers that they were having difficulty in arranging work for them to do. In many cases the normal force of pressmen was at work. Pressmen's Union No. 51 will hold a referendum vote today at Beethoven Hall to decide whether the members shall reaffiliate with the International Printing Pressmen's Union.

At the opening of the meeting held by the "vacationists" yesterday there were 650 men in the hall, but before the close they had dwindled to about 300. Although the meeting was originally called to protest against the mandate of the international officers, it was turned into an opportunity to condemn the tactics of Leon H. Rouse, the President of Big Six. Speaker after speaker expressed the feeling that the men had been led up to the crucial point and then had been deserted. Every one made it clear that he was unwilling to go back to work, but they felt that they had been beaten and that there was nothing else to do.

A resolution was passed authorizing the appointment of a committee to write the history of the fight and place the blame for the outcome where it belonged. The purpose, the men said, was to show that they were not Bolsheviki, that they followed their leaders, and had acted in good faith throughout. Another resolution provided that it the responsibility for defeat proved to rest at the feet of the Big Six leaders a caucus should be started for their replacement at the next election of officers. Rouse was again and again called a "quitter."

The Labor Committee of the Printers League Section of the Association of Employing Printers met the members of the Executive Council yesterday to discuss the problem of putting all the men to work again and to lay the preliminaries for arbitration of the demand of the men for the forty-four-hour week and the increase in wages. Those who return to work now will work under the old forty-eight-hour week and will receive a $6 raise, or $42 a week.

In an official statement issued jointly by the officers of local unions affiliated with the Printing Trades Council, it was stated that on the resumption of work all pressmen who had been loyal to the international union would be protected in their positions, and that discharges of those men would not be permitted upon the return of men who had gone out during the secession dispute. It was stated that such a demand for dismissal had been made in one shop by men who had been discontents but had returned with International sanction. It was stated that where compositors returned to work it would be necessary for the employers to obtain international union members for their pressrooms, as no men would be taken on who did not hold such cards.

UNSEAT UNION OFFICERS.

Machinists Overthrow Old Regime at District Council Election.

Present officers of the District Council of the International Association of Machinists were overthrown and "progressive candidates" elected in balloting at headquarters, 116 Nassau Street, Sunday. Nearly 5,000 of the 20,000 members voted. The result was announced last evening, when the count was completed.

J. H. Wild was elected President, receiving 3,068 votes as against 1,885 votes for J. P. Coughlin, who was supported by the conservative element. Forrest Metzgow, who had been President for two years, did not stand for re-election. J. Newmeyer defeated A. Gantz, incumbent, for Vice President, and F. Farkas defeated E. O. Dixon, incumbent, for Secretary and Treasurer. V. Bauson, R. Monks, F. Rzewalski, P. Mineto and W. Kelly were elected business agents, and P. Mueller, H. Kaufman, and F. Waidelich Trustees. R. Poppleson won over J. Mayers for sentinel.

The reason for the overthrow of the old regime, the "progressive" members said, was the failure of the present officers to push the work of organization. It was asserted that instead of 20,000 members the association should have 50,000 or 60,000 in the New York district. They denied the recent failure of the strike in the shipyards had any influence in the election.

DARING RESCUE FROM FIRE.

Patrolman Scales Wall and Carries Maid to Safety Through Window.

Two persons were rescued yesterday afternoon from a fire which swept through the upper floors of a four-story business and apartment house at 38 West Fifty-seventh Street.

Herbert Haller, a milliner, whose shop is next door, saw the flames issuing from a window on the fourth floor. He recalled that Miss Edith Robe, owner of the building, who has a millinery shop on the ground floor, was in bed awaiting an operation for appendicitis. He ran into the building and carried her in the street, collapsing as he reached the sidewalk.

Patrolmen McCarthy and Jarcaronsky noticed Katharine Baker, Miss Robe's trained maid, standing on a ledge below the fourth floor window preparing to jump to the street. They warned her to stay where she was and McCarthy lifted Jarcaronsky to the first floor cornice, from which he scaled the wall of the building. On the way he kicked out the window on the third floor. He carried the maid through the window and down the stairway to the street. Meanwhile McCarthy had gone to the second floor and had been overcome by smoke. He was assisted to the street by another patrolman.

SMITH JOINS COUNCILS.

Governor Is First to Enroll in Campaign to Solve Milk Problem.

The Governor's Fair Price Milk Committee will meet at the City Hall at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon to continue its inquiry into the milk situation.

The Community Councils of National Defense, under whose auspices an organized protest against the high cost of milk to the consumer was made, culminated Sunday night in a mass meeting at the Hotel Biltmore, yesterday began a city-wide drive to enroll new members. The organization purposes to back up Governor Smith in whatever action he proposes as a solution of the high price of milk. Governor Smith, who addressed the meeting Sunday night, was the first to join the organization yesterday morning. Mrs. Frank A. Vanderlip and Mrs. Charles C. Rumsey are among those who have accepted Chairmanships on some of the committees of the Community Councils.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The Canadian Northwest disturbance of Sunday night is central tonight over the Lower Missouri Valley, and is followed by a general and decided rise in pressure to the northward, accompanied by strong north winds, snow and a cold wave that tonight extends into North Dakota. There were slight snowfalls in the North Upper Lake Region but no other precipitation of consequence, except in the Northwestern States. The Atlantic States temperatures are generally higher and above the seasonal average.

The Central West disturbance will probably move east northeastward Tuesday, extended by rains in the south and lower lake and west lower lakes region, and knew in the north upper lake region. And by Wednesday the rain will reach the Middle Atlantic and New England States, with snow in the westward through the lake region. In the Ohio Valley and the South the weather will be fair Tuesday and Wednesday except in the Ohio Valley, where rain is possible, turning to snow by night. It will be much colder Tuesday night in the upper lake region, with a cold wave and colder Wednesday in the Ohio Valley, Tennessee, and the lower lake region.

Winds: North of Sandy Hook, moderate westerly winds, becoming variable, fair weather; Sandy Hook to Hatteras, gentle to moderate shifting winds, fair weather; Hatteras to Florida Straits, gentle shifting winds, fair weather; East Gulf Coast, gentle variable winds over south portion, moderate, becoming southern, northern portion fair weather; West Gulf Coast, moderate southeast and south winds, partly cloudy weather. The disturbance over low-r Mississippi Valley will probably move east, northeast.

FORECAST: TODAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Eastern New York—Fair Tuesday. Wednesday, rain.

New Jersey—Fair Tuesday. Wednesday, increasing cloudiness, rain by night.

New England—Fair Tuesday. Wednesday, increasing cloudiness, followed by rain.

Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair Tuesday. Wednesday, rain in north and west portions and by night in south portion.

Western New York—Fair in southeast, cloudy in north and west portions, Tuesday; rain by night and on Wednesday, probably turning to snow Wednesday in west portion; colder Wednesday night.

Western Pennsylvania—Increasing cloudiness Tuesday; warmer; rain by night, possibly turning to snow Wednesday; colder by Wednesday night.

TO ASK MANDAMUS AGAINST ZONE FARES

Service Board Will Take Flatbush Case to Court After a Day of Disorder.

PROSECUTOR MAY ALSO ACT

District Attorney Says Rebate Checks Do Not Affect Violation of Nixon's Order.

The efforts of the Brooklyn City Railroad Company to collect second fares on the Flatbush Avenue line at Foster Avenue yesterday contrary to the order of Public Service Commissioner Nixon resulted in so much turmoil that the police from four precincts were called, and so many cars were delayed at the second fare point that schedules were abandoned. Eight persons were arrested, seven of them company employes, charged with assaulting passengers.

Relief was forecast yesterday by Terence Farley, counsel for the Public Service Commission, who began the preparation of papers in a mandamus proceeding to compel the company to obey the order of Commissioner Nixon.

Disorder began in the early morning when conductors attempted to collect second fares and offered rebate tickets calling for return of the money if the courts should hold that the company's action was illegal. The trouble continued at intervals during the day and reached its height at night, when the home-going crowds filled the cars to overflowing.

The first person arrested was Charles Gongonagle, an inspector. The complainant was Frank R. Rodgers of 1,229 East Thirty-seventh Street, whose lip was split in a melée while inspectors were trying to eject Rodgers's father, Walter I. Rodgers, from a car after he had refused to pay the second fare. Inspectors Michael J. Buckley of 3,315 Avenue I and J. F. Graham of 84 Erasmus Street were arrested by Fred C. Podeyn of 3,837 Avenue M. Mr. Podeyn is a member of the Flatlands Civic Association. His face was bruised when he refused to pay a second fare.

The police maintained neutrality and contented themselves with keeping order. Passengers were ejected from the cars by the employes of the line, and as each was ejected the police gave him an opportunity to have the employe arrested. Where such arrests were made a policeman was detailed to escort the prisoner and the complainant to the police station. In the evening Inspector Buckley was arrested the second time, charged with assault by Louis E. Nieman of 1,062 East Thirty-eighth Street, an official of the Flatlands Civic Association. Inspector Ernest Siegel of 1,729 Seventy-fourth Street was arrested on complaint of Arthur Wennerstrof, a customs inspector living at 1,522 Brooklyn Avenue. Motorman Frank Monarch, 3,208 Snyder Avenue, was accused of assault by Allyn Crumm, 2,003 Avenue X, President of the Thirty-second Ward Taxpayers' Association. Inspector John Cavanaugh, 1,571 Flatbush Avenue, was held on complaint of Ambrose Andrar of 125 Amerfort Place, and Starter Robert H. Comminsky, 799 Flatbush Avenue, was alleged to have assaulted Herman Speth, 1,200 Nostrand Avenue. The only passenger arrested was a youth of small stature, Lewis McBride of 635 East Thirty-third Street, who, Inspector Buckley said, punched him in the jaw.

All the prisoners were taken before Magistrate Geismar in the Flatbush Avenue Court and held for further examination.

Arthur Wilmott, Secretary of the Flatbush Property Owners Association, asked District Attorney Lewis to proceed against the railroad company for violating the order of the Public Service Commission. After a conference with Mr. Lewis Mr. Wilmott went to the office of the commission to obtain proof of the service of the order. He learned that the order had been served only on E. E. Watson, Secretary of the company. Mr. Lewis then requested the commission to serve the order on as many of the officials as possible and also its agents in direct control of the collection of the second fare. When this has been done, if the company still insists on collecting the second fare, Mr. Lewis will submit the matter to the Grand Jury. Refusal to obey an order of the commission is a misdemeanor. District Attorney Lewis said the refund tickets did not relieve the company from prosecution for violation of the order.

H. Hobart Porter, General Manager of the railroad, said the difficulties of the day had not been expected in view of the rebate checks. The company, he said, contemplated no change of policy.

GRANTS TRANSFER PLEAS.

Court Gives Permission to Stop Exchanges on Three Lines.

Federal Judge Mayer yesterday granted the application of counsel for Job E. Hedges, receiver of the New York Railways Company, for authority to cease exchanging transfers with the Fifty-ninth and Grand Street crosstown lines and the west side belt line, operated by the Third Avenue Railway Company. The consent of the Public Service Commission will also be necessary in connection with the Fifty-ninth Street line because there the transfer system was the result of an agreement based upon a division of the fares received.

Permission was also accorded the receiver to suspend operating the car on the Canal Street line which was operated to comply with the provisions of the franchise and which, it was said, cost many times the amount received in fares, and which served no public need.

Craig Hearing Next Tuesday.

The hearing in contempt proceedings against Controller Craig will take place next Tuesday before Federal Judge Mayer. Mr. Craig is to show cause why he should not be punished for contempt because of his comment on Judge Mayer's handling of the traction cases. The comment appeared in a letter sent by the Controller to Public Service Commissioner Lewis Nixon.

Dante League's Fall Meeting.

The Dante League will hold its Fall meeting tomorrow night at the National Arts Club. Professor Christian Gauss of Princeton will preside. Professor C. H. Grandgent of Harvard will lecture on "Dante's Verve."

BURLESON FOR POSTAGE CUT

Favors Bills for One-Cent Rate on Local Letters.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Postmaster General Burleson has approved pending bills to reduce the rate of local first-class letter postage to a penny an ounce. A letter for delivery within the postal limits of the office in which it is mailed would take a one cent stamp instead of a two cent stamp.

Mr. Burleson has advised Congressmen that the present two cent charge on that class of mail exceeds the cost of handling and that he recommends the reduction because he believes the postal service should not be conducted for profits.

The reduction of last July whereby letters went back to the normal rate of two cents and postal cards to one cent, the Postmaster General says, resulted in a large increase in that class of mail, and he believes one cent local letter delivery would not reduce the total postal revenue more than $14,000,000 a year.

No other wall-board could stand this test

Test Upson Board! Prove its superiority

2. Break it! It's nearly twice as strong as other boards.
3. Paint it! One coat on Upson Board does the work of two on other boards.
4. Official Government testing machine shows Upson Board withstands nearly a ton of pressure per square inch.
5. Approved sprinkling machine shows Upson Board has nearly twice the tensile strength of average board.

"UPSON Board makes permanent walls and ceilings. It has well been termed "The most dependable board made in America."

One, two or ten years from the day you cover your walls with Upson Board, you can know they will be flat and smooth as the day they were put up.

Nearly twice as strong and stiff as other boards

The fine, wiry, selected wood fibres in Upson Board are more tightly fabricated and make a stronger, stiffer board than is possible with inferior material or with any other process than the Upson process.

Will not pull away from nails

All buildings have a tendency to settle. When they do, weak, inferior boards pull away from the nails and bulge or sag.

This may be due to improper mixing, buckling of lath, shrinking of timber, settling of building or vibration.

A wall or ceiling of Upson Board is immune to all these troubles.

The most economical board

Because it is so strong and stiff, Upson Board cuts without waste and saves time and labor and breakage in applying.

Because of its fine painting surface, Upson Board usually saves $5 to $15 per thousand feet on painting cost alone.

No matter how you want to use wall board, for covering old or new walls—for any other purpose—insist on Upson Processed Board, the most dependable board made in America.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—To a small and distinguished gathering at Lord Glenconner's residence tonight, Sir Oliver Lodge explained the theory of Einstein, whose predictions were recently partially confirmed by the solar expedition and given to the world by the Astronomer Royal.

So complicated has this revolutionary theory proved that even some of the most learned have been confounded. Sir Oliver gave the foundation of the theory in this way:

"So long as matter is stationary with matter, its motion with respect to the ether produces no sort of optical effect, though this effect has been sought by observers in the last half century. Hence Einstein said 'let us assume that it is impossible to observe motion through the ether, but that the compensation will always be complete and let us work out a physics on that hypothesis. We do not know,' he said, 'whether the earth is moving a thousand miles a second or only an inch an hour. All our attempts to measure such ideas of motion are frustrated by some compensations influences which are embedded in the ether.'

"So in 1905 Einstein virtually said: 'We must assume that we shall never be able to get anything about the motion of matter through the ether, and we can only make deductions from the relativity of other motions of matter.'"

Hence the new physics, declared Sir Oliver, required our co-ordinates, not merely length, breadth, and thickness, but time. Gravity, too, ceases to become a force but becomes a quality in a fourth dimensioned space.

"The death knell of ether has been sounded," he said, "and there come strangely varying properties out of emptiness. Einstein's theory is not dynamical. Euclid becomes incorrect when applied to existing realities. Either there is boundary to space or there is not, but personally I cannot conceive either, though we must assume that one of these theories is right. To my mind, the great achievement of Einstein is his discovery of gravity in its relation to other forces."

Sir Oliver concluded with the prediction that the new physics would dominate all other physics, and that the next generation of mathematical professors would have a terrible time of it, at which there was laughter.

"For university courses and for all purposes of scholastic instruction," he said, "we shall have the Galilean and Newtonian dynamics, but they would reign as a 'limited monarchy,' and, sooner or later, the Einstein physics would influence the intelligent man."

Replying to Dr. Schuster, who voiced the thanks of the company, Sir Oliver said that the younger scientists of today were pursuing Einstein's path with brilliant success.

"Some day," he remarked, "I think that perhaps gravitation will give up its secret, but I must leave all the 'transcendental' methods to the young men."

More Details Made Known.

The observations confirmatory of "the Einstein theory" were made during the total eclipse of the sun on May 29 last, by two British expeditions, one sent to Principe on the west coast of Africa, the other to Sobral, in North Brazil. The results of these observations were communicated to a joint meeting of the Royal Society and the Royal Astronomical Society in London on Nov. 6. Perhaps the clearest and fullest account was supplied by Dr. A. C. Crommelin of the Royal Observatory at Greenwich, who was one of the observers with the Sobral expedition.

Dr. Crommelin said that the purpose of the expeditions was to test whether the light of the stars that are nearly in a line with the sun is bent by gravitation, and if so whether the amount of bending is that indicated by the Newtonian law of gravitation (viz., seven-eighths of a second at the sun's limb), or the amount indicated by the new Einstein theory, which postulates a bending just twice as great. The fact that the new theory explained the anomalous motion of the major axis of Mercury's orbit impressed astronomers with a sense of its truth, and they took advantage of the recent eclipse to test it further. Two cameras were employed by the party at Sobral.

The first had a lens of 4 inches aperture and 20 feet focus; this camera and its coelostat were lent by the Royal Irish Academy. It was with this instrument that the best results were obtained. Great exposures of 25 seconds each were made during the totality of the eclipse; seven of these plates showed seven stars each; one (the sixth exposure) showed no stars, owing to the presence of thin cloud, but gave well-defined images of the chromosphere and prominences of great prominence. Seven exposures of the same star field were made for comparison between July 14 and 18, in the morning sky, the sun being then 45 degrees or more away from it.

The results, reduced to the sun's limb, were 0.86 seconds and 1.04 seconds, respectively. The combined result was 1.98 seconds, with a probable error of about 6 per cent. This was a strong confirmation of Einstein's theory, which gave a shift at the limb of 1.75 seconds. These results from the individual stars were consistent, and incidentally they confirmed the theoretical law that the shift ought to vary inversely as the distance from the sun's centre. If the shift were due to refraction produced by a gaseous envelope round the sun, it would vary according to a less simple law. The second camera used at Sobral was the object-glass of the Greenwich astrographic equatorial, of aperture 13 inches (which was reduced to 8 inches, as it was found to improve the definition), and focal length 21½ feet, mounted in a steel tube, and supplied with light from a 15-inch coelostat. The focus was obtained by photographs of Arcturus. Unfortunately the images secured were not good, evidently owing to the coelostat mirror not being flat, for the quality of the object-glass was known to be very good.

Observations at Principe were much interfered with by clouds; however, five plates were secured on some plates. No comparison plates of the field could be taken here, the observers did not arrive early enough to obtain them before the eclipse, and it was impossible to wait long enough to obtain them after it. The plan adopted was to photograph a check field near Arcturus. Both this field and the eclipse field had been photographed with the same object-glass at Oxford (without using the coelostat) and the Oxford plates enabled the eclipse field to be connected with the check one.

The shift at the sun's limb came out 1.60 seconds, with a probable error of about 0.60 second. It could be seen that the mean of this result and that of the four inch at Sobral exactly agreed with the value predicted by Einstein. The evidence in favor of gravitational bending of light was overwhelming, and there was a decidedly stronger case for the Einstein shift than for the Newtonian one. Though the results were fairly conclusive, the question of the revision of Newton's law of gravitation was one of such fundamental importance that consideration was already being given to the next total eclipse, in September, 1922, visible in Maldive Islands and Australia.

Two of the consequences of Einstein's theory, viz., the motion of Mercury's perihelion, and the bending of light by gravitation, might now be looked on as established (at least with great probability). There was, however, a third predicted consequence, which was the shift of the lines in the spectrum toward the red in a strong gravitational field. The solar field in the sun's limb would be amount of 1-20 of an Angstrom unit, the same as that due to a motion of ⅔ kilometre per second away from us. Dr. St. John had looked for this effect without success. If this failure were taken as final it would mean that parts of Einstein's theory would need revision, but the parts already verified would remain.

The effects on practical astronomy of the verification of Einstein's theory were not very great. It was chiefly in other and more philosophical ways that the change would be felt. Space would no longer be looked on as extending indefinitely in all directions; if they went far enough they would re-enter the same ground. Euclidian straight lines could not exist in Einstein's space. They were all curved, and if they traveled far enough they would regain the starting point. Mr. de Sitter had attempted to find the radius of space. He gave reasons for putting it at about 1,000,000,000 times the distance from the earth to the sun, or about 10,000,000 light-years. This was eighty times the distance assigned by Dr. Shapley to the most distant stellar cluster known. The fourth dimension had been the subject of vague speculation for a long time, but they seemed at last to have been brought face to face with it.

WOULD ALLOW ASTOR TO SURRENDER TITLE

LONDON, Nov. 24.—James Henry Thomas, Labor Member of Parliament, will introduce a bill in the House of Commons next Wednesday to empower the King to accept the surrender of any peerage. The desire of the new Viscount Astor to remain a member of the House of Commons and give up his title is the reason for the Thomas bill.

Leading lawyers express the opinion that it will be impossible to nullify a peerage by legislation, declaring that because, while an individual might be released from his title, his successors have rights to the peerage of which the peer would have no authority to deprive them.

Even if Viscount Astor's eldest son were willing to join his father in a step looking to the relinquishment of his title, it is asserted that the fact that he is a minor further complicates the situation.

Commander of Foundered Steamer Says the McIntosh Refused Him Aid—Crew Still Missing.

PORT ARTHUR, Ontario, Nov. 24.—After floating for twenty hours on top of the pilot house of the steamer Myron, which foundered off White Fish Point, Captain W. R. Neal, commander of the lost vessel, was rescued in an exhausted condition by the steamer W. C. Franz, which arrived here today.

Captain Neal, who is in a serious condition from exposure, declared that another steamer, named the McIntosh, had passed close to him before the Franz appeared and had refused to pick him up, replying to his appeal for help with a promise to send a tug.

Captain Neal was rescued off Farisian Island, twenty miles from the scene of the foundering of the Myron. Captain Jordan, commander of the Franz, at first believed the castaway to be dead as he was unconscious, but noticing a movement of his hand sent a boat to investigate.

Elmira Legion Members Escort Speaker to the Train.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Nov. 24.—William F. Kreves, Socialist lecturer from Chicago, who came here to address a mass meeting in the interest of freeing Eugene V. Debs and Kate Richards O'Hara, found hard going. Refused permission by Mayor Hoffman, a former National Guardsman, to speak in the City Hall, Kreves mustered the local Socialists for an open-air meeting.

Before his plans could mature, members of Harry D. Bentley Post, American Legion, together with former soldiers, sought out the visiting lecturer and offered to escort him in safety to the Erie Railroad station. After some parley, in which Socialist candidates at the recent election took part, the offer of the soldiers was accepted and a possible outbreak averted.

ROME, Nov. 24.—"I am sure d'Annunzio had already planned his expedition to Zara when I was in Fiume," said Mrs. John Adams Drake of New York, President of the American Free Milk Relief for Italy, speaking to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent. "He was insistent that I should prolong my visit, and I now believe that he meant me still to be there when Zara was taken."

What Mrs. Drake says is especially interesting, as she was the last American to leave Fiume before the Zara escapade.

"After incalculable trouble," she says, "and innumerable visés to our passports, we at last—the Misses Boyce and Thompson of New York; the Duchess de Chaulnes, Captain Piero Tozzi, and myself—started on our way to Fiume. Our motor was stopped at least twenty-five times by carabinieri to make sure that we were really provided with all the necessary passes. When we arrived at Abbazia all our belongings were examined by the troops who remained on the side of the Government. Not three yards further on we were again stopped, this time by d'Annunzio's outposts, and had again to go through the identical examination. I laughingly suggested that the two groups of soldiers should join forces, but was solemnly told that it was impossible.

"We arrived at Fiume at 11:30 in the morning and were received by d'Annunzio, Rizzo and General Ceccarini on the steps of the Municipal Palace. The poet made a deep impression on me. He seemed like a being transfigured by a great purpose. Whatever he has done in his past life, he has now found himself. He looked deadly pale and very weary, but what struck me very strongly were the quick movements of his body, full of dormant energy.

"We had a very cordial conversation, in which he talked on many subjects—seldom of politics. He did, however, lightly touch on Wilson and Nitti, but always respectfully, with no sign of anger.

"Fiume was looking gay and festive. The streets were filled with people, as it was election day. Cheers and applause were frequent. I noticed many Croatians among those who cheered. I took great pains to ask all the people I came across, especially in the shops, whether they were satisfied under the present rule. I visited a hospital, and was well pleased with the care which was being taken of poor people. I assigned to them seven tons of milk, which will last them three months.

Hearty Cheers for America.

"D'Annunzio gave a reception and banquet in our honor. About forty-five people were asked to dinner. Twice during the repast the poet was called out on the balcony by the impatient people below, who demanded a speech. The square and all the streets leading into it were black with people—at least 10,000 of them. The commander made a beautiful speech in that wonderfully resonant voice of his. He referred to the American delegation which had come from far away to succor the little children of Fiume. A pause ensued; then deafening, ear-splitting shouts of "Viva America!" rent the air, lasting at least five minutes. We were all deeply moved at this manifestation of sympathy for our country.

"On sitting down to dinner d'Annunzio presented me with a sheet of parchment on which was written in his own handwriting:

"'For Mrs. John Adams Drake. You were an enormous mass made dull by power and riches. Behold, you are transfigured, transformed into ardent, active spirituality. You are become a race "of storm and passion," ready for the fight, erect in the face of a future greater than your whole past. "O Liberty! Let others despair of you, but I will never despair," is the cry of your own lion-hearted poet.

"'GABRIELE D'ANNUNZIO.'

"On my other side sat Rizzo, the hero of the sinking of the Austrian dreadnought and commander of the Fiume fleet. He very realistically explained to me how the population had mined the town from one end to the other in order that it might be destroyed at a moment's notice. I felt quite nervous lest we might all be blown to pieces.

"D'Annunzio explained to those present the origin of his aviation cry 'Eja Alala!' 'Eja' was the old Italian war-cry mentioned in the Sixth Book of the Aeneid. 'Alala' was the war-cry used by the Greeks during the siege of Troy.

Hardly had the commander ceased speaking when a woman from Spalato, dressed in mourning, with a plain but eloquent face, started in a trembling voice to plead for her native town. Raising imploring hands, she begged the commander not to forsake them, not to leave them at the mercy of their enemies, to have pity on those Italians who had undergone terrible suffering to keep their nationality. She started crying 'Eja!' but the 'Alala!' ended in pitiful sobs. Not an eye was dry at the end of her appeal.

Decorations for Mrs. Drake.

"Before I left on my homeward journey d'Annunzio pinned a gold medal of Fiume on my breast, saying that he wished me always to wear it with the Italian Red Cross medal I have; it would bring me luck. Rizzo tore from his sleeve the insignia of the Arditi, a dagger surrounded with laurel leaves, and presented it to me, thus making me an American Ardita. The night was well advanced when we all started on our return journey."

When asked what she had arranged for with regard to the poor children in Rome, Mrs. Drake said: "Mayor Apolloni has most kindly put at my disposal the Vignola. (The Vignola is a jewel of a villa designed by the famous architect Vignola in the seventeenth century and is the only surviving example of his domestic architecture.) I shall set up a clinic and dispensary there. John Gray, of Chicago, who is now seeing to the final disposal of what remains of the American Red Cross material, has promised to help me furnish it with tables, chairs &c. Lillian P. Nelson, of St. Paul, Minn., a baby specialist, will be at the head of the dispensary and clinic, joined by the Misses Helen and Edith Welsh, New York volunteers who have come all the way from America especially to do this work."

Our Soldier Dead Must Stay in France Till French Are Ready to Exhume Their Own

PARIS, Nov. 24 (Associated Press).—The 65,000 American dead in France must be left in the graves they now occupy until the French are ready to exhume their own dead, which it is hoped will be before Jan. 1, 1922.

The Foreign Office had promised to consider the latest request of the American Government for the return of its fallen soldiers, but later the following official announcement was made:

"It has been definitely decided that the Allies who fell together for the same cause should remain together in death until circumstances permit of the returning of the bodies to the families for whom they sacrificed themselves."

"The proposed law forbidding the exhumation of the soldier dead for three years did not pass at the last session of the Chamber of Deputies, but the Foreign Office expects that it will be adopted soon. This bill specifies a delay in exhumation of three years from the promulgation of the law, but it is expected that this period will be shortened. At the Foreign Office it is said to be probable that the exhumation will begin considerably before January, 1922.

The French Government is anxious to hasten matters, as French families also are pressing; but there are many thousands of unidentified dead, and transportation facilities are utterly inadequate to move the 1,500,000 bodies in French cemeteries.

The British and Belgian Governments also are asking for the return of their dead, but France thinks it only fair to treat all countries alike.

"From these gentlemen, together with others, representative of banking, industry and commerce in the country, an executive committee of smaller size has been formed, which committee of the National Committee on European Finance it is hoped will meet shortly and attack vigorously the questions so germane to the economic conditions existing.

"Domestic problems, of course, are being given the earnest consideration of the American bankers, but it is recognized that we must vigorously press on the American public the necessity for co-operating in such plans relative to European finance as may be formulated and to have the American public, and especially the American investing public with which the bankers naturally are in closest touch, realize their responsibility in the matter of facilitating foreign trade.

"America must maintain her pre-eminence in the world's trade, and to do this her citizens should give their attention to the results which may come out of the activities mentioned."

SAYS LODGE INVITED ATTACK ON WILSON

SAW SINN FEIN FAVORED

Senator Lodge Denounces Dr. Irvine's Statement as Wholly Untrue.

The Rev. Dr. D. D. Irvine, Commissioner of the Society for American and British Friendship, charged last night that Senator Lodge had refused to listen to him unless he had something to say against President Wilson or the League of Nations. Dr. Irvine quoted Senator Lodge as saying in the presence of himself and three other members of the Society:

"Doctor, if you have anything to say against the President or against the League of Nations we want to hear you. But if you have anything to say for the President or for the League of Nations we haven't time to listen to you."

Dr. Irvine said that in revealing Senator Lodge's remarks he was breaking the confidence imposed by a private interview. That interview, he said, took place on Aug. 31, when he and his associates went to protest against the appearance of Sinn Fein leaders before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Dr. Irvine made his statement before a thousand members of the society at a meeting held in the grand ballroom of the Hotel Pennsylvania. A notice sent out previously that Dr. Irvine would make an announcement "of international importance" had brought a demand for tickets which exceeded the supply.

The speaker prefaced his charge with a recital of the events leading up to the interview with Senator Lodge. He aroused applause when he remarked that there were various kinds of lodges in the country but none like the lodge in Washington which had for its purpose the mission of preventing Germany from knowing how badly she had been licked in the war.

"We went to Washington to protest against giving the Sinn Fein Party a hearing," he said. "I asked Senator Lodge for a fifteen-minute interview before the Sinn Fein delegates were heard. He refused, saying it was their day. He added that we could have a hearing another day. I presented him with a brief entitled 'The Irish Question and the League of Nations,' setting forth our views, which he accepted as part of the Congressional Record. Then he turned to me and three other delegates who were in my party and dismissed us with this reply."

Makes Oath to Statement.

Here Dr. Irvine voiced the reply he said Senator Lodge made to him, adding:

"I solemnly swear as a Christian churchman and on my honor as a gentleman that he made this statement about the President and the League of Nations. Because his reply was made during a private interview I recognized the sacred character of the conversation. But now that Senator Lodge has shown himself unfair in tactics and unscrupulous in principle, I make public his statement."

Dr. Irvine said he resented criticisms of President Wilson's conduct in Paris which he heard Frank P. Walsh, one of the Irish delegates, make to Senator Lodge and other members of the Foreign Relations Committee. The speaker said he hissed, and Senator Lodge raised his gavel for a moment, but did not bring it down.

"If he had dared to bring his gavel down, I would have stood up and challenged him for allowing any one to attack the President of my country. But the League of Nations is not defeated; it has been only temporarily put to one side, for rest assured neither German nor any other kind of propaganda will defeat it."

Dr. Irvine in concluding announced the personnel of a committee of clergymen which left yesterday for Ireland to make an investigation of the situation there and to make an unbiased report. The Sinn Fein element here, he remarked, had sent a committee overseas which had made up its mind before sailing what it was going to see, and when it returned it made just that kind of a report.

"Wholly Untrue," Says Lodge.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 24.—Senator Lodge, when Dr. Irvine's statement was read to him over the telephone tonight, said:

"Such a statement is wholly untrue. It is a complete falsehood. I can't recall any such man as Irvine appearing before the committee. I don't think any such person ever appeared. Documents in the case are filed and the entire case is a matter of record. The committee did not refuse to hear anybody at any time and everybody was given an opportunity to be heard. I was at every hearing and saw everybody, but have forgotten the names of some of the witnesses. I do not recall the name of Irvine."

GERMAN COAL LACK SPREADING UNREST

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Nov. 24, (via Copenhagen).—Two weeks ago there seemed to be every hope that the German labor situation, and with it economic affairs generally, was in a fair way of convalescence. The metal workers' strike, which lasted more than six weeks, had just ended with a victory for the employers because elements among the strikers renounced the big demands of their radical leaders. The number of the unemployed entitled to the Government subvention was decreasing rapidly, and there was no other important labor trouble in sight.

The dreaded Nov. 9 passed in comparative quiet, and everywhere the people seemed to set to work with a will. Unfortunately, it soon turned out that there was not sufficient coal to keep the great machinery by which the 65,000,000 people live in working order. The enormous snowfall and cold counterbalanced all advantages, despite the fact that the output of the Ruhr mines increased from 220,000 to 250,000 tons daily; that proportional results were reported from Upper Silesia; that daily more than 1,000 locomotives and 3,000 to 4,000 cars more were employed in carrying coal during the interruption of passenger traffic, it was impossible to transport the coal supplies necessary for the next few weeks. Even the largest railway stations have only a supply for six days.

The newspapers daily report that gas works and power houses in provincial cities and towns have been compelled to close for lack of coal, which course is followed by the closing of factories depending upon them for power, entailing untold misery on the working population in this harsh Winter with more than half the potato, turnip, and beetroot crops still under ground.

Differ on Cause of Dearth.

Bad weather does not fully explain the failure, but nobody seems to know positively what is behind it. The Federal Coal Distribution Committee blames the Government for beginning the delivery of coal to Belgium, Italy, and France before being compelled to do so by the treaty. Others suspect the coal "barons" of underhand dealings, while doubtless great quantities of coal have been stolen en route by railway employes and others. It remains unexplained that while there is no increase in traffic there is an enormous increase in the consumption of coal by the railways.

Add to the coal calamity the dearth of foodstuffs and the never ceasing political unrest, and you have a situation promising hunger and riots, to use mild terms, before the Winter is much older.

Only two weeks ago the Federal Labor Minister told THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent that all was quiet in the Ruhr district, the masses being earnestly at work and the situation very promising. Today it is reported that besides many smaller concerns, even Krupps have been compelled to close some of their extensive works for lack of coal.

It is reported from Gelsenkirchen, near Essen, that technical and clerical employes have declared a strike because they are unable to live on their salaries. Some mechanics immediately followed with a sympathy strike and now trade unions of the whole Rhenish district have taken up the cause and are arranging for a general strike there unless the demands of the clerks and technical employes are granted.

The trade unions are bringing strong pressure on the Government to interfere in favor of the strikers, and the Socialist members are certainly inclined to give way because they are very much incensed over the recent reactionary demonstrations.

Clash Over Factory Council Bill.

There is now before the National Assembly a bill concerning the so-called betriebrate or factory councils, which demands for them two seats in every Board of Managers with equal rights. Discussing this bill before the committee yesterday, the Socialist member Bender threatened an immediate revolution of the masses unless the bill were passed in its original shape.

The Democrats proposed that two members of the factory councils should be admitted to each meeting of the Board of Managers at which matters were discussed concerning labor's interests. It is doubtful whether either the Socialist or capitalist representatives will accept this compromise, and great political strikes may follow.

The dearth of food adds much to the general discontent with the Government, which is blamed for much of the crop remaining unharvested, because it might have used more stringent means against the numerous unemployed instead of subventioning them. The Government now proposed to transport large numbers of the unemployed into the country, making them work the fields and depriving them of all rations if they refuse.

It ought also to be remarked that organised labor now counts 7,000,000 members and is still increasing rapidly. The sober elements in the trade unions are making energetic efforts to resume control, and in the recent annual report of the Christian trade unions "honest co-operation with employers" was urged as the only remedy for the present calamity. Nevertheless, the disturbing elements of the Extreme Right and Left are constantly scheming to frustrate the best intentions of the sober elements.

But He Denies Having Asked France for a Pension.

GENEVA, Nov. 24.—The former Austrian Emperor Charles denies the report that he has asked the French Government for a pension, but it is known here that the royal family and the Archdukes are greatly embarrassed financially. Unless funds arrive from Vienna the former Empress Zita, it is said, will be obliged to sell some jewels in order to meet necessary household expenses.

Limit Jury Trial in Ireland; Won't Free Hunger Strikers

LONDON, Nov. 24.—The Government will introduce a bill in the House of Commons this week providing for the suspension of trial by jury in Ireland in special criminal cases and leaving the determination of such cases to special commissions, consisting of three Judges of the High Court, according to the Graphic. It is said that the bill will be pressed through both houses of Parliament quickly.

DUBLIN, Nov. 24.—Official notice was given here today that no more prisoners will be liberated, conditionally or unconditionally, for hunger striking, and that hunger strikers must be responsible for the consequences of their acts.

It was also announced that there would be no further amelioration of the prison treatment given to any one convicted under the Defense of the Realm act.

This notice is regarded very seriously in Irish political circles. It is expected that hunger strikes will become numerous and that deaths of prisoners will follow. The effect on Irish feeling, now awaiting the production of the Home Rule bill, will be grave, it is said, and will revive the bitterness evoked by the death of Thomas Ashe in May, 1916, as the result of a hunger strike.

Citadel Battery Fires a 21-Gun Salute as the Renown Arrives in Port.

PRINCE THANKS AMERICA

Sends Wireless Message to Secretary Lansing—Will Leave Halifax for Home Tonight.

HALIFAX, N. S., Nov. 24.—The shrieking of steamer sirens and factory whistles greeted the Prince of Wales, who arrived in port at 8 o'clock this morning on the British battle cruiser Renown. A salute of twenty-one guns was fired from a battery at the citadel in his honor.

The American visit of the Prince terminates tomorrow at sunset, when the Renown sails for England. The principal feature of his two days' stay at Halifax was the gala banquet offered by the Dominion Government tonight, followed by a State ball at Government House.

During the morning the Prince received the Duke of Devonshire, Governor General of Canada, who came to Halifax to bid him farewell, and Macallum Grant, Lieutenant Governor of Nova Scotia, who welcomed him in the name of the Province.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—Replying to a farewell message from Secretary Lansing, the Prince of Wales sent a dispatch from his ship today saying he could not thank this Government enough for its kindness and hospitality.

"I am greatly touched," the Prince said, "by the kindness of your farewell telegram on behalf of the Government of the United States. This visit has been for me a delightful experience which I will never forget.

"I cannot thank the American nation and the American Government enough for the kindness and hospitality which have been shown me in such generous measure wherever I have gone. I shall now always think of the people of this country as my friends and I shall look forward keenly to an opportunity of repeating my visit."

In his parting message to the Prince Secretary Lansing expressed the hope that he would carry away memories as agreeable as those he left behind.

"Permit me to express on behalf of this Government," the Secretary said, "the satisfaction and pleasure which it has been to entertain as its guest so distinguished a representative of the British Empire, whose brief sojourn in this country has done so much to strengthen the friendship and good will of the two great English-speaking nations."

Rodman Wanamaker, Chairman of the Mayor's Committee on Reception to Distinguished Guests, who had charge of the city's share in last week's welcome to the Prince of Wales, received yesterday a wireless message of thanks from the Prince, who is aboard the battle cruiser Renown, returning to England, via Halifax. The message read:

"I have already given the press a message of farewell to New York City which has welcomed me so warmly and shown me so much kindness during my stay, but I also wish to thank the reception committee for the splendid arrangements made on my behalf, and you personally for your unremitting kindness and care. I can never forget my first visit to New York, and I shall return again as soon as I can.

"EDWARD P."

It was announced yesterday that before the Prince ended his visit to New York last Saturday, he conferred upon Police Commissioner Enright the cross and ribbon of the Victorian Order and presented him with an autographed photograph of himself, in appreciation of the police arrangements during his stay.

J. M. Nye, chief special agent of the State Department, who was responsible for the safety of the Prince while in the United States, received this wireless message yesterday from the Prince on board the Renown:

"Many thanks for your unfailing care and kindness during my stay in the United States. I hope to give you the trouble of looking after me again as soon as possible."

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., Nov. 24.—In the cross-examination this afternoon of Louis F. Ehrtor of New York City in the action brought against him by his brother Ferdinand to recover $329,000 in commissions for the sale of glucose to the British Government, it was shown that Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, had contributed $50,000 toward the financing of a corporation headed by Hartog.

BERLIN, (via Paris,) Nov. 22.—In this other cable an attempt will be made to draw conclusions from information gathered in Berlin; but the entries made in my note book will show a cross-section of conditions and perhaps give readers a better idea than a more connected story. In general the situation may be summed up as follows:

The present Government will stand for some months to come, at least. It represents the best that can be had. Both Government and people will probably endure whatever exasperations are incident to the functioning of the allied commissions. I think that they will even accede to the demand for the trial of the war culprits, if that demand is pressed.

Railway travel in Germany is difficult and uncomfortable. I made a journey on a night train with only day coaches. A blizzard was raging, and the thermometer registered below zero. There was not a spark of heat or a drop of water aboard, and, of course, no food. We were over thirteen hours on the trip and the passengers were almost frozen when they arrived. But, of course, we were lucky to get places at all. The Germans say the railroad difficulties were caused by the sending of German rolling stock to France that does France no good, because it is too heavy for use on the French railways. They allege that most of the 5,000 locomotives taken from Germany, with the result of paralyzing her transport, are rusting on side tracks in France.

"We do not ask for mercy," exclaimed a banker. "We only ask for common sense."

A New York banker who accompanied me to Germany and who at Coblenz said: "My marks (of which he had bought several millions on speculation) are getting better every minute," became disgusted with the mark outlook after a few hours in Berlin. It cost 10,000 marks to take him to the Dutch frontier.

Prices in Berlin are still low when exchange rates are taken into account. My suite of rooms and bath cost 250 marks. I had three friends at dinner, and the bill was 1,000 marks, which is less than it would have been in New York. I paid at Essen 35 in gold for a pair of good, heavy boots, but afterward found that they were of American make and bought in quantity from the American Quartermaster. Cutlery and optical goods are very cheap, and of excellent quality. The amount of goods in the shops indicates that a good many German workmen are busy.

Americans, of whom there is a sprinkling in Berlin, are more or less outside the passport laws. They are trying to do business, but are much hampered. The British and others seem to be getting the start of us.

There is much complaint in Berlin of the "Hole in the Wall," as it is called. This refers to the German-French frontier, where customs are suspended and across which German goods are being taken wholesale. The Germans say they send out necessities and get back luxuries.

There is great anxiety in Berlin about Vienna. Famine conditions prevail there. If the 2,000,000 Viennese rise the effect on Germany will undoubtedly be bad. The example of Vienna will be much worse than that of Russia.

Women will have great influence on the future of Germany. Under the old system woman was the housewife. She occupied a back seat, and spoke only if she was spoken to. It was not uncommon for a husband to administer corporal punishment to his wife. During the war women supported it as fervently as the men. Now that women vote they may be expected to have a considerable share in shaping developments.

A man who knew the ex-Kaiser well assures me that the peace efforts made in the course of the war would have been successful long before the German surrender but for William's jealousy of President Wilson. The Emperor wanted to be a world pacificator himself, and always insisted that he would get peace at the right moment.

I have heard many stories illustrating the ex-Kaiser's vanity and other weaknesses. His going into the war is generally believed to have been an act of weakness rather than of deliberate brutality. It is related that, late in July, 1914, he was taking a walk with one of his intimates, and in the course of conversation exploded with the news that war had been decided upon. He is quoted as having said indignantly of the advocates of war: "These pigs have at last had their way."

It is also agreed that the names of future Directors shall be submitted to the British Government for approval.

Dull Trading in Stocks Brings Irregular Price Changes—Sterling Exchange Up.

The stock market yesterday was a humdrum affair in comparison with last week's dealings, the total of transactions falling under the million-share level. As a slowing down of speculation was one of the developments which Federal Reserve Bank officials and the lending bankers desired when steps were taken recently to conserve credit, the shrinkage of business marked another step toward the goal aimed at. There seemed to be enough buying for the long account at times to crowd some of the short sellers of a few days ago out of their position, resulting in gains extending from two to five points among the prominent industrial issues. At the same time considerable pressure against copper stocks and several oil company shares was in evidence throughout the day. The net result was a highly irregular price list at the close of the session which disclosed no major trend. Cotton quotations displayed considerable strength, and the corn market gained a little ground.

A survey of the money market indicated a supply of call funds which met the rather moderate demand on the Stock Exchange with ease. Call money lent at 7 per cent. throughout the borrowing period, which was a rate that that would not have disturbed speculators in stocks to the slightest degree three weeks ago, when the craving for profits was especially marked. The fact that stock market credit could decline to a comparatively low level and be accompanied by a shrinkage of business in stocks spoke rather eloquently of the moral force which the banking attitude has developed. Perhaps the combined statement of the Federal Reserve Banks for last week worked to further the processes previously in operation to curtail the absorption of credit in the security market. While the local Reserve Bank was able to report an increase of the cash reserve against note and deposit liabilities from 42¾ to 46 per cent., the entire system showed a slight recession for the week. Borrowings of member banks on Government securities declined again to the extent of $86,800,000, but rediscounts of commercial paper increased nearly $12,000,000, purchases of acceptances expanded $24,000,000, and there was a loss of $12,000,000 in gold. The exhibit showed that the improvement of the banking position at New York made encouraging progress, with the betterment at this centre more than offset by what looked like a substantial expansion of commercial loans elsewhere. The average reserve ratio of the system receded from 47.1 to 46.9 per cent., a movement not great in extent, but significant because of its direction.

Sterling exchange continued to improve sight drafts advancing to less than 2⅞ per cent. above the final quotation of last Saturday. The upturn appeared to be the effect of additional short covering, while it was probable, also, that the heavy output of bills in the preceding week had cleared away temporarily at least, the pressure that had resulted from improved shipping conditions. Francs were steady, and unimportant changes occurred in the other exchange rates. The silver market pursued its rising tendency, the London rate being 75½d per ounce and sales being made here at $1.36⅛ to the ounce and higher.

RAILROADS WANT EMERGENCY LAW

ASK RATE PROTECTION ALSO

Temporary Measure Regarded as Necessary Until Permanent Law Is Enacted.

The Standing Committee of the Association of Railway Executives after an all-day session came out yesterday for protective emergency legislation which will insure the roads of a continuation of the payment to them of standard returns until final legislation is passed and will protect them also by a continuance of the rates which have been in force during the period of Federal control. After the meeting yesterday Robert S. Binkerd, assistant to the Chairman, made the following statement:

"The Standing Committee of the Association of Railway Executives met today to consider pending railway legislation and various matters connected with the resumption of private operation on Jan. 1.

"It is understood that the railway executives feel that it is essential in case permanent legislation cannot be enacted by Congress prior to Jan. 1 to have emergency legislation which will protect the situation, at least to the extent of insuring the standard return for a sufficient period to secure an adjustment of rates and which will also maintain in existence the rate structure established during Federal control.

"The Special Committee on Allocation and Financing of Equipment also met, and it is expected now that the enabling legislation has passed both branches of Congress, that the proposed National Equipment Corporation will be established as soon as the necessary details can be arranged.

In addition to the general meeting of the Standing Committee almost all of the special committees of the association were in conference. While few conclusions were reached, it is understood that the body which went to Chicago last week to confer with representatives of the American Railway Association on car service rules will probably suggest the carrying into private operation of that section of the Railroad Administration which has taken care of this phase of railroad operation under Federal control. It is not understood that the personnel of that department will be taken over, but the idea is considered sound, and one that should be embraced by corporate managers in their program of operation when the roads are turned back.

The desire of the railroad executives that temporary legislation should be enacted into law for the protection of the carriers from widespread bankruptcy is generally considered as only fair, in view of the actual situation. Of the 167 roads under Federal control only 31 are earning their standard return, and of these only 2 are roads whose tracks cover more than 1,000 miles. More than 105 of the roads are not earning their fixed charges.

In their desire for a continuation of the rate structure as established during Federal control, the executives also are asking for protection from the chaos which would otherwise result should intrastate rates automatically go into effect again when Federal control is relinquished.

COTTON OPENS WEEK WITH STRONG GAINS

HEAVY EXPORTS CONTINUE

Southern Spot Figures Move Up—Net Advances for the Day Reach 70 to 75 Points.

The cotton market yesterday was helped by a variety of causes. The Liverpool market was surprisingly strong, opening at a net gain of 15 to 25 points and continuing the advance to closing time, when it stood at gains over Friday's closing of 35 to 69 points. Also the Southern spot markets developed some new strength over the week-end and came in generally at higher figures yesterday. The improved tone on the Stock Exchange and the easier money and exchange conditions also helped cotton, for these factors appeared to inspire new Wall Street buying of the staple.

The local market opened at gains over Sunday of 31 to 48 points for the distant months while December was up 60 points at the start, notwithstanding that yesterday was first "notice day" for the December contract. Then, after a brief reaction which extended 10 to 25 points from the opening prices, the market started to move up and maintained its advance until well into the afternoon, when maximum gains of 70 to 90 points were recorded.

At the close there was another mild reaction, but final prices showed net gains on the day of 70 to 75 points for the present crop months and of 90 points in next September's contract. At yesterday's high figures the market showed a recovery ranging from 215 to 295 points from the low levels of last week's break, which were reached on Wednesday. The option which had regained most of the loss was March, with the 295-point recovery, while December stood 2.15 higher yesterday than last Wednesday.

The huge exports continued in yesterday's advices. Over the week-end 60,603 bales were moved out of the ports, of which 30,145 bales left on Saturday and 30,458 bales were sent out yesterday and Sunday. Most of the exports were out of Galveston and New Orleans, but New York participated to the extent of nearly 5,000 bales.

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER—Receipts yesterday 5,87; packages. Not enough fine fresh creamery to supply the needs of the moment, and the market is very firm in consequence. Medium qualities quiet, as usual, at this season of the year. Around the Thanksgiving holiday the bulk of the demand seems to be for fine goods. Storage creamery quite active and strong. Renovated, ladies, and packing stock in moderate demand, and the late advances are firmly maintained. Creamery, higher than extras, a pound, 73½@74c; extras, 92 score, 73c; firsts, 90 to 91 score, 67@72c; firsts, 88 to 89 score, 63@65½c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 57@61c; lower grades, 5c@59c; held, higher than extras, 60½@70c; extras, 69@69c; firsts, 63½@68½c; seconds, 57@61c; unsalted, higher than extras, 76@77c; extras, 75@75c; firsts, 68@73c; seconds, 59@63c; State dairy tubs, finest, 70@71c; good to prime, 65@69c; common to fair, 54@64c; renovated, extras, 59@59½c; firsts, 56@57c; imitation creamery, firsts, 55@56c; ladies, current make, firsts, 53½@54c; seconds, 52c; lower grades, 50@50½c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 51@51½c; No. 2, 50@50½c; lower grades, 47@49½c.

EGGS—4,210 cases. New laid eggs continue extremely scarce. The few such arriving are cleaning up promptly with prices showing further advance. Medium grades meet a limited demand when showing a reasonable proportion fit for the best trade but the more seriously defective lots are dragging. Storage eggs of very fancy quality are in comparatively light supply and hold steady; average good and lower grades freely offered and moving slowly. The tone of the market is irregular. Nearby white eggs of fancy quality clean up promptly but the defective lots sell slowly at a wide range. Two cars California whites came on the market and met a steady demand at $1 a dozen; quality fancy. # DISCUSS NEW SUBWAY LOOP.

City Club Considers Grand Central-Pennsylvania Station Lines.

The discussion of the proposed Thirty-fourth Street subway loop, to connect the Pennsylvania and Grand Central Stations, was held last night at the City Club. Milo R. Maltbie, former Public Service Commissioner, who has made a study of the plans, presented them for discussion, and answered criticisms. Two plans, he explained, are under consideration, one for the operation of local trains on the present local tracks on Seventh and Fourth Avenues, with new tracks across Forty-second and Thirty or Thirty-first Streets, while the other provides for the building of an entire independent loop system.

Mr. Maltbie declared that the estimated cost of the first plan was about $1,500,000, while the independent loop system would cost in the neighborhood of $4,000,000. Either plan, he said, would help the entire transportation system of the city, as it would decentralize traffic at congested points.

The project, if carried out, he said, would result in the distribution of passengers after they left the through trains, and did not mean a transfer of trains. The building of a moving platform across Forty-second Street, he said, would negative the loop plan across that street entirely. He said the loop project had been submitted to President Hedley of the Interboro Rapid Transit Company, but that he was not enthusiastic about it.

KANSAS CITY GETS COAL.

75 Carloads to be Distributed—Has a Two Weeks' Supply.

Special to The New York Times.

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 24.—Forty cars of coal were apportioned to about thirty dealers today by W. M. Corbett, Chairman of the local Fuel Administration, and tomorrow thirty-five additional cars will be distributed here.

"Should the weather continue cold we will have to draw each day upon our reserve supply," Mr. Corbett said today. "The supply will last about two weeks and in all probability not that long, because some of the coal cannot be burned in stoves and furnaces. What will happen when this coal is gone I do not know."

A drop of 20 degrees by tomorrow night is predicted by the local Weather Bureau.

General Cigar Co. Buys Factory.

The Grill Brothers' cigar manufacturing plant at Evansville, Ind., has been purchased by the General Cigar Company. A few weeks ago the General Cigar Company acquired the Quality Cigar Company's plant at Cincinnati. Each of the newly acquired plants is reported to have a capacity of 35,000,000 cigars a year, giving the General Cigar Company a total output of about 600,000,000 cigars a year.

Auckland

AUCKLAND, with a population of 130,000, including its immediate suburbs, is located on a very accessible and commodious harbor, one of the best in New Zealand, and is approached by the largest vessels at the lowest tide. It is well supplied with dock facilities for quick handling of freight.

The city has an extremely beautiful situation, and Rangitoto, a volcanic cone reaching nearly 1,000 feet, protects the harbor.

Communication both south and north are afforded Auckland by rail, and regular steamers serve the ports of the colony, the principal Pacific Islands, Australia, etc.

Auckland's principal industries are sugar refining, shipbuilding and paper-, rope- and brick-making. The principal exports invoiced at the Consulate General at Auckland for the United States, not including returned American goods, were, for 1916, $1,744,191, and for 1917, $2,261,305. American trade in New Zealand is rapidly extending.

The Dominion of New Zealand imports manufactured articles annually to the value of about $100 per capita.

Inter-River Drainage District

Serial 6% Bonds

Total issue $1,000,000. Coupon Bonds, denomination $1,000. Principal and semi-annual interest, April and Oct. 1st, payable at First National Bank in St. Louis, Mo., or through our New York Office.

These bonds are secured by a tax lien on 117,327 acres of land strongly held and now averaging in value at least $75 per acre, whereas the annual requirements for principal and interest of all outstanding bonds average but $1.50 per acre.

Inter-River Drainage District embraces about 200 square miles of fertile lands in Southeast Missouri, the area included being nearly 30% of Butler County. Transportation facilities are furnished by the Missouri Pacific and the St. Louis & San Francisco Railroads, both of which traverse the District. The population is approximately 7,000 and of the area embraced, fully 30% is in cultivation. Butler County, one of the most substantial subdivisions of the State, showed a growth of over 22% between the census population of 1900 and that of 1910 and according to Government reports, the value of farm property increased 177% during the same period. Poplar Bluff, the County Seat (population about 10,000), and the distributing center of a rich and rapidly developing territory, adjoins the District.

No default on bonds issued by Butler County or any subdivision there of has ever occurred and bonds of a number of drainage districts within the county have in many instances been paid off in advance of their maturity.

The administration is efficient, the governing body being composed of those land owners most interested in the success of the District. A large amount of the lands taxed for this improvement are owned by a corporation controlled by the American Sugar Refining Company, and the remaining acreage is also in the hands of those amply able to pay their taxes. The books of the District are being audited semi-annually during the construction period and thereafter will be audited annually by a chartered public accountant. There were practically no delinquencies from the tax collection of 1917 and 1918.

Canadian Imports and Exchange

WITH the American dollar selling in Canada at a premium and the exchange market subject to fluctuations, the American exporter to Canada cannot afford to shrug his shoulders and let his Canadian customer bear all the burden; efforts to protect his Canadian customer against fluctuations in exchange will be repaid the exporter a hundredfold in the immediate future.

This may be done in a number of ways: the officers of the New York Agency of the Union Bank of Canada will be pleased to suggest methods best suited to particular needs. Our booklet "Protecting Your Canadian Customer," sums up the situation and our suggestions. A copy will be sent upon request.

Helping Your Customer
FORCED to pay a premium for American funds, in a market subject to serious fluctuations, Canadian importers of U. S. goods are tending to curtail their purchases here. If American exporters to Canada will assist their Canadian customers by protecting them against fluctuations in exchange, the effect of the present situation on Canadian - American trade may be mitigated.

REPETTI, INC.

(Par Value $5 per Share)

CAPITALIZATION

The capitalization of Repetti, Inc., is:

|---|---|
| Common Stock (Par value $5.00) | 625,000 |

PROPERTIES

There are three subsidiary companies: Repetti, Ltd., of Toronto, recently organized and now finding a ready market for its output in Canada; Repetti Stores, Inc., which is now profitably operating two retail stores in New York City; Repetti Realty Company, Inc., recently organized for the purpose of taking title to the new Repetti factory in Long Island City, which is now practically completed and which will make it possible to triple the present business.

EARNINGS

Earnings during the last three years have shown rapid growth. Gross earnings for 1917 were $287,652.66, for 1918, $576,951.26, and for the current year are running at a rate in excess of $860,000. Net earnings for the current year, exclusive of Repetti Stores, Inc., are running at the rate of approximately $110,000 before interest and taxes.

Our export business is encouraging, both from the point of view of price and the number of inquiries.

PURPOSE OF NEW FINANCING

The new financing will provide the company with sufficient cash capital to enable it to take advantage of the present exceptional demand for candy, (which has increased so rapidly that during the past five years the Repetti Companies have not been able to keep pace with orders. Sales are now approximately sixty days behind orders and are limited to items on which production can be increased.)

MANAGEMENT

The present management will remain in control of the business and the undersigned expect to enter the Board of Directors.

Foresight

FIVE years ago Great Northern stock and Texas Company stock were both selling at similar prices. The holder of Great Northern, who then had the foresight to exchange his investment for Texas Company stock, can indeed congratulate himself today.

GREAT Northern has since sold below 90; Texas Company has sold far above 300. But this is only a part of the story. While Great Northern has continuously paid its 7% dividend, Texas Company has paid 10% regularly, and in addition, has given valuable "rights" to its stockholders twice since 1914.

THE Service we offer gives the investor every opportunity to cope with changing conditions by making investment changes in this way. Many of our subscribers followed our advice in the above instance, to their good advantage.

MAY ANSWER JURY TODAY.

Gov. Smith Preparing Statement on Requests of Almirall and Swann.

Governor Smith may announce today his decision on the request of the Extraordinary Grand Jury for the assistance of Attorney General Newton in an investigation of city departments and the office of the District Attorney, and the request by Mr. Swann for the designation of a Supreme Court Justice and another jury to supplant the present jury in any investigation of his office. It was said that the Governor would issue a statement today at the City Hall in relation to these matters.

No indication could be obtained last night from the Governor regarding his view of the subject. He was at the home of his mother in Brooklyn, who is still in a serious condition, and he declined to see any one for a discussion of the matter. He authorized one of his assistants to say he was preparing a statement and expected to have it ready today.

So far as could be learned the Extraordinary Grand Jury has made no further move in its city government inquiry and will take no action pending the Governor's reply to their request.

CIGARETTES GOING UP.

Manufacturers Advance Prices and Consumers Must Pay.

Manufacturers' prices of cigarettes are to be advanced in some cases as much as 40 per cent., according to an announcement of the United Cigar Stores Company. This rise follows a recent advance of 30 per cent., and will cost consumers millions of dollars a year.

This advance, however, will only affect cheaper cigarettes. Turkish and high-priced cigarettes will not be affected and will retail at present prices. Cigarettes retailing at twenty cigarettes for 18 cents will be advanced to twenty cigarettes for 20 cents, becoming effective next week. The United Cigar Stores Company will post their new price schedule this week. In the last two months cigarettes abroad have advanced 33 per cent, according to manufacturers, while in Canada the advance has been 50 per cent.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

A nearly normal call money rate, an improved foreign exchange situation and generally satisfactory trade advices all made for better average prices on the Consolidated Stock Exchange yesterday, with fair gains registered in the motor, equipment and steel issues and many of the specialties. The copper properties on advices of a cut in the metal price were recessionary, while the rails were irregular and the marines inactive and but little changed. Worthington Pump was advanced 14¼ points, U. S. Rubber 4½, Stromberg 3, and Retail Stores 3. Pierce Arrow gained 5½, White 3½, Studebaker 2½ and Maxwell 2⅝. Crucible Steel rallied 3½ and Republic 2¼. Baldwin Locomotive was marked up 5. Mexican Petroleum was bid up 3¼ from its early low. American Smelting, at the minimum, was offered down 2½. Anaconda 2½, and Inspiration 2.

The income account, which was published several days ago, showed earnings of $7.77 a share on the common, as compared with $1.25 a share in the preceding year. The surplus available for the common was $3,884,550, as compared with $626,425 in 1918.

The balance sheet shows a stronger cash position, the cash on hand amounting to $4,303,188, as compared with $700,712 in 1918. The lack of working capital was one of the criticisms leveled against the corporation by General Goethals, and improvement is evident in this direction. Accounts and bills receivable are placed at $1,945,105, as compared with $1,026,586 in the preceding year. Accounts payable of $2,512,439 are, however, less by about $3,300,000 than in 1918. The 1919 tax reserve is an increase of about $2,400,000 over the report of the year before. Among the assets is listed $12,112,029 representing sugars on hand. This includes $11,692,000 in sugars pledged to bankers as security for loans. The sugars have since been shipped and paid for, and the loans paid off.

"The f. o. b. price, per pound of sugar manufactured, obtained during the last four crops, the proceeds from 'molasses' and 'other earnings' included, were 5.898 cents in 1918-1919, 4.360 cents in 1917-1918, 4.749 cents in 1916-1917, and 4.112 cents in 1915-1916. The difference indicated between the average price of 5.398 cents obtained for last crop, and the basic price of 5.50 cents f. o. b. North side ports paid by the U. S. Sugar Equalization Board, represents the reduction of .05 cents per pound in the price of the 1,624,049 bags shipped from the South side, as well as losses in weight and polarization.

"The cost per pound of producing sugar, including cane on a free-on-board basis at your factories during the last four crops was 4.606 cents in 1918-19, 3.998 cents in 1917-18, 3.451 cents in 1916-17, and 2.748 cents in 1915-16. The greater portion of these increases is due to the higher cost of cane. The best way, therefore, to state the actual increase in the cost of production would be by excluding the cost of cane. On this basis, the cost of transporting the cane to the mills, manufacturing the sugars therefrom, and the delivery of the sugars on board steamer would be per pound 1.555 cents for 1918-19, 1.460 cents for 1917-18, 1.072 cents for 1916-17, and .715 cents for 1915-16. It is gratifying to note that the cost of manufacturing for the last crop shows only a slight increase over that of the previous crop, an increase of 6.8 per cent., as compared with an increase of 36 per cent. for the year 1917-18 over 1916-17.

"If from the preceding free-on-board prices at which the sugars of the last four crops were sold, we deduct the cost of production including thh cane, it will give us the operating profits made per pound, as follows:

|---|---|---|---|---|
| Receipts | 5.398c | 4.830c | 4.479c | 4.112c |
| Production cost | 4.606c | 3.998c | 3.451c | 2.474c |

ISSUE B. R. T. BOND REPORT.

Earnings Found Insufficient to Pay Interest on $60,000,000 Notes.

The Protective Committee of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company three-year 7 per cent. and six-year 5 per cent. secured gold notes and the New York Municipal Railway Corporation first mortgage 5 per cent. sinking fund gold bonds, Series "A," has issued to holders of the bonds and notes a report presented by Stone & Webster and Price, Waterhouse & Co.

The circular announces that the report shows that with present wages and 5-cent fares the earnings of the lines, after payment of interest on receiver's certificates and $22,967,000 elevated bonds, will fall considerably short of the amount of interest on the $60,000,000 of Brooklyn Rapid Transit notes and subway bonds.

The Central Union Trust Company of New York has resigned as a member of the committee because of possible conflict with its duties as trustee of the first refunding mortgage of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company. There have now been deposited with the committee about $30,000,000 of the three-year notes, which, together with the $16,044,700 of that issue held by the War Finance Corporation, which has been cooperating with the committee, constitute over 80 per cent. of the entire amount outstanding. The committee also represents the majority of the subway bonds outstanding.

Army Is Short of Sugar.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The United States Army is suffering from the sugar shortage. A statement issued today said no surplus stock for the army remained, and the purchasing department had failed to obtain any in the market. Negotiations have been begun in an effort to find a source of supply to meet future needs.

Studebaker Financing Ratified.

The stockholders of the Studebaker Corporation have ratified the plan whereby the capital stock will be increased from $45,000,000 to $80,000,000. It is provided that all of the new stock will be common. Stockholders of record Nov. 29 will have the opportunity of subscribing to $15,000,000 of the common stock at 106. The directors will carry out their plan to redeem the $15,000,000 7 per cent notes of the corporation on Jan. 1, 1920.

Will present conditions—very like those existing in 1906—lead to a break and a slump in 1920 similar to the panic of 1907?

Another client is perplexed by an export or import problem, or by a traditional custom as to long dating of bills in his field.

To each case we apply the appropriate investigation, the required advice, the essential financing.

HELD AS SUGAR PROFITEERS

Four Greenspan Brothers Held for a Hearing.

Special to The New York Times.

PERTH AMBOY, N. J., Nov. 24.—Charged with conspiracy to violate the Federal Food Control act as amended in sugar transactions, Hyman, Isadore, Philip and Jacob Greenspan, members of the firm of Greenspan Brothers, were arrested here today by Department of Justice agents and held in $10,000 bail each for a hearing before United States Commissioner Delaney on Friday. If convicted, the brothers are liable to a fine of $5,000 each or a two-year sentence in jail, or both.

According to the Government officials, the firm on Oct. 19 sold to a dealer in Trenton 47,022 pounds of sugar at 20 cents a pound. It is also alleged that in November they sold 15,000 pounds at 21½ cents a pound. The Federal agents said they found a large quantity of sugar stored in the Greenspan Brothers' warehouse at 341 Elm Street.

TO BOOST PAY AT N. Y. U.

Chancellor Tells How $6,000,000 Fund Is to be Spent.

Chancellor Elmer E. Brown of New York University laid before the Executive Committee of the University Council yesterday the program for raising the $6,000,000 endowment fund in January, emphasizing the urgency of the item of $2,000,000 for advancing teachers' salaries.

The university has never had a fixed schedule of salaries for the several teaching positions," said Chancellor Brown in practice the salaries of full-time professors range from $3,000 to $4,000 annually, with a very few upward of $4,000. In the professional schools the ordinary salary is from $4,000 to $5,000, with a few exceeding this range. For the whole university, except two or three exceptional cases, the range is from $3,000 to $6,000. Half of the whole number falls between $3,400 and $5,000, instructors, assistant professors, and associate professors from $1,200 to $3,000 for the whole university, with only two or three outside these limits.

"Many of our Faculty cannot live on these salaries. They have to supplement their salaries by outside work or pot boiling, sometimes to a degree that is detrimental to their teaching efficiency."

The other $4,000,000 of the fund is to be used to construct buildings, to endow various schools of the university, and to pay off the floating indebtedness.

IMPERATOR AT CUNARD PIER.

British Crew Ready to Take Over Former German Liner.

The former German liner Imperator, which has been idle at the army piers in Hoboken for more than two months, was towed over yesterday to the Cunard Pier 54, North River, foot of West Thirteenth Street, by the tugboat John Nichols, and others were waiting to assist her into the slip. She was in charge of the United States naval crew headed by Capt. R. D. White, U.S.N., and they remained on board all day.

On her arrival at the Cunard pier Captain Charles A. Smith, who is to be the commander of the liner, went on board with Captain D. S. Miller, the marine superintendent of the Cunard Line.

It is understood that the United States ensign will be hauled down at noon today on the Imperator and the white, blue and white flag of the International Council will be hoisted in its place. The British flag will be hoisted at the mainmast head and the Cunard flag at the foremast head. There are nearly 500 officers and men waiting in New York for the ship, and the officials of the company hope that the big liner will be ready to sail with passengers and mails for Plymouth, Cherbourg, and Southampton on Dec. 10.

AUSTRALIA WANTS SETTLERS

Government Grants Land and Finances Ex-Service Men.

Australia is offering wonderful inducements to new settlers who wish to take up land claims, according to J. M. Hunter, who is now in New York, having stopped here on his way to London, where he will take up his duties as Agent General for Queensland. While in this country Mr. Hunter is considering the advisability of a direct steamship line between Australia and one of our Western ports.

"Over 50,000 Australians made the supreme sacrifice in the war, and the death of these young, virile men has left a gap in our sparse population that must be filled," said Mr. Hunter. "In Queensland we have solved the problem by our Soldier Settlement act, which cares for not only our own returned soldiers, but also for such of the ex-service men of our allies as may care to take up a land claim in our country.

"The Government not only furnishes the land but advances $3,000 to each settler, so that no capital is needed by the new land owner. The act also gives the State the power to resume any freehold as may seem suitable or necessary. This prevents the price of land from being unduly inflated, and opens up huge tracts of fertile and luxuriant land formerly locked up by a few wealthy magnates.

"The railroads are owned by the State, and these are now being extended rapidly to bring the rich farming country into closer touch with our markets. An irrigation system is also being planned by the Government. This will be modeled after the system now in use in the United States."

Mr. Hunter said that the Government ownership of meat markets, packing houses and ranches had aided greatly in reducing the high cost of living in Queensland, by entirely eliminating the middlemen's profit. The system has been so successful, Mr. Hunter said, that plans are now under way for the establishment of a Government milk supply and a chain of bakeries throughout the country.

Mr. Hunter has at various times acted as Premier of Queensland, and during the war was a Cabinet Minister.

STAR OPERA COMPANY FAILS

Organization Enjoined from Producing German Music Owes $25,000.

The Star Opera Company, which was recently enjoined from producing German opera, passed into the hands of a receiver yesterday in proceedings instituted by three creditors whose combined claims amount to $510. Benno Lewinson, counsel for the company, said that the Board of Directors had voted in favor of concurring in the proceedings because there appeared to be no hope of the company emerging from its liabilities, which aggregate about $25,000.

Mr. Lewinson also said that the attempt to produce operas of German origin had been deprecated by some of those interested in the company, but that the advice was overruled by others who thought that the anti-German feeling had subsided enough to make the venture safe and lucrative. He expressed the opinion that the creditors received 10 per cent. of their claims it was the most they could expect.

It was said that a great deal of money had been spent by the company, among the items being $3,500 for scenery, and other large amounts for costumes.

According to Mr. Lewinson more than $20,000 had been received in advance sales and $1,200 had been paid in Government taxes.

The company was incorporated in July last with a capital stock of $50,000. Among the most active of those interested in the venture were the late Benno Loewy, Louis F. Haupt and Otto Goritz, the baritone, whose connection with the company, it was said, greatly increased the feeling against it. The three petitioners were Richard Klotz and Harry W. Guernsey, employes, whose claims were for $40 each, and Adolph Baumann, a photographer, who claims $430.

Few Trimmings on Satin Hats.

Gray Goods Prices Stronger.

With business light in the local market for gray goods yesterday the increased strength of prices supplied the feature. Rather early in the day there were fair-sized sales of 38½-inch 64-60s for this year's delivery by both first and second hands at 18 cents. Later, however, sellers tightened up, and active bidding of 18 cents for the goods in question failed to bring them out. Sixteen cents was paid for 1919 shipments of 38½-inch 60-48s, while for early 1920 the same goods sold at 15½ cents. For 39-inch 68-72s, 21 cents was bid and 21½ cents asked, without success on either side. Among the limited sheeting sales for the day were some November-December lots of 37-inch, 48-square, four-yard goods at 20½ cents.

Chinese Hair Net Prices Go Up.

Prices of hair nets in China have been increasing steadily in the last six months, according to information received by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce. Latest reports on the subject quoted them at $2.75 to $3 a gross, and conditions then were such that prices were expected to go still higher. It is reported from Shanghai that export firms find it impossible to contract with dealers for appreciable quantities at the foregoing prices for future shipments. The principal markets for Chinese hair nets are Great Britain and the United States, the largest amount going to the former.

English Shoes Taking Here.

Judging from reports emanating from the New England shoe centres, particularly Boston, it is a wide-open question whether or not success is crowning the attempts of salesmen handling English shoes to do business in this country. And yet despite the fact that most of the lines shown here, delivered, are priced quite a bit lower than American shoes of a somewhat similar type. General lines of English footwear are being offered here, from all accounts, with the best business being done on children's shoes. These, according to trade reports, are priced about 25 per cent. lower than domestic goods. Trade reports further have it that English spats are being freely bought here. The English manufacturers seem to come closer to meeting American ideas on those goods than on shoes. In addition to this, the quality of the materials and the workmanship are said to be better than in corresponding lines of American spats.

Platinum Wedding Rings Wanted.

Despite the strike of the jewelry workers here, which is now in its third month, manufacturers report a continuance of good business. Most of the orders call for goods that can be supplied from stock, which lessens to a considerable extent the detrimental effect on sales that the strike might otherwise have. One feature of the business at the present time is the steady growth of the call for platinum wedding rings. Carved rings of this type, without diamonds, share the demand for others that are set with those stones, either half or all the way around. One of the unusual things about the consumer demand for these rings is that many of them are being bought by persons who ordinarily would not be able to purchase platinum jewelry. This, it is asserted, reflects the increased prosperity of the general run of people.

Loss on Overcoats.

Manufacturing clothiers, who hold orders for overcoats not yet delivered or which were delivered recently, claim that the sale of every garment at the old price is causing them a loss. In one case it was said that the loss amounted to some $10 on each garment, the new price on the overcoats being $45 and the old price $35, the retailers owning the merchandise at the latter figure. While the stockrooms in the local houses are said to be cleaned out of goods, many of the tailors are understood to have quantities of cut up garments on hand which they are afraid to send out to the shops, because of the advances which would have to be paid to labor once it became known there was so much work ahead.

Merchandise or Money.

Prices for men's clothing for next Spring have reached such levels that the question has been raised among retailers whether it is preferable to have merchandise or money. Those who have been most "bullishly" inclined ever since a few months after the armistice are now as frankly at sea as the rest of the trade. The one problem that confronts these merchants and must be answered, they think, before they plunge too heavily on Spring merchandise, is whether men are going to pay the prices which will be asked next year. Some of the best informed among the clothiers believe that there is bound to be a reaction in the demand, and one reason they put forward is that the great number of men who were released from the army have sufficient clothing to carry them through the early part of next year. Meanwhile, the retailers have rushed in their orders as if prices cut no figure.

May Have Signed Orders.

There are good prospects that the woolen representatives and the garment manufacturers will come to an agreement on a form of order which will be used generally in transactions between the two trades. While the matter has been drifting along for some little time, there have been no real differences cropping up between the representatives of the buyers and sellers. The mills, of course, are endavoring to obtain an order blank so satisfactory in its terms that the garment makers will not hesitate to sign it. At the same time, the garment houses desire to have clauses inserted that will fully protect their interests. The signed order, it was said yesterday in the trade, will soon be an established fact.

Neckwear Styles Thought Good.

The recommendations that have been made by the Style Committee of the Women's Neckwear Manufacturers' Association are well thought of in the trade. Those who were given the task of arriving at some decision regarding what to feature for the Spring season advised that a flat short collar be made equally adaptable for dresses with either round or square cut necks. The manufacturers will also devote themselves to designing cuff sets. The materials thought to be best for the new season are batistes, organdies, and nets. The vogue for lacey effects, it was said, should have a very favorable effect on the demand for neckwear.

Lingerie Season Foreseen.

Even the lately arrived models from Paris brought in by the leading dress houses are said to feature lingerie strongly for next year. This confirms the earlier opinion held by the best houses in the trade that there would be quite a vogue for lingerie frocks and dresses for the late Spring and Summer of 1920. The embroidery houses have said their plans for an exceptionally good season because of the prominence given such styles in the Paris showings. The lace trade also expects to benefit from the launching of the new fashion.

NEW YORK CITY
By O. O. McINTYRE

New York, Nov. 10.—Paris no longer leads the world in styles for the ultra-fashionable Manhattanese. Paris, long the style capital of the world, now hails Michael, an American or, to be more explicit, of New York's own Fifth avenue. Michael is a dapper well-set-up young man in his thirties.

He has jet-black, shining hair, a suave manner, a strictly American accent and an all-observing eye for beauty. He fairly guides energy. He is now regarded by fashion experts as the style pace-maker for the world. And, best of all, he has temperament.

He branched out for himself on upper Fifth avenue in a salon of splendor several years ago. Then the war came on. Paris forgot frills and furbelows to don the nun's cloth. After the war Michael, working quietly in New York, emerged as the fashion world as the style-maker, not only for Paris, but for the whole of Europe and America, too.

May Birkhead, fashion editor of the New York Herald in Paris, in a cable to her paper, says: "After seeing the tailored suits made by Michael, I am inclined to think American tailors have developed a style of their own and have become real creators in that particular line. I can see no French influence whatever in the American tailored suits of Michael. His work is strictly American jean."

And so it is that the humble little fitter of a few years ago has accomplished something every tailor in America has been trying to accomplish for years—that is, to set styles for the world in New York, instead of in Paris. All the Paris suits are now following the American styles.

I dropped into Michael's Fifth ave nue shop the other day. It is a cosy place of dignified elegance. It is in black and white. There are subdued lights, great velvet curtains, and saleswomen who have real drawing-room manners. And there are the mannikins—young and beautiful girls with perfect figures, who display the latest suits that Michael's artistic fingers create.

And there is Michael himself—wearing a perfectly fitted suit of October brown, and in his own private den smoking a gold-tipped Russian cigarette with easy nonchalance. Outside at the curb were many limousines with liveried chauffeurs.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

One of the largest realty deals of the year in the retail shopping district was closed yesterday by the Columbia Trust Company, which sold its building on the northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Thirty-fourth Street to Max N. Natanson, operator.

The buyer will proceed at once to erect nine additional stories on the present structure, which were provided for in the original plans of the building prepared by the late Stanford White. The sale and improvement will in no way affect the occupancy of its present quarters by the Columbia Trust Company, as it has taken back a long-term lease of the banking floor, which it will continue to occupy as its Fifth Avenue office. The plot has a frontage on Fifth Avenue of 61 feet 9 inches and on Thirty-fourth Street of 100 feet, and is universally conceded to be one of the choicest parcels in the city.

The property was formerly a part of the site of the famous Stewart Mansion built by the late A. T. Stewart. It was purchased by Charles T. Barney for the Knickerbocker Trust Company in 1902, and acquired by the Columbia Trust Company in 1912 through the merger with the Knickerbocker Trust Company. When Mr. Barney bought the property the Stewart mansion was still standing on it. At that time the plot included an additional frontage of about 40 feet on Fifth Avenue, an additional frontage of about 50 feet on Thirty-fourth Street, and ran through to Thirty-fifth Street. Mr. Barney had the Stewart building torn down and the contractor agreed to wreck and remove it for the salvage value of the building.

The Columbia Trust Company has agreed to make Mr. Natanson a building and permanent loan of $2,000,000, which loan is to run for twenty years with proper amortisation. The entire transaction, including the sale of the property, the building and permanent loan, and the lease involves several million dollars, and was negotiated by George P. Walker of Ewing, Bacon & Henry.

Among the recent purchases by Mr. Natanson, who has been one of the heaviest traders in the market during the last year, are the following: The southeast corner of Twenty-fourth Street and Fourth Avenue, a twenty-story building, valued at $2,500,000; the southwest corner of Seventy-seventh Street and Park Avenue, a twelve-story building, valued at $1,750,000; the northwest corner of Twenty-ninth Street and Fourth Avenue, a sixteen-story building, valued at $1,500,000, and the Langham Apartments, comprising the block front on Central Park West between Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth Street, valued at $2,500,000.

$3,500,000 Lease Involving the Old Greenhut Siegel-Cooper Building.

The Big Store Realty Company, B. J. Greenhut, President, has leased to the Interchurch World Movement of America the third, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh floors and the annex of the Greenhut, formerly the Siegel-Cooper, building, on the east side of Sixth Avenue, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth Streets.

The lease, which is for ten years, disposes of almost 475,000 square feet of building space, at a total rental for the term of exactly $3,500,000. A feature of this transaction is that the premises leased are to be used in their entirety for executive offices. This will have a direct bearing on the future occupation of other buildings in the neighborhood, and should have a favorable effect on Sixth Avenue values.

The Interchurch World Movement is a consolidation of the activities of the various denominations in their propaganda work. The brokers in the transaction were the Cross & Brown Company, and Leitner, Bronner & Starr.

Coincident with this lease, which, incidentally, reflects the existing dearth of space and the high rentals now demanded in the established uptown office building sections—there have been reported recently several very large contracts for space in the lower Fifth Avenue district, principally by the prominent insurance companies, who are moving their records, bookkeeping, and other clerical departments away from the expensive financial district, and into economical where the rent is considerably cheaper.

The Greenhut building, which was erected in 1896 by Henry Siegel, became vacant several years ago as a result of the relocation of the big department stores in lower Sixth Avenue. During the period of the late war it was occupied by the Government as Debarkation Hospital No. 3.

HELP WANTED—Male.

SALESMEN.
INVESTMENT. INVESTMENT.
Can you sell cigar today at 5c a pound?

You've heard the story of the fellow who stood at 42d St. and Broadway with a grain to peddle $5 gold pieces for 5c. each. Personally we've met only fifty men, each one of whom claimed to be the man who did the actual dust to prove that selling was a cinch job, but we've never believed that anything so good couldn't be sold.

We believe our proposition. We've a few hundred thousand dollars' worth of all shares to sell. They are not being sold and they are all going to be sold. Some one is going to sell them, and the question now is whether you are going to be able to get a chance at the sales for selling them. Your initiative, ambition, energy, experience, and perception will do it.

We have a $6,000,000 company, own two big oil wells in Texas, capable of 4,000 barrels a day, own a 11-mile pipe line, have another 20 miles coming, and expect to announce soon the completion of our own refinery. While we have reached oil sand and are capped awaiting more pipe line facilities. No. 3 is now drilling and is expected to come in greater than Nos. 1 and 2. What shares will sell for, then we don't know.

There's a lot of fellows around selling oil stock in concerns that never in anybody buy "prospects" to offer in exchange for good cash. And they're "getting away with it"—making good money. What you can do with our proposition is prefaced by what oil predictions.

Every officer of this company is a real, responsible, successful man, and most of our shareholders are in the selling game, so we are ready to talk to anybody who isn't big enough to convince big men. So we want $10,000 per annum calibre at least or the man ings thereof, men from whom we can choose a general sales manager and territorial sales managers.

All we want to know about you now is your name, what you are selling or have sold, your age, and where you live. We will try to see every body and give the best a sterling opportunity. Our proposition is devoid of blue-sky dreams, crystal-gazing, or anything else usually associated with precarious selling propositions and investments. Write in confidence, Oil, L 388 Times.

A.D. ASHBURN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

WERE ON WAY BACK TO YALE

Shaft of Wagon Crushed Edge of Windshield Down on Ashburn's Skull.

Special to The New York Times.

STAMFORD, Conn., Nov. 24.—Allan D. Ashburn, son of Colonel P. M. Ashburn of Washington, D. C., was killed and Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney, son of Harry Payne Whitney of New York City, was injured seriously at 6:30 this morning when a high-powered Stutz runabout in which they were riding hit a horse and wagon and skidded against the stone abutment beneath the viaduct of the New Haven Railroad in Darien, Conn.

William S. Cowles, Jr., son of Admiral W. S. Cowles of Farmington, Conn., who was in the car with the other boys, escaped injury. Ashburn died at 8 P. M. in the Stamford Hospital.

The three young men were juniors at Yale. They had been spending the week-end in New York and were returning early to New Haven. According to their own statement and that of a witness, their automobile was not running faster than twenty-five miles an hour when it hit the horse. The Boston Post Road dips sharply from both approaches at the place of the accident. Whitney, owner of the Stutz Bearcat, was driving it. Ashburn sat at his left. Cowles sat on the floor of the single-seat car beneath the windshield. In the early morning gloom the horse and wagon were not seen by the boys until they were thirty feet away. Then the horse shied directly in front of the car. The Stutz hit the animal on the side, wounding it severely, and skidded against the stone abutment.

A shaft of the wagon smashed through the windshield and apparently crushed the edge of the windshield down on Ashburn's head with force sufficient to fracture his skull. He was unconscious when a physician arrived a short time later, and he never regained consciousness. The physician sent him to the Stamford Hospital.

Whitney's injuries consisted of cuts in the cheek, nose, and hand. Whitney did not have an operator's license and he was arrested, but was released on his own recognisance and accompanied Ashburn to the Stamford Hospital.

TRACE STOLEN SECURITIES.

Assistant District Attorney Tells of Actions of Sullivan & Co.

Further investigation yesterday of the operations of the gang who looted Wall Street houses of $1,000,000 of securities brought to light a deception on several officials of the Consolidated Stock Exchange by Norman S. Bowles, partner of Sullivan & Co. at 10 Wall Street, all the members of which were arrested here and in Washington, said Assistant District Attorney John T. Dooling. Part of the missing securities, it is charged, were traced to Sullivan & Co. The tracing of the thieves, who disposed of the securities in many cities, is going on here and in Philadelphia and Washington.

"Norman S. Bowles, who was admitted to membership in the Consolidated Exchange on Sept. 9, 1919, as the floor representative of Sullivan & Co.," said Mr. Dooling, "was suspended on Oct. 10, for failure to meet trading balances, according to information given to me today by Secretary Lynch of the Exchange. On Oct. 14, Bowles applied for lifting of the suspension, promising to make good, saying he had deposited $10,000 here and $20,000 in Washington, and that he had personal cash assets of $100,000. After Bowles had paid the Exchange balances he deposited with the treasurer a certificate of 100 shares of stock of the Worthington Pump and Machinery Company, as a guarantee toward meeting future Exchange obligations, whereupon the suspension was canceled and he was permitted to resume trading on Oct. 27. Now we find that the Worthington certificate of stock was from the stolen securities, and that the real owner of it is J. M. Bryne & Co., at 61 Broadway."

David W. Sullivan, head of the New York office of Sullivan & Co., was arraigned yesterday before Judge Rosalsky in General Sessions on the charge of criminally receiving stolen property, based on 200 shares of Crucible Steel stock, said to have been traced to his office. At his previous hearing Sullivan had obtained reduction in his bail from $75,000 to $45,000. Judge Rosalsky yesterday ordered bail of $75,000, and Sullivan, who had not furnished bail previously, was taken back to the Tombs Prison.

ARREST STORE BANK CLERK.

Bloomingdale Brothers' Employe Accused of Taking $500.

After an examination of the accounts of the banking department of Bloomingdale Brothers, Julius Popper, controller for the department store, yesterday caused the arrest of Frederick Gluck of Ridgefield Park, N. J., an employe, on a charge of misappropriating $500 on Oct. 1.

It is alleged that Gluck, who has been employed fifteen year, took the money to pay off a personal note. Gluck said he had not taken the money, but had cashed some checks that proved worthless. He was held in $10,000 bail by Magistrate McQuade in the Yorkville Court.

Silver Porringer Sold for $790.

An interesting piece of early American silver brought the highest price at the sale of household articles, ancient and modern, at the American Art Galleries yesterday afternoon, a silver porringer with molded body and flat pierced ear handles going to Clapp & Graham for $790. This was made by John Coley, an American silversmith, the only piece of the kind known by the maker. A pair of Victorian silver gilt dish stands went to H. O. Fish for $140; a pair of Dutch silver fruit dishes and candelabra went to Mrs. Johns for $220; a Chinese eighteenth century jade desk screen and stand to S. Chait for $155, and to the same buyer a decorated pottery Ming incense burner with stand and cover for $106, and another large incense burner of the same period for $300. A pair of Italian bronze fire dogs went to E. W. Blake for $280. The returns for the day were $11,547. The sale will be continued this afternoon.

The Coward Shoe

Do Your Boy's Ankles Turn In?

The Coward Arch Support shoe is especially designed to allow the young feet to grow in Nature's way. The arch is carefully supported, the weight of the body evenly distributed and the foot so placed that the bones and muscles find natural development.

The Coward Shoe provides the necessary training for the growing feet. It is sound insurance against the foot ills of later life.

MERCANTILE TRUST COMPANY

Your most important Bequest

SUPPOSE you could leave your family—in addition to your property—your ability to manage it!

What a load of doubt and misgiving would be lifted from your mind!

You cannot, of course, bequeath your executive ability directly to your family. You can, however, leave it to them indirectly.

How?

By the simple business arrangement of appointing the Mercantile Trust Company Executors and Trustees under your will.

Such an arrangement assures capable handling of your estate after you are gone. Also it relieves your heirs of the perplexities involved in managing willed property.

To any who will communicate with us, we will gladly explain the workings of a Mercantile Trusteeship.

Our permanent TRUST COMMITTEE directs trust investments under such Trusteeships. The members of this experienced Committee are specially selected by the Mercantile Board of Directors from its own membership.

This Committee meets at regular and frequent intervals for the purpose of carefully scrutinizing and passing upon the soundness of each trust investment in the Mercantile's care.
